INDEX OF MISSIONARY SOCIETIES

PREFACE

In 1902 the Student Volunteer Movement for Foreign Missions published "A Geography and Atlas of Protestant Missions" which had been prepared by the Rev. Harlan P. Beach, M.A., F.R.G.S., at that time Educational Secretary of the Movement. Plans were under consideration for the revision of the Atlas when it was decided by Commission I, on "Carrying the Gospel to All the Non-Christian World," to present as a part of its report to the World Missionary Conference at Edinburgh a "Statistical Atlas of Christian Missions." A conference of representatives of the Student Volunteer Movement and of Commission I led to an arrangement by which the Student Volunteer Movement assumed the financial responsibility for that Atlas, with the understanding that the material collected for the Report of Commission I could be used by the Student Volunteer Movement in preparing the material for the new Atlas which the Movement had under consideration.

The Editors are preëminently qualified for the task. The Directory of Missionary Societies has been prepared by James S. Dennis, D.D., who is recognized as an authority on missions, through his monumental volumes, "Christian Missions and Social Progress," as well as through his work in preparing the "Centennial Survey of Foreign Missions," which was presented to the Ecumenical Missionary Conference held in New York in 1900. Professor Harlan P. Beach, M.A., F.R.G.S., of Yale University, the author of a number of books on missions, his greatest contribution being "A Geography and Atlas of Protestant Missions," has supervised the location of mission stations on the maps and the preparation of the Station Index. The statistics were tabulated under the direction of Mr. Charles H. Fahs, B.A., who has had extensive experience in missionary investigation in connection with his duties as the Missionary Editor of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

On behalf of the Student Volunteer Movement, we would express our deepest obligations to Dr. Dennis, Professor Beach, and Mr. Fahs, who have so generously given their time and painstaking effort to the preparation of this work, and to John G. Bartholomew, LL.D., F.R.G.S., under whose careful supervision the maps were executed.

FENNELL P. TURNER,
General Secretary.

INTRODUCTION

The Atlas here presented is based on the material collected for the World Missionary Conference held at Edinburgh, June, 1910, by Commission I, on "Carrying the Gospel to All the Non-Christian World." In accordance with the arrangement between the Executive Committee of the World Missionary Conference and the Student Volunteer Movement, the Editors have availed themselves of the material then gathered for use in the Conference Atlas, and have made it available for the publication of a "World Atlas of Christian Missions," presenting a wider survey of missionary effort than came within the purview of the Conference. This Atlas, therefore, is differentiated from the edition issued at Edinburgh by the enlargement of its scope to include in its Directory, and also to some extent in its Statistical Tables, not only missions among non-Christians, but also all other foreign missionary effort. This has necessitated the inclusion of much material collected especially for this edition, and the increase of the number of map plates to twenty-five.

It is the aim of this volume to present all existing foreign missionary effort which is evangelical in aim, wherever it is in operation throughout the world, and its data are obtainable. The Editors have acted upon the supposition that the Christian public desire, and would expect, in a professedly world-wide compilation of this kind that all dignified and worthy missionary service should be recorded and brought to light, as representing earnest and devout, though perhaps in some instances less conspicuous, efforts to teach the truth of the Gospel, and to minister in love, in humanitarian compassion, and in moral uplift, to humanity. This survey, however, is limited to foreign as distinguished from home missions, except in the case of Indians and Asiatic immigrants in the United States and Canada.

This aim, it will be observed, does not contemplate primarily an ideal classification and reduction to system of missionary operations along lines of theoretical, scientific arrangement, but has in view rather a presentation in the recorded data of the actual scope and status of universal missionary activities, though the data may seem to be bewilderingly complex, varied, and often very fragmentary. The endeavor has been made to ascertain what missions are actually doing in the world, whether through the large societies, or through smaller and less conspicuous missions, or through voluntary independent coöperation, including also, wherever possible to obtain the data, the work of indigenous missionary societies in the foreign fields, even though they represent but initial efforts of the missionary impulse. Statistics of missions among non-Christians conducted by the Roman Catholic Church, and those of the Russian Orthodox Church are presented separately, and are based upon the official publications of these Communions.

In explanation of the terms foreign and home missions as understood in this connection, it may be said that they are primarily geographical, and to a certain extent also racial, in significance, and are understood and used in the United States to differentiate missions conducted outside of the national boundaries of the constituency supporting them, from missions which represent simply efforts at Church extension within the national environment. In the Atlas prepared for the Edinburgh Conference, and in this Atlas also, an exception to this classification has been made in the inclusion of the missionary efforts among Asiatic immigrants and aboriginal Indians, as representing a non-Christian population within the bounds of Christendom.

It may be conceded that this distinction between missions home and foreign is not an ideal or final method of classification, and it is confessedly from certain points of view open to criticism, but at the present time it stands for a recognized and established delimitation of missionary effort in a large section of Christendom. It cannot, therefore, be ignored, while its conformity to an existing status, and to a current nomenclature used in many important societies, especially in North America, seems to require its recognition, in order to avoid hopeless confusion, as well as defective tabulation, in any attempt at representative statistical returns.

It may be possible at some future time to change or ignore this nomenclature in favor of some such term as World Missions, as distinguished from Church extension within national bounds, using the former as an inclusive designation to signify the all-embracing purpose of a united Christian Church to win the allegiance of all mankind to Christ and His saving Gospel. Under present conditions, however, it seems necessary, in an American Atlas at least, to attempt no change in the classification at present in use; although, in view of the project of international conformity in missionary statistics, it may eventually become desirable to devise some schedule of terminology and a system of tabulation which will relieve the present difficulties.

In conclusion, no one, we are convinced, can look carefully into this vast and complicated realm of service without being impressed with the consecration and loyal devotion it even now reveals on the part of Christ's followers. At the same time, every discerning student must recognize what an immense increment of active service the Church could secure, were she really wholly in earnest to obey Christ's commands to disciple the nations, and could she fully enlist the immense resources, spiritual and material, at her service. If these were brought into vigorous action, they would easily make her more than ever a benign and invincible force for the uplifting of mankind.

PART I

DIRECTORY OF MISSIONARY SOCIETIES

EXPLANATORY NOTES

The Directory includes, so far as known, evangelical societies in all lands conducting missions among non-Christians and non-Protestants, except that in the sections referring to the United States and Canada missions among non-Protestant immigrants, or among Negroes, are not entered unless they are also engaged in work among Asiatic immigrants and American Indians.

American and British societies working among non-Protestants on the European Continent are entered in the Directory, but the missions of the Evangelical Churches on the Continent having their sphere of operations in their immediate environment are not entered, unless their efforts extend to non-Protestant and non-Christian communities in other national divisions of the European Continent or in other lands. Societies working among the Jews are entered in a separate section of the Directory.

Missionary agencies are divided into (1) Societies Appointing and Sending Missionaries, and (2) Coöperating and Collecting Societies, the latter designation being intended to apply to societies coöperating with other organizations, or simply aiding financially, or working in some specialized sphere in the general interests of foreign missions.

Societies are further classified as to their nationality and ecclesiastical connection, and as to their status and relationship, whether independently conducted, or related as auxiliaries to principal societies, in which latter case they are entered in smaller type than the parent society. Only the important auxiliary and aid societies recognized and reported as such by the principal societies are entered in the Directory. There are thousands of minor auxiliaries which cannot be mentioned. Where a society is auxiliary to a Sending Society it is entered in the Sending List in smaller type because of its relationship to the main society with which it is associated, but is not counted as a Sending Society in the summaries. It has been difficult in some of the countries, especially India, to determine definitely what societies should be listed as Sending, since the differentiation, while clearly indicated in Christendom, becomes vague and uncertain in the case of many Asiatic societies. Many of them are, strictly speaking, neither Sending nor Coöperating, since their missionaries are often sent to them by agencies outside of India, and in some instances from those without organization as societies; and, on the other hand, they cannot be listed as Coöperating Societies.

So far as discovered, recent changes in the secretarial staff of societies have been entered. In dealing with income and disbursements each society has been credited with its total income, wherever it has been ascertained, and in case it is not all received for missions abroad, that portion of the total income which was disbursed for foreign missions, or for missions among non-Christian peoples within the bounds of Christendom, is designated. In a few cases this distinction as to the use of funds has not been clearly indicated by the society, or has not been given in response to inquiry. The funds thus left in doubt are not included in the summary of income received, unless information from some reliable source is sufficiently definite to justify their inclusion.

The income designated as from the mission field seems to vary greatly in meaning in the returns of different societies. In some cases it indicates the sum which was received by the home treasury, and was available for disbursement from the headquarters of the society through its home treasury. More often it indicates money raised and disbursed on the field, including sometimes government grants. It has been the endeavor to give in each case the total income of the society, and then to designate the channels of disbursement. Where no income from foreign sources is mentioned the inference is justified that the entire amount is from the home constituency, or from endowments, or from interest on special funds.

Wherever the income of a principal society is known to include that received from its auxiliaries, the fact is stated, and where the reverse is true it is also indicated. No universal rule, however, can be formulated which applies to the financial methods of all societies. Each society has its own special aim, and its own way of accomplishing its main purpose, as well as its individual plans for acknowledging and disbursing its funds. In many cases the statements in the Directory accompanying the income will throw light upon the financial system of a given society. The incomes recorded are usually those given in the reports published in 1908, but in the case of societies not entered in the Atlas presented at the Edinburgh Conference a more recent income, as reported in 1909 or 1910, has been entered.

Missionary training schools are not entered as societies in the Directory; an exception, however, has been made with reference to medical training schools, which have been entered in the Directory of this volume.

Historical notes giving facts of interest concerning the early formation, and subsequent changes of relationship, in the case of many societies, have been inserted. The scope of the society's sphere of service, and the special features of its activities, with facts pointing to its success and usefulness, have in many instances been recorded. These historical notes make the Directory much more than a mere list of societies, giving it an additional value as a collation of missionary history, which in the variety of its information, and the extent of its data, can hardly be found elsewhere in any single volume.

The Editors desire to express their sincere thanks to the officials of missionary societies throughout the world for their kind coöperation, and to numerous statistical authorities in mission fields, who have placed painstaking and invaluable information in their hands. Special acknowledgments are due to the Rev. J. N. Lenker, D.D., the scholarly author of "Lutherans in All Lands," whose researches in the history of the Lutheran Church and its missions have yielded much generous and expert aid in the presentation of Lutheran Missions in the Atlas.

The section of the Directory headed "Societies Working Among the Jews" was prepared by Rev. Louis Meyer, who has devoted special study to this department of missionary activity.

AMERICAN AND CANADIAN SOCIETIES

CANADA

BAPTIST:

BAPTIST FOREIGN MISSION BOARD OF THE MARITIME PROVINCES OF CANADA (1846).

Secretary: Rev. W. E. McIntyre, D.D., Box 229, St. John, New Brunswick.
Object: The evangelization of 2,000,000 Telugus dwelling in the Madras Presidency, India.

Income: $36,000. About $31,800 of this was raised in Canada, and of the Canadian portion $14,350 was from the United Baptist Woman's Missionary Union of the Maritime Provinces.

Field: India.

(NOTE: Foreign mission work was organized in 1846, and conducted for some years in connection with the American Baptist Missionary Union—now the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society—but in 1873 the independent Foreign Mission Board was organized. A union of the Baptist Foreign Mission Board of the Maritime Provinces, and that of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec is expected to take place at the close of 1911. The name of the united organizations will be the Canadian Baptist Foreign Mission Board, and its headquarters will be at Toronto.)

UNITED BAPTIST WOMAN'S MISSIONARY UNION OF THE MARITIME PROVINCES (1906).

Corresponding Secretary: Miss M. E. Hume, Dartmouth, Nova Scotia.

Object: To engage the efforts of Christian women in the evangelization of heathen women and children, to send out and maintain women missionaries and teachers, and to extend the mission cause.

Income: $22,000. Of this amount $14,350 was administered by the Baptist Foreign Mission Board of the Maritime Provinces.

Organ: "Tidings."

Fields: India, Canada.

(NOTE: The Union dates from 1906, but the Baptists of the Maritime Provinces organized the pioneer woman's missionary society of Canada as early as 1870. The Woman's Baptist Missionary Union, organized in 1884, is now merged into the United Baptist Woman's Missionary Union.)

HOME MISSION BOARD OF THE BAPTIST CONVENTION OF ONTARIO AND QUEBEC (1851).

Superintendent: Rev. W. E. Norton, D.D., 625 Confederation Life Bldg., Toronto, Ontario.

Object: The prosecution of mission work within the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, including the aid of weak churches.

Income: $40,000. (Expenditure on work among Indians not given.)

Organ: "The Home and Foreign Mission Bulletin."

Field: Dominion of Canada (Ontario and Quebec).

FOREIGN MISSION BOARD OF THE BAPTIST CONVENTION OF ONTARIO AND QUEBEC (1866).

Secretary: Rev. J. G. Brown, D.D., 626 Confederation Life Bldg., Toronto, Ontario.

Object: Evangelical missions in foreign lands.

Income: $55,830.

Fields: India, South America (Bolivia).

(NOTE: This society was organized as an auxiliary of the American Baptist Missionary Union—now the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society—in 1866, but it became an independent organization in 1873. A union is soon to be consummated with the Baptist Foreign Mission Board of the Maritime Provinces, under the title of The Canadian Baptist Foreign Mission Board, with offices at Toronto.)

WOMEN'S BAPTIST FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY OF EASTERN ONTARIO AND QUEBEC (1876).

Corresponding Secretary: Mrs. P. B. Motley, Sunnyside Road, Westmount, Quebec.

Object: The evangelization of the women of mission lands.

Income: $2,131.

Organ: "The Canadian Missionary Link."

Fields: India, South America (Bolivia).

WOMEN'S BAPTIST FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY OF ONTARIO (WEST) (1876).

Foreign Secretary: Mrs. R. W. Angus, 42 Howland Ave., Toronto, Ontario.

Home Secretary: Mrs. H. H. Lloyd, 396 Brunswick Ave., Toronto, Ontario.

Object: To give the Gospel to the women and children of India, chiefly to those among the Telugus.

Income: $12,691.

Organ: "The Canadian Missionary Link."

Field: India.

BAPTIST CONVENTION OF WESTERN CANADA (1907).

Secretary: Rev. D. B. Harkness, 317 Portage Ave., Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Object: To support mission work in India, through the Foreign Mission Board of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec, and to promote missions in needy sections of Western Canada.

Income: $5,525. (Of this amount $1,275 was received from the Baptist Woman's Missionary Society of Western Canada.)

Organ: "The Western Outlook."

Fields: India, Western Canada.

(NOTE: This Board is auxiliary in its foreign work to the Foreign Mission Board of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec. It is independent in its work in Western Canada.)

BAPTIST WOMAN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY OF WESTERN CANADA (1907).

Secretary: Mrs. J. F. McIntyre, 322 Kennedy St., Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Object: To support missionaries in India and Bolivia, and to maintain missions in the needy fields of Western Canada.

Income: $7,758. (Of this amount $1,800 was expended for work among American Indians.)

Organ: "The Western Outlook."

Fields: India, South America (Bolivia), Western Canada.

(NOTE: The Baptist Woman's Missionary Society of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, organized in 1887, and the Baptist Woman's Missionary Society of British Columbia, were united in 1907 to form the Baptist Woman's Missionary Society of Western Canada. Besides work for European and Asiatic immigrants, and for American Indians in Western Canada, contributions are made toward the support of missionaries in India and Bolivia, through the Foreign Mission Board of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec.)

BRETHREN:

FOREIGN MISSION BOARD OF THE BRETHREN IN CHRIST OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA AND CANADA [RIVER BRETHREN] (1896).

(See under United States.)

CHURCH OF ENGLAND:

MISSIONARY SOCIETY OF THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND IN CANADA (1883).

General Secretary: Rev. Canon S. Gould, B.A., M.D., O.M.

Assistant Secretary: R. A. Williams, Esq.

Office Address: 627 Confederation Life Bldg., Toronto, Ontario.

Object: To carry the Gospel to the foreigners in Canada, and also to the world.

Income: $116,000.

Organ: "The New Era."

Fields: Japan, China, India, Persia, Palestine, North-east Africa (Egypt), East Africa (British), South America (Chile), Canada.

(NOTE: Formerly known as the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada. Its first foreign work was begun in 1888, in Japan. Many of the missionaries supported by the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada work under the supervision of other Church of England societies, such as the Church Missionary Society and the South American Missionary Society.)

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY TO THE MISSIONARY SOCIETY OF THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND IN CANADA (1885).

Corresponding Secretary: Miss Mary R. Bogert, 169 Stewart St., Ottawa.

Object: To increase missionary activity.

Income: $49,080. (This amount is one-third the total for three years. Of this total, $13,000 was expended for Canadian missions, apart from diocesan missions, $10,000 for diocesan missions, $11,429 for foreign missions, including work for Asiatic immigrants in Canada, and the remainder for other missionary objects.)

Organ: "The Letter Leaflet."

Fields: Japan, Korea, China, India, Canada (including American Indians and Asiatic immigrants.)

CANADIAN CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY (1895).

Secretary: Rev. Canon T. R. O'Meara, Th.D., Wycliffe College, Toronto, Ontario.

Object: To select and train candidates for the Church Missionary Society and South American Missionary Society fields, and to work in conjunction with the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada in the dissemination of literature, and the arousing of missionary interest.

Income: About $5,000. (This income does not go to the foreign field.)

Fields: Those of the societies with which the Canadian Church Missionary Society co-operates, by examining and recommending candidates.

(NOTE: Wycliffe College, Toronto, formed a Missionary Association in 1888, which maintained men in Japan and in North-west Canada. In 1895 this gave place to a Canadian Church Missionary Association, afterwards called the Canadian Church Missionary Society, and the missionaries previously sent out by Wycliffe College were added to the Society's staff. The Canadian Church Missionary Society selects its own missionaries; but financially it is now an integral part of the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada.)

(NOTE: The original name of this Society at the time of its organization, in 1826, was the American Home Missionary Society. It was then interdenominational, but in 1896 the name was changed to the Congregational Home Missionary Society. Its work has been almost exclusively within the United States, but in 1899 the charter was amended to authorize the extension of its operations to "the West India Islands," and a mission was subsequently opened in Cuba, with a reported disbursement, in 1909, of $9,626. That mission has recently passed under the care of the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions. Home missionary work, except that for Indians and Asiatic immigrants, is not recorded in this Atlas, but in view of the fact that the work of the Society in Cuba was being conducted under its auspices at the time (1908) represented by the data of the other societies in this volume, it is included in the Directory.)

Income: From home churches, $82,361; from the foreign fields, $10,055; total, $92,416. These sums include the income for missions of all the "Yearly Meetings," and are in excess of the amount administered by the American Friends' Board of Foreign Missions.
Organ: "Friends' Missionary Advocate."
Fields: Japan, China, India, Palestine, Syria, British East Africa, Mexico, Central America (Guatemala), West Indies, Alaska.

(NOTE: The date of organization of the American Friends' Board of Foreign Missions is 1894. The foreign mission work of the Friends, however, dates as far back as 1871, when the Indiana Yearly Meeting sent two missionaries to Mexico. Until 1902 the missions of the Friends of America were organized into fourteen distinct and independent bodies, or "Yearly Meetings," but in that year all of these, except the Ohio, Philadelphia, and Canada Yearly Meetings, came into organic union with the American Friends' Board of Foreign Missions. This central Board now reports as a matter of information the missionary operations of all the Yearly Meetings of the denomination of Friends, but it does not indicate as within its own returns the mission work which is administered independently by any of these various Yearly Meetings.)

Field: United States (among Indian tribes).
(NOTE: Formerly called the Women's National Indian Association. It originated in 1879, was fully organized in 1881, and was incorporated in 1887. The policy of the Association is to transfer its missions, when well established, together with the property acquired, to the permanent care of denominational mission boards. In all, more than fifty buildings have been erected connected with missions thus transferred. The religious work of the Association consists of the direct undenominational teaching of religious truths to tribes where, almost without exception, no Christian instruction is given by any other organization. The Association has done this pioneer missionary work among fifty-two Indian tribes. Other important service has been rendered, such as, helping to right political wrongs; gathering of Indian children into schools; and stimulating and preparing capable Indians so as to enable them to build homes, or to carry on business. It has also made loans to Indians for the purchase of implements of labor, or for stock needed to begin some useful and paying industry.)

Organ: "Among the Deep Sea Fishers."

Fields: Newfoundland, Labrador.

(NOTE: The work of Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell originated under the auspices of the Royal National Mission to Deep Sea Fishermen, having its headquarters in London, which see under England. The special title by which it is known in England is the Labrador Medical Mission, which was founded in 1892, and is regarded as a branch of the work for deep-sea fishermen. The Mission has developed rapidly in the extent and importance of its work. In 1907 the Grenfell Association of America was organized, to render financial assistance to Dr. Grenfell's missionary efforts, and since then other associations in aid of his work have been formed in New England, Canada, and Newfoundland. Four hospitals, several steamers and launches, a staff of medical assistants and nurses, an undenominational school, an orphanage, and some phases of industrial missionary effort, including the introduction of reindeer into Labrador, and instruction in weaving, have given a broad philanthropic scope to Dr. Grenfell's labors. The most recent proposition of the Mission is the erection of a Fishermen's and Seamen's Institute at St. John's, Newfoundland. The services of the Labrador Medical Mission are primarily dedicated to the welfare of the deep-sea fishermen of the Labrador Coast, but, incidentally, valuable humanitarian and medical ministrations are rendered, in a spirit of Christian charity, to the Eskimos in that vicinity.)

Income: $108,065, for three years. Average annual income, $39,022.

Fields: Central America, Mexico, West Indies, United States, Canada.

(NOTE: The first National Convention was held in 1832, the first International Convention in 1875, and at the eleventh International Convention, held in 1905, the name was changed from "International Sunday School Convention" to "International Sunday School Association." The Association was incorporated under this latter name in 1907. The plan of uniform lessons was adopted in 1872, a custom which had been adopted in 1840 by the British Sunday School Union. The International Sunday School Association is turning its attention increasingly to awakening an interest in mission work through the medium of the Sunday School.)

TRUSTEES OF CENTRAL TURKEY COLLEGE, AINTAB (1876).

Secretary: Rev. Charles H. Daniels, D.D., South Framingham, Massachusetts.

Object: The thorough education of pastors, preachers, and teachers; also the general advancement of science and civilization among all nationalities throughout Asia Minor. Three departments, preparatory, collegiate, and medical.

Income: $20,000. (Of which $14,300 is from the field, $2,700 from invested funds, and $3,000 from the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions.)

Field: Turkey-in-Asia.

(NOTE: The legal name of the Corporation of the Central Turkey College is "The Trustees of Donations for Education in Turkey." In addition to the Board of Trustees in America, there is a local Board of Managers, native and American, appointed by the Cilicia Union. See also entry under Turkish Empire.)

TRUSTEES OF EUPHRATES COLLEGE FUNDS (1878).

Recording Secretary: Mrs. Peter A. MacLean, 864 President St., Brooklyn, New York.

Object: To establish, improve, and assist Sunday or Bible schools in foreign lands, seeking thereby to promote the religious observance of the Sabbath, international and local intercourse among Christians of all denominations, a Scriptural faith, and zealous work in making that faith more general and effective.

Income: $8,301. (Of this amount $5,000 represents the legacy of Mr. C. B. Davenport, "to be used in supporting and distributing copies of the Sunday School papers published by the Association in various languages.")

Fields: Japan, Philippine Islands, Africa, Italy, Spain, Portugal, Bohemia, Belgium, South America (Brazil), Mexico.

(NOTE: An important part of the service of the Foreign Sunday School Association is the publication and distribution of Sunday School papers, and other Christian literature, in various languages, among the children of the foreign lands in which work has been established.)

INTERNATIONAL MEDICAL MISSIONARY SOCIETY (1881).

Secretary: Rev. George H. Dowkontt, 1163 Sixty-ninth St., Brooklyn, New York.

Object: To assist intending missionaries in securing an education in recognized medical colleges, and to maintain the Missionary Home at Mountain Rest, Goshen, Massachusetts.

Income: $3,000. (Expended in the United States.)

Field: United States. No missionaries or property in foreign lands.

(NOTE: The Society was incorporated in 1886. A woman's branch of the International Medical Missionary Society was formed in 1889, of which Miss Lucy M. Green, New York City, New York, is the Corresponding Secretary.)

UNITED SOCIETY OF CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR (1881).

President: Rev. Francis E. Clark, D.D., LL.D.

General Secretary: Mr. William Shaw.

Office Address: Tremont Temple, Boston, Massachusetts.

Object: To win young people to the Christian life.

Income: $450,000, contributed by local societies to the different denominational boards. This sum should not be included in any total of gifts, as it is reported by the various organizations receiving it.

Organ: "The Christian Endeavor World."

Fields: Those of the missionary societies to which contributions are sent.

(NOTE: The first local Christian Endeavor Society was organized by Rev. Francis E. Clark, in the Williston Congregational Church of Portland, Maine, on February 2, 1881. The United Society of Christian Endeavor was incorporated in 1885. It does not send out missionaries, but has local societies in all parts of the world which help to support the missions of their own denominations. The World's Christian Endeavor Union includes all Christian Endeavor Societies. The United Society of Christian Endeavor includes only those of the North American Continent. In 1908 there were 71,066 local societies, of which 46,324 were in the United States.)

INTERNATIONAL MISSIONARY UNION (1883).

Corresponding Secretary: Mrs. H. J. Bostwick, Clifton Springs, New York.

(NOTE: This is an interdenominational yearly conference of retired missionaries, together with those on furlough and those under appointment.)

General Secretary: Mrs. Mary Lowe Dickinson.

Corresponding Secretary: Miss Clara Morehouse.

Office Address: 156 Fifth Ave., New York City, New York.

Object: The development of spiritual life, and the stimulation of Christian activities.

Income: No statement at hand.

Organ: "The Silver Cross."

Fields: Japan, China, Philippine Islands, New Zealand, India, Palestine and Syria, Western Africa (Liberia), Central America (Nicaragua), West Indies.

(NOTE: Circles of the Order have been established in the mission fields enumerated above. Each Circle may choose its own work. Many branches of activities are undertaken, including work of a religious character, and various forms of educational and philanthropic effort.)

STUDENT VOLUNTEER MOVEMENT FOR FOREIGN MISSIONS (1886).

General Secretary: Mr. Fennell P. Turner.

Educational Secretary: Mr. J. Lovell Murray.

Candidate Secretary: Mr. Wilbert B. Smith.

Business Secretary: Mr. William P. McCulloch.

Office Address: 125 East Twenty-seventh St., New York City, New York.

Object: To cultivate missionary interest in the institutions of higher learning in the United States and Canada.

Income: Administers funds only for expenses incurred in cultivating the missionary interests of educational institutions in the United States and Canada. No money sent to the foreign mission field.

Organ: "The Intercollegian."

Fields: United States, Canada.

(NOTE: This Movement began in America in 1886. It unites those students in the higher institutions in Canada and the United States who have signed the declaration: "It is my purpose, if God permit, to become a foreign missionary." The ideal underlying the Movement, that of enlisting students for foreign mission service, has spread to other countries, and the organizations which have developed in those countries are given entries under their appropriate places in this Directory. Similar organizations are coming into being in mission lands, such as China, India, and Egypt, for the enlisting of students in the colleges for the future Christian leadership in those lands.)

BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF ST. PAUL'S INSTITUTE (1887).

Secretary: Rev. James L. Barton, D.D., 14 Beacon St., Boston, Massachusetts.

Object: To make St. Paul's Institute eminently a thorough Christian academy, or college, and a training school of preachers and teachers for the leavening of Southern and Eastern Asia Minor.

Income: $5,440.

Field: Turkey-in-Asia (Tarsus).

(NOTE: Undenominational and independent, but coöperating with the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions.)

BROTHERHOOD OF ANDREW AND PHILIP (1888).

Secretary: Rev. William H. Pholey, Ph.D., Fifteenth and Race Sts., Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Object: To spread Christ's kingdom among men, through personal work.

Income: No statement at hand.

Organ: "The Brotherhood Star."

Fields: Those of the societies to which contributions are sent.

(NOTE: Members contribute to missionary organizations connected with their individual denominations.)

TRUSTEES OF PEKING UNIVERSITY (1888).

Secretary: Rev. S. O. Benton, D.D., 150 Fifth Ave., New York City, New York.

Object: To maintain in Peking, China, an educational institution which shall be founded and conducted upon strictly Christian and evangelical, but not sectarian, principles.

Income: $35,750.

Field: North China.

WORLD'S SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION (1889).

General Secretary: Mr. Marion Lawrance, Hartford Building, 140 Dearborn St., Chicago, Illinois.

Joint Secretary: Mr. W. N. Hartshorn, 85 Broad St., Boston, Massachusetts.

Object: To promote the interests of Sunday Schools, and to increase their number in every land.

Income: $68,169. This amount has been pledged for the Triennium, 1910-1913, and the average annual income would therefore be $22,723.

Organ: "The Sunday School Times."

Fields: Malaysia, Australia, New Zealand, Africa, Asia, South America, Mexico, West Indies, North America, Great Britain, Europe.

(NOTE: The Association is interdenominational in character, and coöperates with missionary organizations. It seeks to extend the work and increase the efficiency of Sunday Schools, especially in those regions of the world most in need of help. The World's Association coöperates with the International Sunday School Association and the Sunday School Union of Great Britain in a spirit of "allegiance," and in the loving relation of a child to its parent. Its first Convention was held in London in 1889. At the World's Sixth Sunday School Convention, held at Washington, D. C., in 1910, a total for the world of 285,999 schools, and a total enrollment, including officers, teachers, and scholars, of 28,011,194 was reported.)

BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE INTERNATIONAL INSTITUTE FOR GIRLS IN SPAIN (1892).

Clerk of Board of Directors: Miss Caroline Borden, 382 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, Massachusetts.

Object: To establish and maintain an institution for the Christian education of girls in Spain.

Income: $19,595. This includes a balance brought forward from the previous year of $15,255.

Field: Spain.

(NOTE: The International Institute for Girls in Spain was founded by the late Mrs. Alice Gordon Gulick, in 1881, and incorporated under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, in 1892. In 1903 the International Institute League was founded to enlist the aid, interest, and sympathy of the educated women of the United States, especially as represented by the students and graduates of colleges and schools. The plan was inaugurated by Mrs. Gulick, and has worked most successfully. The Secretaries of the National Committee of the League are, Miss Elizabeth Wood, B.A., Somerville, Massachusetts, and Miss Bertha C. Bidwell, M.A., Freeport, Illinois. For the year 1908-1909 the League contributed $3,120 for the support of the academic work of the International Institute.)

FOREIGN MISSIONS CONFERENCE OF NORTH AMERICA (1893).

Secretary: Mr. W. Henry Grant, 156 Fifth Ave., New York City, New York.

Object: To consider questions of administration pertaining to foreign missions.

(NOTE: Formerly designated as the Conference of Mission Boards of the United States and Canada. An annual conference of secretaries of foreign boards is held, usually in January. A Standing Committee on Reference and Council makes it possible for these boards to coöperate as a unit on matters arising from time to time which require united action.)

FRANCO-AMERICAN COMMITTEE (1893).

Secretary: Rev. Alfred E. Myers, 1 West Twenty-ninth St., New York City, New York.

Object: To aid the Reformed Churches of France in the evangelization of their own country.

NATIONAL ARMENIA AND INDIA RELIEF ASSOCIATION FOR INDUSTRIAL ORPHAN HOMES (1895).

Secretary: Miss Emily Crosby Wheeler, 22 Sturges Ave., Mansfield, Ohio.

Object: To support orphans in India and Turkey, and to give them first an industrial education, and later, if fitted for it, a training as nurses, doctors, teachers, foremen, or preachers.

Income: $50,000.

Organ: "The Helping Hand Series" (Quarterly).

Fields: India, Turkish Empire.

(NOTE: There is no missionary staff, either foreign or native, but the funds raised are committed to missionaries of various Boards. The Association is supporting 1,615 regular orphans in 58 different orphanages in Turkey, and 31 in India. Aid is given for children who can still remain with their parents without entering any orphanage.)

WORLD'S CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR UNION (1895).

President: Rev. Francis E. Clark, D.D., LL.D.

Secretaries: John Willis Baer, LL.D., Mr. William Shaw.

Office Address: Tremont Temple, Boston, Massachusetts.

Object: To unite in closer fellowship the Christian Endeavorers of the world, to promote the interests of the Christian Endeavor Movement, to reinforce the Christian Churches and missions in every land, and to cement the spiritual union of Christians the world around.

Income: $8,000. (Received from individuals and Christian Endeavor Societies, and sent to Christian Endeavor Unions in mission lands, where it is expended, under the direction of their executive committees, in the promotion of young people's work.)

Organ: "The Christian Endeavor World."

Field: Every country in the world that is open to Protestant Christianity.

(NOTE: Organized in 1895, and incorporated in 1901. The first local Christian Endeavor Society was organized February 2, 1881. The number of societies January 1, 1911, exceeded 74,000. See also entry for United Society of Christian Endeavor, incorporated in 1885. There is a Christian Endeavor Union in Great Britain, to which all the various Christian Endeavor Societies stand related. The Secretary is Rev. W. Knight Chaplin, Williston, Leytonstone, London, N. E.)

WORLD'S STUDENT CHRISTIAN FEDERATION (1895).

General Secretary: John R. Mott, LL.D., 124 East Twenty-eighth St., New York City, New York.

Object: To unite Student Christian Movements, or organizations, throughout the world, and promote mutual relations between them; to collect information regarding the religious condition of the students of all lands; and to promote the following lines of activity: (a) to lead students to become disciples of Jesus Christ as the only Saviour and as God; (b) to deepen the spiritual life of students; and (c) to enlist students in the work of extending the kingdom of Christ throughout the whole world.

Organ: "The Student World."

Fields: All lands where there are institutions of higher learning.

(NOTE: The following organizations compose the World's Student Christian Federation: American and Canadian Student Young Men's Christian Association; Australasian Student Christian Union; Student Christian Movement of Great Britain and Ireland; Student Young Men's Christian Association of China and Korea; Student Christian Movements of Belgium, France, Holland, and Switzerland; German Christian Students' Alliance; Intercollegiate Young Men's Christian Associations of India and Ceylon; Student Young Men's Christian Association of Japan; Scandinavian University Christian Movement; Students' Christian Association of South Africa; Student Christian Movement in Lands without National Organizations.)

FREE KINDERGARTEN AND CHILDREN'S AID ASSOCIATION OF THE TERRITORY OF HAWAII (1895).

Secretary: Mrs. F. G. Dillingham, Honolulu, Territory of Hawaii.

Object: To supervise and maintain kindergartens, and to give such aid and assistance to children as may be deemed necessary from time to time.

Income: $11,816. Of this amount $6,819 represents receipts for the kindergartens, and $4,897 receipts for the Castle Home.

Field: Hawaiian Islands.

(NOTE: The Kindergarten Training School is a branch of the work carried on by this Association, which also conducts six kindergartens, with a total of 843 pupils, representing nine nationalities, a large proportion of whom are Chinese and Japanese. The Castle Home for Children, opened in 1899, is another department of its work.)

AMERICAN RAMABAI ASSOCIATION, IN AID OF THE MUKTI MISSION (1896).

Secretary: Miss Clementine Butler, Newton Center, Massachusetts.

Object: To promote and assist in the education of women in India.

General Secretary: Mr. Harry Wade Hicks, 156 Fifth Ave., New York City, New York.

Object: To aid the mission boards in flooding their churches with the spirit and knowledge of missions, through existing agencies, and to make each follower of Christ faithful in extending His kingdom throughout the world.

Income: For administration expenses only.

Fields: United States, Canada.

(NOTE: All of the Movement's activities are under the direction of representatives of the mission boards of the United States and Canada. Each mission board cultivates its constituency, and secures the literature that it needs from the Movement. The Movement is a publishing house, selling its literature at wholesale to the mission boards, who, in turn, distribute it among the members of their denominations. Its summer conferences, and other field activities, are directed wholly to stimulate missionary education, and to train leaders for the various denominations.)

TRUSTEES OF THE INTERNATIONAL COLLEGE OF SMYRNA, TURKEY (1903).
Secretary: Rev. James L. Barton, D.D., 14 Beacon St., Boston, Massachusetts.
Object: To provide a thorough practical education for boys and young men in and around Smyrna, Turkey, on a distinctly Christian basis.

HARVARD MISSION (1904).
Vice-Chairman: Mr. G. E. Huggins, 299 Broadway, New York City, New York.
Object: To arouse, maintain, and increase among Harvard men an intelligent interest and participation in the work of missions.
Income: $1,460 (covering period from July, 1905, to July, 1907).
Organ: "The Harvard Mission" (issued biennially).
Fields: Those where are located the Harvard men supported by the Harvard Mission, through the societies with which these men are connected.

(NOTE: The Harvard Mission was founded in 1904, but its organization was modified in 1908, and the administration committed to a Board of Trustees and a Student Committee. The plans of the Mission include the support of Harvard representatives on foreign mission fields, and also the founding of the Harvard Medical School, at Shanghai, China. For this Medical School a special Board of Trustees has been formed, who hope to raise an ample endowment for the institution. For further particulars about this project address Dr. Martin R. Edwards, 14 Bird St., Dorchester, Massachusetts.)

CONGO REFORM ASSOCIATION (1904).
(See under England.)

CONGO REFORM ASSOCIATION AMERICAN BRANCH (1904).
Corresponding Secretary: Rev. Herbert S. Johnson, 69 Bay State Road, Boston, Massachusetts.

Fields: United States, Canada.

NEW ENGLAND CHINESE SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS' UNION (1904).
Founder: Mrs. H. E. Mitchell, 40 Wellington St., Worcester, Massachusetts.
Object: To awaken interest and sympathy for the Chinese, and to unite and increase the efficiency of those engaged in promoting the spiritual welfare of that people.
Income: No statement at hand.
Field: New England.

COUNCIL OF WOMEN FOR HOME MISSIONS (1906).
Corresponding Secretary: Mrs. Amos R. Wells, Auburndale, Massachusetts.
Object: To integrate the work of all home mission summer schools, or conferences; to provide interdenominational text-books for home mission study classes; to provide literature for interdenominational use; to arrange a service for an interdenominational day of prayer; to care for home mission interests in schools and colleges; and, in general, to promote interdenominational fellowship and cooperation among women's boards and societies.

INTERNATIONAL REFORM BUREAU (1906).
Secretary: Rev. Wilbur F. Crafts, Ph.D., 206 Pennsylvania Ave., S. E., Washington, District of Columbia.
Object: To create a better moral environment, especially for children at home, and child races abroad, by suppressing the vicious uses of opium and other intoxicants; also the prevention of gambling, impurity, and Sabbath breaking.
Income: $40,000.
Organ: "The Twentieth Century Quarterly."
Fields: The United States, and various international stations.

(NOTE: In connection with the International Reform Bureau, there are Councils in Great Britain, Canada, Australia, and Japan. The Rev. Edward W. Thwing, Tientsin, China, is the Oriental Secretary for the Bureau. For the Japan Council, see under Japan.)

LAYMEN'S MISSIONARY MOVEMENT (1906).
General Secretaries: Mr. J. Campbell White, Mr. William B. Millar.
Executive Secretary: Mr. Charles A. Gunn.
Field Secretaries: Mr. Charles H. Pratt, Mr. F. J. Michel, Mr. I. W. Baker, Mr. H. K. Caskey (Secretary in Canada).
Office Address: 1 Madison Ave., New York City, New York.
Object: To cooperate with the regular missionary agencies of the Churches in the enlargement of their work in foreign fields.
Income: Administers funds only for payment of expenses of the Movement.
Organ: "Men and Missions."
Fields: Those of the Societies aided by members of the Movement.

(NOTE: From the first the idea of the Laymen's Missionary Movement has been to cooperate with the regular missionary agencies of the Churches in the enlargement of their work. It does not divert missionary offerings from congregational or denominational channels, nor does it promote the organization of separate men's missionary societies within the congregations. The Movement itself has no organization apart from a General Committee, which meets twice a year, and an Executive Committee of twenty-one members, which meets every month. At least twelve denominational Laymen's Missionary Movements have already been organized. As a rule, these follow the practice of the general Movement, and consist merely of a series of committees. Ten secretaries of denominational Movements have been secured. As the Movement is "an inspiration, not an administration," it has been chiefly occupied with the presentation of an adequate missionary policy to influential groups of men, and also with the exploitation of methods of missionary finance, which have produced the best results. The Movement stands for investigation, agitation, and organization; the investigation by laymen of an adequate missionary policy, and the organization of laymen to cooperate with the ministers and missionary boards in enlisting the whole Church in its supreme work of saving the world. Laymen's Missionary Movements have been organized in Great Britain, and on the Continent of Europe.)

PRINCETON MISSION (1906).
Secretary: Prof. Lucius H. Miller, Princeton University, Princeton, New Jersey.

Object: The support of Princeton men who are at work in mission fields, under other organizations.
Income: $5,500 for work in the Peking Young Men's Christian Association.
Organs: Occasional "Bulletins" are published in the United States, and in Peking, a Chinese-English monthly, entitled "Peking Young Men."
Field: North China.

TRUSTEES OF THE ENDOWMENT FUND OF THE AMERICAN COLLEGE MADURA, INDIA (1906).
Secretary: Mr. Willis E. Lougee, 287 Fourth Ave., New York City, New York.
Object: To educate young men in South India.

Organ: "The Christian Herald."
Fields: Japan, China, India, Africa, United States.

(NOTE: A fund established by the late Dr. Louis Klopsch, Editor of "The Christian Herald." See entry of "Christian Herald" Orphanage Committee of China in the China section of Directory.)

BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE APOSTOLIC INSTITUTE, KONIA (1907).
Secretary Board of Directors: Mr. Martin Ralph, Jamaica, New York.
Object: Benevolent, charitable, and missionary work, especially among orphans, and the conduct of educational work, at Konia, Asia Minor.
Income: $5,107.
Field: Turkish Empire (Konia).

(NOTE: The late Rev. H. S. Jenanyan, D.D., was a native Armenian, who came to the United States in 1884, and completed his theological education at Union Theological Seminary. He was connected for some years with St. Paul's Institute at Tarsus, Asia Minor. Later he founded the Apostolic Institute at Konia, and for many years was instrumental in securing its support, and accomplishing through it a useful and philanthropic service. After his death, in 1907, the management of the Institute was continued by a Board of Directors in the United States, of whom the Rev. David J. Burrell, D.D., is the President. It is a corporation organized under the laws of the State of New York, and is at present under the local supervision of Dr. A. H. Haigazian. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. H. S. Jenanyan, 1301 Divinity Place, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.)

ARCHBISHOPS' WESTERN CANADA FUND (1910).

Secretary: Rev. Canon Beal, 15 Tufton St., Westminster, London, S. W.

Object: To further the work of the Church of England in Western Canada.

Income: £34,000. This sum represents contributions in 1910, but can hardly be regarded as stated income since only a small proportion of this amount consists of annual subscriptions.

Field: Western Canada.

BRITISH COLUMBIA CHURCH AID SOCIETY (1910).

General Secretary: Rev. Jocelyn Perkins, M.A., 4 Dean's Yard, Westminster, London, S. W.

Object: To enable the Church of England to supply the religious needs of the growing population in British Columbia and Yukon, through grants to pioneer missions, bishopric endowment, etc., together with the development of purely missionary work among the Indian tribes and Asiatic immigrants.

Income: £22,500.

Organ: "Central Africa."

Fields: Southern Central Africa (Nyasaland), German East Africa, British East Africa (Islands of Zanzibar and Pemba).

LADIES' ASSOCIATION OF THE UNIVERSITIES' MISSION TO CENTRAL AFRICA (1875).

Secretary: Miss E. Mirehouse, 97 Onslow Square, London, S. W.

Object: To help in the payment of the salaries of African women teachers; to provide materials for schools in Africa; and to help working parties in England, if necessary, with materials for making African garments.

Income: From £100 to £120.

Fields: Those of the Universities' Mission to Central Africa.

SOCIETY OF ST. JOHN THE EVANGELIST (1865).

(NOTE: The address of this Society is its Mission House, Cowley, St. John, Oxford. Its members are priests exclusively, who engage in mission work as they have opportunity, at home and abroad. It is a private rather than a public organization, and its Superior seems reluctant to have the Society listed among missionary agencies. We, therefore, respect his wishes in the matter. Several missionary guilds and associations in South Africa and India are in affiliation with the Society of St. John the Evangelist.)

BAAKLEEN MEDICAL MISSION TO THE DRUSES (1865).

Honorary Secretary: Miss L. W. Burnett, 22 Albert Square, Clapham Road, London, S. W.

Object: To maintain medical mission work in Palestine.

Income: £52,337.

Organs: "India's Women and China's Daughters," "Daybreak."

Fields: China, British Malaysia, India, Ceylon.

(NOTE: Independent, though working in coöperation with the Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East. In connection with the Church of England Zenana Missionary Society, a work has been recently begun for the rescue of children about to be dedicated to life in the Temples of India. Miss Amy Wilson-Carmichael has established a Temple Children's Nursery at Dohnavur, South India, which is largely supported by special contributions from England. These unfortunate little ones are rescued, if possible, wherever they are discovered, and sent to the Nursery at Dohnavur. A beautiful volume, entitled "Lotus Buds," has been published by Miss Wilson-Carmichael, giving an account of this deeply interesting work.)

INDIAN WIDOWS' UNION (1889).

Secretary: Mrs. H. Bruce Boswell, 4 Queensborough Terrace, London, W.

Object: To band the Christian women of England together in a united effort to improve the condition of the Hindu and Mohammedan widows of India.

Income: £131.

Field: India.

NORTH CHINA AND SHANTUNG MISSION (1880).

Secretary: Rev. Mackwood Stevens, Addington Rectory, Winslow, Bucks.

Object: Evangelistic and medical missions among the Chinese in the Diocese of North China and Shantung.

Income: £5,714. Of this amount £2,576 was provided by the English Association in aid of this Mission, and £3,138 by grants from the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel for the Dioceses of North China and Shantung.

Organ: "The Land of Sinim."

Field: China (North China, Shantung).

(NOTE: The Society for the Propagation of the Gospel began the Mission in North China in 1874, but the Diocese of North China was not formed until 1880, and that of Shantung was formed in 1903. Hospitals are conducted by the Mission at Peking and Ping Yin.)

COMMITTEE OF THE PAKHOI LEPER FUND, SOUTH CHINA (1883).

Honorary Secretary: Mr. W. E. Hurcomb, 13 Devonshire St., Islington, London, N.

Object: To minister bodily and spiritually to about 150 lepers, fed, clothed, and housed in leper compounds.

Income: £726. (Of which £200 was a contribution to the Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East, and is included in its income.)

Field: China (Pakhoi and surrounding districts).

(NOTE: Formerly called the "Pakhoi Leper and Medical Mission." The Fund is in connection with the Church Missionary Society, but in the report issued other work is mentioned as supported by the Committee of the Pakhoi Leper Fund.)

ARCHBISHOP'S MISSION TO THE ASSYRIAN CHRISTIANS (1884).

Organizing Secretary: Rev. F. N. Heazell, Church House, Westminster, London, S. W.

(NOTE: The Archbishop's Mission has no proselyting aim, nor is its object to alter the ecclesiastical customs and traditions of the Assyrian Church, nor to bring over any of its members to the communion of the Church of England. It is rather a mission of encouragement to Assyrian Christians to better their religious condition, and to give vitality to their church life. The friends of the Mission, in view of its non-aggressive attitude, seem reluctant to have it entered as a missionary society, and it has simply been listed that this note of explanation might be attached to its title.)

NORTH INDIA INDUSTRIAL HOME FOR CHRISTIAN BLIND (1887).

Honorary Secretary: Miss Emily Sharp, Redhill, Surrey.

Honorary Superintendent: Miss Frances Sharp, Dehra Dun, Rajpur, United Provinces, India.

Object: The support and teaching of Indian Christian blind people.

Income: From subscriptions in England, £195; in India, £221; total, £416. This sum does not include government grants or receipts from Industries Department.

Field: North India.

JERUSALEM AND THE EAST MISSION FUND (1888).

Secretary: Rev. William Sadler, Dembleby Rectory, Folkingham, Lincolnshire.

Object: The establishment and maintenance of mission work among the Jews in the Bible Lands (not excluding Moslems), and the furtherance of such work by the provision of Church privileges for English-speaking people resident in those lands.

Income: £5,877 in England, and, in addition, about £4,600 local receipts in the Mission, including school fees.

Organ: "Bible Lands."

Fields: Palestine, Syria, Cyprus, North-east Africa (Egypt).

(NOTE: See also entry of Jerusalem and the East Mission, under list of Societies Working among the Jews.)

SOCIETY OF THE SACRED MISSION (1893).

Directors: Rev. Herbert Kelly, Rev. David Jenks.

Address: House of the Sacred Mission, Kelham, Newark-on-Trent.

Object: To organize those who are ready to serve God's Church in common, under the discipline of the religious life, free from personal ties, for such duties as the Church may commit to the Society.

Income: No statement at hand.

Organ: "Society of the Sacred Mission Quarterly Paper."

Fields: South Africa, East Africa.

(NOTE: Members of the Society who go abroad work in connection with existing dioceses, some among colonists, and others among the natives.)

PALESTINE VILLAGE MISSION (1895).

Object: To evangelize villages in Palestine.

Income: From home sources, £200.

Field: Palestine.

COUNTESS OF HUNTINGDON'S CONNEXION:

SIERRA LEONE MISSION (1853).

Honorary Secretary: Rev. Joseph Bainton, Ashbourne, Derbyshire.

Object: The spread of the Gospel in the Protectorate and Colony of Sierra Leone.

Income: From English sources, £438; from Sierra Leone, £460; total, £898. Of the amount from English sources £74 was from the Free Church of England.

Organ: "Missionary News Sheet."

Field: Western Africa (Sierra Leone).

(NOTE: Supported by the Countess of Huntingdon's Connexion, and the Free Church of England. Also known as the Society for the Spread of the Gospel at Home and Abroad. The Sierra Leone Mission grew out of the removal of Negro Christians, in 1792, from Nova Scotia to Sierra Leone. These Christians had formed part of the Countess of Huntingdon's Connexion in Nova Scotia, and in Sierra Leone continued to follow the forms of worship and church discipline with which they had been familiar. It was not until 1853, however, that the Connexion at home became responsible for the oversight and financial support of the work. Until 1899 all the workers were natives of the colony. Since that date there has been an English missionary as Superintendent.)

Income: Benevolent income, £21,944; foreign missionary grants, £5,777, of which £1,887 was spent on the Continent of Europe. The Society is raising a special fund of £20,000 to be spent within five years, on the extension of its work in China.

Organ: "Seed Time and Harvest."

Field: The world.

(NOTE: The Society was incorporated in 1899. Apart from its home work and its continental depots, it is the mainstay of the various tract societies in China, Japan, and India, through which it is producing Christian literature in great variety. It is assisting by way of grants in the production of literature of almost every type. It is also helping by way of grants in the publication of literature by other societies or individuals. There is scarcely a mission field wholly untouched by its work. The societies and agencies associated with or helped by the Religious Tract Society are as follows: India—Bangalore Tract and Book Society, Basel Mission in Mangalore, Bombay Book and Tract Society, Calcutta Christian Tract and Book Society, Ceylon Christian Literature and Religious Tract Society, Madras Religious Tract and Book Society, Malayalam Religious Tract Society, North India Christian Tract and Book Society, Orissa Baptist Mission Press, Punjab Religious Book Society, South Travancore Book and Tract Society; Turkish Empire—American Press in Beirut; Chinese Empire—Chinese Tract Society in Shanghai, Canton and Hongkong Religious Tract Society, Central China Religious Tract Society, National Bible Society of Scotland in Hankow, West China Religious Tract Society, North China Religious Tract Society, North Fuhkien Religious Tract Society, South Fuhkien Religious Tract Society, Manchurian Tract Committee; Japan—Japan Book and Tract Society. Most of these societies have an independent status, or are of such importance, because of the extent or type of the work carried on, that they are given directory or statistical entries of their own in this volume.)

SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION (1803).

General Secretary: Rev. Carey Bonner, 56 Old Bailey, London, E. C.

Object: To promote the establishment of Sunday Schools, and increase their efficiency, and to supply stationery, books, and other requisites, to Sunday Schools at reduced prices.

Secretary: Rev. John H. Ritson, M.A., British and Foreign Bible Society, 146 Queen Victoria St., London, E. C.

Object: To afford intercourse among the secretaries of various foreign missionary societies with headquarters in London, and opportunity for interchange of ideas on mission problems.

TRINITARIAN BIBLE SOCIETY (1831).

Secretaries: Rev. Ethelbert W. Bullinger, D.D., Rev. F. Cecil Lovely, B.A., Rev. J. Christopher Smith.

Office Address: 7 Bury St., Bloomsbury, London, W. C.

Object: The free distribution of the Word of God.

Organ: "The Quarterly Record."

Fields: All parts of the world, but especially the Philippine Islands, Spain, Italy, and France (Brittany).

PARIS CITY MISSION [COMITÉ AUXILIAIRE D'ÉVANGÉLISATION DE PARIS] (1832).

President: Lord Kinnaird.

General Secretary: Rev. R. K. MacKay, F.R.G.S., 12 Stockwell Park Walk, London, S. W.

Financial Secretary: Mr. H. E. Weyland, 24 Nicoll Road, Harlesden, London, N. W.

Object: To act as an evangelical auxiliary to other Protestant Evangelical Societies and Churches in France.

Income: £4,179. This represents the amounts received both in London and Paris, but includes special gifts for the extension of the Mission, amounting to £2,310, received just before closing the accounts for the last fiscal year.

Field: France (Paris and its vicinity).

(NOTE: The Mission was founded in 1832, by Mr. David Nasmyth, who has been called the "Father of City Missions." It was reorganized in 1878 by Lord Shaftesbury, Mr. L. M. Weyland, the Rev. Dr. McAll, and the Rev. Dr. Somerville. There are nine missionaries in connection with it at present, in Paris and vicinity. A new development in the work of the Mission is the employment of vans in what is called "Gospel Caravan Work," outside the walls of Paris, reaching thereby many thousands of the poorest people, and those who are wholly ignorant of the teachings of the Gospel. The Rev. S. H. Anderson, 37 Avenue de la Grande Armée, is the Superintendent of the Mission in Paris.)

FOREIGN AID SOCIETY FOR THE DIFFUSION OF THE GOSPEL ON THE CONTINENT (1840).

Secretary: Rev. H. J. R. Marston, M.A., 22 Chapel St., Belgrave Square, London, S. W.

Object: To collect funds in aid of the Evangelical Societies of France and Geneva, and such other institutions as may be formed on similar principles, within the limits of the French Protestant Churches, and generally to promote the religious principles of the Reformation beyond those limits, on the Continent and the islands of Europe.

Income: £825.

Organ: "The Watchfire."

Fields: France, Belgium, Switzerland (through the Société Centrale Protestante d'Évangélisation, the Société Chrétienne Protestante du Nord, the Société Évangélique de France, the Société Évangélique de Genève, the Société Évangélique Belge, and the Free Evangelical Churches of France).

EVANGELICAL CONTINENTAL SOCIETY (1845).

Secretary: Rev. George H. Giddins, 11 Memorial Hall, Farringdon St., London, E. C.

Object: To aid existing evangelical churches and missions on the Continent of Europe in their endeavors to propagate the Gospel.

Income: £1,615.

Fields: France, Belgium, Italy, Spain, Portugal, Austria-Hungary, Russian Poland, Bohemia, Moravia, Bulgaria, and among the Basques in Biscaya.

(NOTE: Among the Evangelical Agencies aided are the following: Home Mission of the Union of Free Evangelical Churches of France, the Evangelical Society of France, the Free Evangelical Missionary Church of Belgium, the Free Evangelical (Congregational) Churches of Austria-Hungary, the Reformed Evangelical Churches of Bohemia, and some individual churches in Spain, Italy, Russia, and Portugal.)

EVANGELICAL ALLIANCE (1846).

Secretary: Henry Martyn Gooch, Esq., Alliance House, 7 Adam St., Strand, London, W. C.

Object: To enable Christians of both British and foreign nations to realize in themselves, and to manifest to others, that living and essential union which binds true believers together in the fellowship of Christ. As a result of this union, the Alliance is active in the cause of religious liberty, the relief of persecuted Christians, the promotion of united prayer, the defense of evangelical truth, and various enterprises of direct Gospel work.

Income: £3,297.

Organ: "The Evangelical Alliance Quarterly."

Field: The world.

(NOTE: The Alliance is auxiliary in its influence on foreign missions, and occasionally renders direct assistance, especially in dealing with foreign governments, but its income should be excluded from any missionary summation. See entries under United States, France, and Japan.)

BIBLE LANDS MISSIONS' AID SOCIETY (1854).

Secretary: Rev. S. W. Gentle-Cackett, 7 Adam St., Strand, London, W. C.

Object: To aid évangélical missions in Bible lands.

Income: £2,300; also special relief funds, as in the case of famine, massacres, etc. The massacre fund (1909) amounted to £2,600.

Organ: "The Star in the East."

Fields: Arabia, Turkish Empire (Palestine, Syria, Asia Minor, European Turkey), North-east Africa (Egypt), Europe (Greece, Bulgaria).

(NOTE: Formerly called the "Turkish Missions' Aid Society.")

MISSIONS TO SEAMEN (1856).

Secretary: Stuart C. Knox, Esq., M.A., 11 Buckingham St., Strand, London, W. C.

Object: The spiritual welfare of the seafaring classes at home and abroad.

Income: £54,030.

Organ: "The Word on the Waters."

Field: Among seamen ashore and afloat in all parts of the world.

(NOTE: The Missions to Seamen is served by a large number of local chaplains in ports at home and in foreign lands, many of them being honorary workers. In addition, its Scripture-readers, lay helpers, ambulance instructors, and lady workers, devote themselves to the welfare of seamen in nearly all the prominent ports of the world. The circulation of religious literature receives much attention. There is a Ladies' Working Union which coöperates with the Missions to Seamen.)

ASSOCIATION FOR THE FREE DISTRIBUTION OF THE SCRIPTURES (1874).

Honorary Secretary: Mrs. A. E. Pridham, Chesils, Christ Church Road, Hampstead, London, N. W.

Object: To give the Word of God freely to those who are without it, and who would otherwise, either through ignorance, fanaticism, or poverty, never possess it.

Income: About £1,000. The bulk is expended among non-Christians, but the percentage varies each year.

Field: The world.

SOCIETY FOR THE SUPPRESSION OF THE OPIUM TRADE (1874).

Honorary Secretary: J. G. Alexander, Esq., LL.B.

Secretary: Rev. G. A. Wilson, 181 Queen Victoria St., London, E. C.

Object: The suppression of the opium trade between India and China, and the prohibition of the use of the drug for non-medical purposes throughout the British Empire.

Income: £800.

Organ: "The Friend of China."

Fields: China, British Malaysia, Australia, New Zealand, India, South Africa, Canada.

(NOTE: In addition, the following Associations for the Suppression of the Opium Traffic coöperate, working in harmony with the Society for the Suppression of the Opium Trade:

1. Christian Union for the Severance of the Connection of the British Empire with the Opium Traffic. Honorary Secretary: Mr. B. Broomhall, 2 Pyrland Road, Mildmay Park, London, N.
2. Women's Anti-Opium Urgency Committee. Honorary Secretary: Miss R. Braithwaite, 312 Camden Road, London, N.
3. Friends' Anti-Opium Committee, care of Mr. Isaac Sharp, 12 Bishopsgate St., London, E. C.
4. Church of England Anti-Opium Committee. Honorary Secretary: Mrs. Dixon Davies, Beaconsfield, Bucks.)

MEDICAL MISSIONS' ASSOCIATION, LONDON (1878).

Secretary: James L. Maxwell, M.A., M.D., 49 Highbury Park, London, N.

Object: To promote the spiritual welfare of medical students, and stimulate a deeper interest in medical missions; to aid suitable Christian men who desire to give themselves to medical mission work; to establish medical missions, either independently, or in connection with other societies; to diffuse information by lectures and meetings, and especially by the publication of a medical missionary magazine; to select and send out men to work on the staff of the Union Medical College, Peking, and to act as intermediary to friends and supporters in this country.

Income: £1,449, of which £345 was for the Union Medical College at Peking.

Organ: "Medical Missions at Home and Abroad."

Fields: Its special work being to assist men to full qualification as medical missionaries, in order that they may offer themselves to the organized missionary societies, the Medical Missionary Association does not plant any medical missions of its own in foreign lands. It has in the past assisted to plant several Home Medical Missions.

ZENANA AND HOME MISSION MIDWIFERY TRAINING HOME (1830).

Honorary Secretary: Dr. G. de G. Griffith, 9 Lupus St., Westminster, London, S. W.

Object: To give medical instruction to ladies intending to do mission work in those countries where women only are permitted to attend the women and children.

Income: £320.

Organ: "White Fields."

Fields: The mission lands where women are kept in seclusion.

(NOTE: Formerly designated as the Zenana Medical Mission College, and founded under that name in 1830.)

HELPING HANDS MISSIONARY ASSOCIATION (1884).

Secretary: Address the Secretary of the Helping Hands Missionary Association, care of Zenana Bible and Medical Mission, King's Chambers, Portugal St., Kingsway, London, W. C.

Object: To assist the missionary societies already working among the women of India, by raising the money required to supply the smaller needs incidental to missionary and medical work.

Income: No report of income has come to hand, but £69 is acknowledged by the Zenana Bible and Medical Mission as having been received from the Helping Hands Missionary Association in 1909.

Field: India.

(NOTE: Owing to the absence in India of the Secretary, Mrs. Beynon, direct correspondence with a view to securing official data has been unsuccessful.)

MINISTERING CHILDREN'S LEAGUE (1885).

Organizing Secretary: Mrs. Arthur Phillip, 83 Lancaster Gate, London, W.

Object: To promote unselfishness among children, and to induce them to work for and to serve others.

Income: No statement at hand.

Organ: "The Ministering Children's League Quarterly Magazine."

Fields: Those of the societies through which gifts are forwarded.

(NOTE: The Ministering Children's League is composed of branches all over the world. Each branch manages its own finances, and gives to whatever good work it pleases. Many of the English branches contribute largely to missions, through the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, the Church Missionary Society, and other societies. American, Australian, Japanese, and other branches, are also doing foreign mission work.)

BRETON EVANGELICAL MISSION [SOCIÉTÉ ÉVANGÉLIQUE BRÉTONNE] (1885).

Honorary Secretary of London Committee: Name and address not received.

Object: To support and extend the missionary efforts of the Breton Evangelical Church at Trémel, Côtes-du-Nord, France.

Income: No statement at hand.

Field: France (Brittany).

UNITED COMMITTEE FOR THE PREVENTION OF THE DEMORALIZATION OF THE NATIVE RACES BY THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC (1886).

Honorary Secretary: Henry Gurney, Esq.

Secretary: Mr. John Newton.

Office Address: 177-8 Palace Chambers, 9 Bridge St., Westminster, London.

Object: To prevent the demoralization of the native races by the liquor traffic.

Income: £728.

Organ: Occasional pamphlets.

Fields: British Empire, and, also, in association with National Committees, the Continents of Europe and America.

(NOTE: Coöperating with the United Committee are an International Committee and a United Scottish Committee.)

SCRIPTURE GIFT MISSION (1888).

Secretary: Mr. Francis Charles Brading, 15 Strand, London, W. C.

Object: The publication and dissemination of the Scriptures by free gift and sale.

Income: £8,100 (£4,808 from sales)

Organ: "The Word of Life."

Field: The world.

(NOTE: The annual report of the Scripture Gift Mission shows a wide circulation of pictorial Testaments, Gospels, and portions, sent to missionaries and Christian workers throughout Great Britain, Continental Europe, North and South America, and most of the mission lands of the non-Christian world.)

THONON EVANGELISTIC MISSION [MISSION ÉVANGÉLIQUE THONON, HAUTE SAVOIE, FRANCE] (1889).

Honorary Deputation Secretary: Miss M. C. Rouse, 47 Berlin Road, Catford, London, S. E.

Secretary: Mr. R. L. Carter, 57 Old Broad St., London, E. C.

Object: To bring men, women, and children to the knowledge of the Saviour's love, and to minister socially and medically to the needy people of Haute Savoie, France.

Income: £604.

Field: France (Thonon-les-Bains, Haute Savoie, and the surrounding villages).

(NOTE: Mission work was commenced in 1889 by two ladies who were visiting at Lausanne, opposite Thonon, on Lake Geneva, and were told of the need of evangelistic efforts among the people of that vicinity, but the English Committee in aid of the Mission was not organized until 1903.)

ALL NATIONS MISSIONARY UNION, PENCE ASSOCIATION, AND INFORMATION BUREAU (1892).

Secretary: Mr. Robert H. Parsons, 33 Henrietta St., Covent Garden, London, W. C.

Object: To promote the work of evangelizing the world, and to encourage systematic giving to the cause of missions.

Income: £2,400.

Organ: "All Nations."

Field: The world.

(NOTE: Societies, missions, and missionaries of all denominations have been aided by its funds, and also by the stimulus it has given to a practical, self-denying interest in the missions of the Churches. Over £40,000 has been collected. Pioneer missionaries have been sent out and supported in hitherto unoccupied fields. Over £7,500 has been raised for building leper asylums, and housing tainted and untainted children of lepers, and nearly £6,000 for Indian famine relief. The Missionary Pence Association, organized in 1888, has been merged into the All Nations Missionary Union.)

LIVINGSTON MEDICAL COLLEGE (1893).

Director: Dr. Charles F. Harford, Livingston College, Leyton, London.

Object: To give a medical training to missionaries for work in the tropics. Instruction is imparted in the elements of medicine, surgery, and hygiene, that they may be able to render service to each other and to natives.

Income: £2,144.

Fields: The mission fields of various societies.

STUDENT VOLUNTEER MISSIONARY UNION (1893).

Secretary: Rev. Tissington Tatlow, M.A., 93 Chancery Lane, London, W. C.

Object: To lay before the students of the British Isles the claims of the foreign mission field as a sphere for a life work, and to enroll as members those who are willing to sign the Declaration, "It is my purpose, if God permit, to become a foreign missionary."

Income: £924.

Organ: "The Student Movement."

Fields: The universities and colleges of the British Isles.

(NOTE: For a comprehensive statement concerning the Student Volunteer Movement, Foreign Missions, and allied organizations in various lands, see under United States. In Great Britain the Student Volunteer Missionary Union constitutes one Department of the Student Christian Movement of Great Britain and Ireland, the others being the General College Department and the Theological College Department. Up to March, 1909, the S. V. M. U. had enrolled 3,283 volunteers, of whom 1,385 had sailed, in connection with 45 different societies, while 1,201 were still in preparation. The Union also aids missions by promoting missionary study among students, who thus become supporters of the cause.)

MISSIONARIES' LITERATURE ASSOCIATION (1894).

Honorary General Secretary and Founder: Mr. William Robert Dover, 7 Albany Court Yard, Piccadilly, London, W.

Object: To provide missionaries with useful periodicals; to establish libraries in mission stations; and to make grants of the Scriptures, tracts, sermons, books, etc., for free distribution.

Income: £30. The income of the Association is largely in the form of literature presented to be forwarded to the fields.

Organ: "The Missionary Quarterly."

Field: The world.

WORLD'S YOUNG WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION (1894).General Secretary: Miss Clarissa Spencer.Corresponding Secretary: Miss Ethel Stevenson.Office Address: 26 George St., Hanover Square, London, W.Object: To promote the spiritual, intellectual, social, and physical welfare of young women.Income: For the work in mission lands, £9,940 (see note below); for the upkeep of the International Office, including the General Secretary's tours, etc., £2,203.Organ: "The World's Young Women's Christian Association Quarterly."Fields: Japan, China, British Malaysia, India, Turkish Empire, North Africa (Egypt, Tunis), Western Africa (Gold Coast, Southern Nigeria), South Africa (Cape Colony, Natal, Transvaal), British East Africa, South America (Argentine Republic, Brazil). There is also work in most of the countries of Europe, in Australasia, in Canada, and in the United States.

(NOTE: The World's Young Women's Christian Association is primarily a federation of the various National Committees of the Young Women's Christian Association, together with Corresponding Members who represent countries in which the branches are not yet formed into national organizations. In non-Christian lands there are three National Committees, that of India, Burma, and Ceylon, that of China, and that of Japan. The Young Women's Christian Association work in those lands is under the immediate direction of their National Committees. The foreign secretaries sent out to non-Christian lands are supported by their several home National Committees, and are recorded as secretaries of those committees. The only work for non-Christians which is under the immediate direction of the World's Christian Association is that in countries which have no foreign secretaries and no National Committees. Nearly all of such work is among college students. The income for foreign work of the World's Young Women's Christian Association represents, for the most part, the sum of gifts reported by the various National Committees which send secretaries to mission lands. In entering the statistics of Young Women's Christian Association work in this volume, European or North American secretaries are credited to their home supporting constituencies, and all other data in each case are entered under the National Committee of the particular mission field. In the Turkish Empire no foreign secretaries are resident, nor is there a National Committee, so all work in that field is credited to the World's Young Women's Christian Association, which has supervision over it.)

KESWICK CONVENTION MISSION COUNCIL (1896).Honorary Secretary: Rev. J. Stuart Holden, M.A., 66 Gloucester Place, London, W.Object: To send forth missionaries to attend missionary conferences on the field, and to support foreign missionaries, through organized missionary societies.Income: £1,527, applied toward the support of fifteen missionaries.Organ: "The Life of Faith."Fields: Japan, China, India, North Africa (Egypt), South Africa.FRIENDS OF ARMENIA (1897).*Honorary Secretary: Mrs. Mary Hickson, 47 Victoria St., Westminster, London, S. W.Object: To maintain Armenian children made orphans by massacre or disaster, and to help widows and destitute women to support themselves.Income: £6,096.Organ: "The Friend of Armenia."Field: Asia Minor.

(NOTE: Since the Friends of Armenia began work, in 1897, they have had the pleasure of forwarding over £60,000 to the distressed districts.)

INDUSTRIAL MISSIONS AID SOCIETY (1897).Secretary: Mr. Joseph Starling, 84 Great Portland St., London, W.Object: To make it possible for native Christians to live without being pauperized, when they are otherwise boycotted; to make it possible for the sons and daughters of native Christians to be taught and trained, without engaging themselves to idolatrous employers; to lessen the cost of supporting famine orphans, child widows, and others, in homes and schools, in which they are enabled to devote some part of the day to remunerative work, according to their age and capabilities; and to dispose of the work thus produced.Income: Donations, £624; sales, £2,525; total, £3,149.Organ: "Industrial Missions."Field: The world.

(NOTE: The Society receives and disposes of much of the embroidery, needlework, carved wood, carpets, rugs, etc., from over forty different mission stations in China, India, Palestine, Armenia, Africa, West Indies, etc.)

HOME FOR HOMELESS AND FRIENDLESS INDIAN WOMEN, CALCUTTA (1899).

(See under India.)

COUNCIL IN ENGLAND FOR THE HOME FOR HOMELESS AND FRIENDLESS INDIAN WOMEN, CALCUTTA (1898).Honorary Secretary: Mrs. F. C. Church, Belmont, Baslow Road, Eastbourne.Object: To raise contributions for, and to arouse interest in, the Mission for destitute Indian women in Calcutta, under the care of Miss Editha Mulvaney.Income: £330. The Council in England has also raised the sum of £1,700 to pay for a new building site for the institution.Field: India (Calcutta).SOCIETY FOR THE PROTECTION OF CHILDREN IN INDIA (1901).

(See under India.)

ENGLISH COMMITTEE OF THE SOCIETY FOR THE PROTECTION OF CHILDREN IN INDIA (1900).Honorary Secretary: Rev. J. P. Ashton, M.A., 7 Tillington Terrace, Clive Vale, Hastings, Sussex.Object: To cooperate with the Society for the Protection of Children in India by awakening interest, and by raising funds.Income: £129.Field: India (Bengal, United Provinces, Central Provinces).FOREIGN GOSPEL LITERATURE AND CORRESPONDENCE MISSION, OR PRESS AND POST MISSION (1903).*Honorary Directors: Mrs. Charlotte Fenn, Dr. R. M. Fenn.Office Address: 7 Burlington Road, Withington, Manchester.Object: To evangelize the educated classes in foreign countries, especially those in Roman Catholic Spanish and French speaking communities.Income: £109. This income is spent entirely in printing booklets, and circulating them by post, and in correspondence. All home service is honorary.Fields: Central America (Guatemala), South America (Argentine Republic, Uruguay), Mexico, Europe (Belgium, Spain), and other countries, as means and opportunity allow.LONDON MISSIONARY SCHOOL OF MEDICINE (1903).*Honorary Secretary: Edwin A. Neathy, M.D., 82 Wimpole St., London, W.Object: To impart to missionaries, going to regions beyond the reach of qualified medical aid, knowledge which shall help them to preserve their own health, and to deal intelligently with common ailments arising among themselves or the natives.Income: £270.Organ: "The Ends of the Earth."Fields: Mission fields throughout the world.

(NOTE: The London Missionary School of Medicine is operated in connection with the London Homoeopathic Hospital, Great Ormond St., Bloomsbury, W.C. The school does not compete with Medical Missionary Associations, nor do its students pose as medical missionaries, but it aims to impart a sufficient elementary training in medicine and surgery to its missionary students to enable them to safeguard their own health, and to render intelligent assistance in cases of common illness arising in regions where regular medical aid is not obtainable. At the sixth annual meeting of the School it was reported that a total of 168 students, representing 24 societies, had received the full course of three terms' training.)

NURSES' MISSIONARY LEAGUE (1903).Secretary: Miss H. Y. Richardson, Sloane Gardens House, 52 Lower Sloane St., London, S. W.Object: To unite as volunteer members all nurses, already fully trained, or in course of full training, who intend, if God permit, to become foreign missionaries; to unite as associate members all nurses, already fully trained, or in course of full training, who are interested in Christian work at home and abroad; and to supply to members mutual help and encouragement in the Christian life and service.Income: £350.Organ: "Nurses Near and Far."Fields: Members of the League are in mission hospitals, in connection with various missionary societies all over the world.UGANDA COMPANY, LIMITED (1903).*Secretary: Mr. E. F. Whaithe, 15 Old Jewry Chambers, London, E. C.Object: The administration of commercial and industrial enterprise in Uganda.Income: As the Company is on a commercial basis, its property and assets, and the subscriptions of its stockholders, cannot be classed as missionary contributions.Field: Africa (Uganda Protectorate).

(NOTE: The Uganda Company, Limited, is an outgrowth of the industrial work formerly carried on in connection with the mission of the Church Missionary Society in Uganda. The industries which were started and conducted by the Church Missionary Society as part of their missionary efforts were taken over by the Uganda Company, Limited, in 1903, and have since been administered independently, along commercial lines, but in sympathetic relations with the Society's Mission in Uganda. The General Manager in Uganda is Mr. K. Borup. Like the Papuan Industries, Limited, it is a heritage of missions, and with its commercial enterprise is mingled a moral and practical purpose to lift industrial service to a high plane, and to help forward industrial progress along useful lines. In addition to this industrial effort in Uganda, there was also established at Kavirondo, in 1906, with similar aims, the East African Industries, Limited, the London office of which is 1 and 2 George St., Mansion House, E. C. Its Superintendent in East Africa is Mr. J. A. Bailey.)

PAPUAN INDUSTRIES, LIMITED (1904).Secretary: Mr. Thomas Elson, 120 Colmore Row, Birmingham.Object: The material, moral, and spiritual uplifting of the natives of Papua (New Guinea), and the islands of the Torres Straits, by stimulating them to make efforts for their own improvement, through the cultivation of marketable products, and by other industrial pursuits.Income: The Balance Sheet of the Papuan Industries, June 30, 1910, reports property and assets at a valuation of £22,427-12-7.Organ: Occasional booklets, under various names.Fields: Papua (New Guinea), and the neighboring islands.

(NOTE: The management of the Company is in the hands of a Board of Directors in England, the Chairman of which is Mr. H. F. Keep, of Birmingham. The Managing Director in Australia is Mr. F. H. Walker, Badu, Torres Straits. Mr. Walker was the prime mover in this industrial mission enterprise, and has had a long experience in New Guinea, both as a missionary and a trader. For eight years he worked in connection with the London Missionary Society, and he arrived at the conclusion that the evangelistic agency alone was not sufficient to uplift the degraded and savage races of New Guinea, and that a Christian industrial agency, supplementing the evangelistic work, was essential. The origin and aim of the Company are, therefore, essentially missionary, though it differs in important respects from the status and purpose of the organizations usually classed as missionary. It represents a commercial agency dedicated in the spirit of its administration to missionary effort. The assets of the Company have not been included in the summary of missionary contributions.)

CONGO REFORM ASSOCIATION (1904).Honorary Secretary: Mr. E. D. Morel, "Granville House," Arundel St., Strand, London, W. C.Object: To secure for the natives inhabiting the Congo State territories the just and humane treatment which was guaranteed to them under the Berlin and Brussels Acts, by the restoration of their rights in land, and in the produce of the soil, of which preëxisting rights they have been deprived by the legislation and procedure of the Congo State.Income: The Association is supported solely by voluntary contributions, and its income consequently varies; it may be given as from £1,500 to £2,000.Organ: "The Official Organ of the Congo Reform Association."Field: Africa (Congo State).

(NOTE: There are branches of the Congo Reform Association in the United States, Germany, Switzerland, and France, which see under their respective countries in this Directory.)

WORLD-EVANGELIZATION LEAGUE (1905).Honorary Secretary and Founder: Mr. John H. Greene, Kingsdown, Chingford, London, N. E.Object: To encourage Christians to be soul-winners, in order that the evangelization of the world may be accelerated.Income: The income is nominal, nearly all the work being honorary.Organ: "Occasional Papers," in the form of booklets.Fields: Branches have been organized in Europe, India, Ceylon, and China, and, in a few instances, in the United States, Canada, and Australasia.ANTI-SLAVERY AND ABORIGINES PROTECTION SOCIETY (1909).*Secretary: Mr. Travers Buxton, M.A., 51 Denison House, Vauxhall Bridge Road, London, S. W.Object: To abolish slavery and the slave trade, and to secure for all native races justice, and the protection of their rights.Income: British and Foreign Anti-Slavery Society, £548; Aborigines Protection Society, £634; total for the two societies in 1908, £1,182.Organ: "The Anti-Slavery Reporter and Aborigines' Friend."Fields: Not restricted, but especially within the British Dominions.

(NOTE: The Aborigines Protection Society (1837) and the British and Foreign Anti-Slavery Society (1839) were amalgamated in 1909, to form the Anti-Slavery and Aborigines Protection Society.)

CHINA EMERGENCY APPEAL COMMITTEE (1909).

President: Sir Robert Hart, Bart., G.C.M.G.

Secretary: Rev. Edward T. Reed, 28 Victoria St., Westminster, London, S. W.

Object: To raise the sum of £100,000 to assist Christian Missions in China, in order to take advantage of the present unparalleled openings before they pass away from us, by the following means: the establishment of Union Medical Training Colleges for Chinese students; the founding of Normal Training and Theological Institutions for the education of Chinese Christian school-teachers and pastors; the translation and publication of the best Western literature for the use of the colleges; and rendering assistance to the Christian Literature and Tract Societies already at work.

Income: £14,021.

Field: China.

(Note: The China Emergency Appeal Committee is likely to be only a temporary organization, as it was constituted to aid existing missionary societies in China to make special efforts during the present remarkable opportunities for advance in Christian work in that land. After its object of raising the sum of £100,000 for this emergency has been attained, it is possible the Committee may disband.)

HIRERNIAN CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY (1814).

Secretary: Rev. A. J. Pike, M.A., 21 Molesworth St., Dublin.

Object: To call forth and direct the zeal of the well-disposed persons in Ireland, and, more particularly, that of the members of the Church of Ireland, in support of the plans and proceedings of the Church Missionary Society; and for this end constant attention shall be paid to the diffusion of information, the obtaining of contributions, and the securing of proper persons to be recommended as missionaries to the Church Missionary Society.

Income: £21,556.

Organ: "The Hibernian Church Missionary Gleaner."

Fields: Those of the Church Missionary Society.

(Note: This Society is auxiliary to the Church Missionary Society, through which organization it sends out its missionaries.)

DUBLIN UNIVERSITY MISSION TO FUH-KIEN (1886).

Honorary Secretary: Rev. R. M. Gwynn, B.D., F.T.C.D., 40 Trinity College, Dublin.

Assistant Secretary: Rev. Henry Brodie Good, M.A., Trinity College, Dublin.

Object: Educational, medical, and pastoral mission work in the Province of Fuh-Kien, China.

Income: £2,537.

Organ: "The Dublin University Missionary Magazine."

Field: China (Fuh-Kien Province, Special districts being Fuh-ning, and St. Mark's College, Foochow, with detached workers in Kien-Ning and Foochow).

(Note: The Dublin University Mission to Fuh-Kien works as an auxiliary to the Church Missionary Society. There is a Ladies' Auxiliary in aid of the Mission, of which the Honorary Secretaries are Miss M. Connell, 97 St. Lawrence Road, Clontarf, and Miss A. Moses, Kilbride Tower, Bray, County Wicklow.)

Organ: "The Women's Missionary Magazine."
Fields: Chinese Empire (Manchuria), India, Western Africa (Old Calabar), South Africa (Cape Colony), West Indies (Jamaica).

(NOTE: Organized in 1900, by the union of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Free Church of Scotland, founded in 1843, and which was formerly called the "Ladies' Society for Female Education in India and Africa," dating from 1837, and the Zenana Mission of the United Presbyterian Church of Scotland, founded in 1880.)

COLONIAL, CONTINENTAL, AND JEWISH COMMITTEE OF THE UNITED FREE CHURCH OF SCOTLAND (1910).

Convener: Rev. William Ewing, M.A.
Secretary: Rev. George Milne Rae, D.D., United Free Church Offices, 119 George St., Edinburgh.
Object: Religious ministrations, in English, in the British Colonies, and at various Continental centers; evangelistic mission work among Continental people, and rendering aid to evangelical missions in Europe; and also missions among the Jews.

Income: The income of the Colonial Mission for 1907 was £3,516, but if the money raised abroad by agents of the Committee, and that paid by Government for military and naval services, and spent on the Committee's work be added, the income would amount to £5,172. The income of the Continental Committee for 1907 was £3,342, but if the money raised abroad, and expended on the Committee's work for the year, be added, the income would amount to £7,018. That of the Jewish Committee, for 1907, was £9,179, which includes the sums raised abroad as school fees, medical fees, and donations. The disbursements of the Jewish Committee were at Budapest, Constantinople, Safed, Hebron, and Tiberias.

Fields: Colonies of Great Britain, Italy, France, Switzerland, Germany, Austria-Hungary, Spain, Portugal, Belgium, and Turkey and Palestine (among the Jews).

(NOTE: The Colonial Committee was instituted in 1836, and the Jewish in 1840. The Continental Committee was originally constituted in 1844, and was known as the Committee of Correspondence with Continental Churches. In 1848 it was merged with the Colonial Committee, and the amalgamated Committee was known as the Colonial and Continental Committee. Again, in 1868, the two were severed and acted independently, until 1910, when an amalgamation was consummated of the Colonial, the Continental, and the Jewish Committees of the United Free Church, as above recorded. The different funds, however, are distinct, but under one administration.)

FREE CHURCH OF SCOTLAND FOREIGN MISSION (1907).

Convener: Rev. Alexander Stewart, 2 Argyle Place, Edinburgh.
Object: The evangelization of non-Christian people.
Income: £1,110.
Organ: Reports through the "Free Church of Scotland Record."
Field: South Africa (Cape Colony).

(NOTE: Beginning in 1900, the Free Church had no organized mission of its own until 1907, when it resumed operations in Cape Colony. During the intervening years, however, the Church maintained a lady missionary, in connection with the foreign mission of the Original Secession Church, in Seoni, Central Provinces, India, and contributed besides a sum averaging about £200 a year for the support of that Mission. This aid is still being given.)

SCOTTISH MISSION INDUSTRIES COMPANY, LIMITED (1903).

Secretary: Mr. Alexander MacKelvie, C.A., 55 Queen St., Edinburgh.
Object: To furnish, on commercial lines, a means of employment and support for famine orphans and native Christians.
Income: The Company is self-supporting. Established under the Home Companies Acts. No financial support received from any source. It is not strictly speaking a missionary society, though in sympathy with missions, and helpful as an adjunct to them.
Field: India (Poona, Bombay Presidency; Ajmer, Rajputana).

CONTINUATION COMMITTEE OF THE WORLD MISSIONARY CONFERENCE, EDINBURGH (1910).

Secretary: Mr. J. H. Oldham, Windsor Buildings, 100 Princes St., Edinburgh.
Object: To act as a body authorized to represent the Edinburgh Conference, to carry out its chief aims, to perpetuate its influence, and to continue the work of the Conference, as the future may present opportunities, and call for further action along similar lines. Special attention is to be directed to the formation, if possible, of some Central Advisory International Committee, and meanwhile to direct the efforts of the Committee promoting (1) The investigation and study of unoccupied fields; (2) The creation of a Board of Study for the training of missionaries; (3) The development of training schools for missionaries; (4) Christian education in the mission field; (5) Christian literature; (6) The securing of uniformity in statistical returns; (7) The appointment of an International Committee, composed in part of jurists, to draw up a brief statement of recognized principles underlying the relations of Missions to Governments; (8) The best means of securing a larger place for missionary information in the secular press; (9) The advisability of publishing in whole, or in part, the evidence received by the Commission on the Missionary Message.
Income: No report at present.

Organ: Bulletins and reports of progress issued from time to time.

Fields: Christendom, and Christian communities in all lands.

(NOTE: The composition of the Committee is international, being representative of Christendom and the prominent nations of the Far East. See entry under United States.)

Income: £1,800.
Fields: Western Africa (Liberia, Gold Coast, Southern Nigeria), South-west Africa (Kamerun).

(NOTE: Otherwise known as the African Training Institute, Colwyn Bay.)

CONTINENTAL SOCIETIES

(NOTE: The usual classification under denominational headings, followed by "Societies Not Denominational," has not been attempted in the Continental Section of the Directory. The State Churches may be regarded as inclusive of several divisions, not, however, essentially denominational in the ordinary meaning of that term. Even some of the ecclesiastical bodies which might perhaps be considered denominational in the ordinary sense, bear the stamp of the State Churches. Certain other communities are not regarded by Continental leaders as indigenous to those countries. Under the circumstances, no classification has been attempted except that of "Societies Appointing and Sending Missionaries" and "Coöperating and Collecting Societies.")

(NOTE: There are a number of other Bulgarian missionary and benevolent societies, such as the Woman's Benevolent Society of Samakov, and, in connection with the American Collegiate and Theological Institute and the Girls' Boarding School, there are smaller societies for Christian work of a religious and philanthropic character. There are eight of these organizations among Bulgarian Protestants, five of which are under student auspices.)

DENMARK

(The Danish krone may be reckoned as equivalent to 27 cents United States currency, or 1s. 1d. English money.)

DANSKE EVANGELISK-LUTHERSKE STATS KIRKE [EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN STATE CHURCH OF DENMARK] (1721).

Secretary: The Cultus Minister of the State of Denmark, Copenhagen.

Object: The evangelization of the remaining heathen in Greenland.

Income: 10,000 Kr.

Field: Greenland (Angmagssalik, on the east coast, and Cape York, on the west coast, the farthest northern settlement, opened recently).

(NOTE: The self-supporting work in Greenland is not included in this statement, but only the two recently organized stations. Hans Egede went as a missionary to Greenland in 1721, which, therefore, is the date of the first mission established by the Evangelical Lutheran State Church of Denmark.)

EVANGELISK-LUTHERSKE GRÖNLANDSKE KIRKE [EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN CHURCH OF GREENLAND] (1721).

Address: Prof. C. W. S. Lorentzen, President Theological Seminary, Godhaab, West Greenland.

Object: To evangelize the natives on the east coast, and in the far north, of Greenland.

Income: No statement at hand.

Field: Greenland (the east coast, and Cape York, in the far north, on the west coast).

(NOTE: The mission on the east coast was founded by a native Eskimo catechist from the west coast.)

MISSION DER BRÜDERGEMEINE [MORAVIAN MISSIONS] (1732).

(See under Germany.)

NORDSCHLESWIGISCHE MISSIONSVEREIN [NORTH-SCHLESWIG MISSIONARY ASSOCIATION] (1843).

Secretary: Rev. Frederick Hoy, Christiansfeld, North Schleswig.

Object: To aid Moravian Missions in general.

Income: 12,849 Mk.

Organs: "Evangelisk Missionstidende," "Brodermenighedens danske Missionsblad."

Fields: Denmark (Schleswig-Holstein), and those of the Moravian Missions.

(NOTE: The work of this Association was originally limited to rendering aid to Moravian Missions in Danish colonies, but its object has now been extended to the support of Moravian Missions in general.)

DANSKE MISSIONSSELSKAB [DANISH MISSIONARY SOCIETY] (1821).

Secretary: Pastor Busch, Hellerup, Strandager vej 24, Copenhagen.

Object: Foreign missions.

Income: 255,922 Kr. The receipts from the mission fields are not taken into the principal account.

Organ: "Dansk Missions-Blad."

Fields: Chinese Empire (Manchuria), India.

(NOTE: The Danish Lutheran State Church, under the patronage of King Frederick IV, and by his express orders, established, at the opening of the eighteenth century, a missionary organization, subsequently controlled by a Mission-Collegium, located at Copenhagen. Its prospectus has been named "Pharus Missionis Evangelicæ," from the opening words of its title; and in fulfillment of its purpose the missionaries Ziegenbalg and Plutschau were sent to Tranquebar, India, in 1705, where they opened the Tamil Mission. As many of the workers, as well as the administrative care of the Mission, came from Halle, Germany, it was named the "Danish-Halle Mission," but toward the close of the century this organization was gradually absorbed by other societies, chiefly the Leipzig Lutheran Missionary Society. The Danish Mission Church in Greenland has grown out of a mission established in Greenland by the Danish State Church early in the eighteenth century, when Hans Egede settled there. It subsequently grew to be the Lutheran Church of Greenland, served by Danish clergy, and also by native ministers, most of whom were educated and ordained at Copenhagen. In 1899 the Moravian Missionary Society, whose work in Greenland also dates from the early part of the eighteenth century, transferred its mission stations there to the care of the Danish Lutheran Church in that country. The Church of Greenland has the distinction of being the earliest independent mission Church which has resulted from the modern missionary movement. The entire west coast of Greenland, through the united labors for nearly two hundred years of the Danish Lutherans and the Moravians, has become proselytically Christian, and good progress has also been made toward the evangelization of the east coast. The work of the Danish Missionary Society in Greenland began in 1821, which is given as the date of its founding.)

MISSION POPULAIRE ÉVANGÉLIQUE DE FRANCE [McALL MISSION] (1872).

Secretary: Mr. E. J. Rouilly, 36 rue Godot de Mauroy, Paris.

Object: Evangelical missions to the French people.

Income: £11,745 (293,630 Fr.). This amount ($57,198) is acknowledged for the year ending April 30, 1909, but a deficit balance of £1,338 (33,461 Fr.) reduces it to $50,682. This includes contributions from supporters outside of France of, approximately, $42,500, of which £4,944 ($24,077) is recorded as received from the United States.

Organ: "Le Bon Messager."

Fields: France, Corsica.

(NOTE: The McAll Mission was founded in 1872, by the late Rev. R. W. McAll, D.D., F.L.S. The direction of its work is in the hands of the Paris Committee, the Secretary of which is Mr. E. J. Rouilly, whose address is given above. In addition to the income of $50,682, there are five hundred volunteer workers, only a small proportion (about one sixth) of the staff receiving any remuneration. Evangelistic work is conducted by means of two floating chapels, named, respectively, "Le Bon Messager" and "La Bonne Nouvelle," and also by what are called Automobile and Caravan Missions. The latter consists of a movable hall called "La Semeuse." Two of these are already in use, and a third is in prospect. Permanent halls to the number of 43 were in use in March, 1909, containing 6,483 sittings. A total of 11,037 religious meetings was reported for the year 1908-1909 (of this number 6,673 were for adults, and 4,364 for children), and 14,753 domiciliary visits were made, while literature, consisting largely of tracts, picture-cards, almanacs, and hymnbooks, with Scriptures, was distributed, to the extent of 175,799 copies. There are numerous auxiliaries to the McAll Mission, located in the United States, Canada, England, Scotland, and Ireland, while subscriptions and donations are received from Alsace, Germany, the Netherlands, and Switzerland.)

ITALY

WALDENSIAN CHURCH MISSIONS, COMMITTEE OF EVANGELIZATION (1860).

President: Rev. Arturo Muston.
Secretary: Rev. Antonio Rostan.
Office Address: 107 Via Nazionale, Rome.
Object: Evangelical missions in Italy, and among scattered communities of Waldenses in other lands, and, in coöperation with other missions, in Africa.
Income: £17,124. Of this amount £2,786 was contributed in Italy, £4,234 in England, £3,190 in Scotland, £2,597 in the United States, £2,008 in Switzerland, and the remainder in Germany, the Netherlands, Sweden, Ireland, France, Denmark, Austria, and South America.
Organ: "La Luce."
Fields: Italy, Egypt, Malta, South America, Africa, and among Italians in the United States.

(NOTE: The Waldensian Church has represented Protestantism in Italy since the twelfth century. It is, therefore, the oldest protesting Church in the world, and has suffered much bitter and cruel persecution. Missionary work has been conducted since 1848, the time of the emancipation of Italy, but it was not until 1860 that the Committee of Evangelization was instituted, and only since the establishment of religious liberty, in 1870, that full freedom in evangelistic service and Bible distribution could be enjoyed throughout the land. For Committees in aid of Waldensian Church Missions, see under England and the United States. In South America, especially in Uruguay and Argentine Republic, there are nearly 8,000 Waldenses, to whom pastors are sent by the Mother Waldensian Church. In Abyssinia a Waldensian missionary works in connection with the Swedish Mission, and in South Africa seven Waldensian missionaries are working with the Société des Missions Évangéliques.)

SPEZIA MISSION FOR ITALY AND THE LEVANT (1866).

WORLD'S COMMITTEE OF YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS (1878).

General Secretary: Mr. Charles Feraud, Rue Général-Dufour 3, Geneva.
Object: To unite the Young Men's Christian Associations of all lands, chiefly through the various National and International Committees, and to promote the spiritual, intellectual, social, and physical welfare of young men.

Organ: "Monthly News Circular."

(NOTE: The World's Committee of Young Men's Christian Associations does not send out Association secretaries to work as missionaries among non-Christian peoples. The foreign secretaries in non-Christian lands are appointed and supported by the various national committees, whose secretaries they remain. The home committees, however, place these secretaries at the disposal of the national committees and the local Young Men's Christian Associations on the field. These Committees and Associations become responsible for the development of the local work in the cities as well as of the national work as a whole. The World's Committee unifies and stimulates all these activities throughout the world, through the arranging of conventions, the distribution of literature, the gathering and circulation of statistics, and by correspondence. In entering the statistics of Young Men's Christian Association work in this volume, European and North American secretaries are credited to their home supporting constituencies, and all other data in each non-Christian country where there are missionary statistics are entered under the national committee of that country. The total of Young Men's Christian Associations in all foreign mission lands, in January, 1910, was 366, with a membership of 28,909. These statistics exclude Australasia, South Africa, and Europe, with the exception of Turkey and Bulgaria, and, also, do not include the United States and Canada. The total for the world was reported at the above date to be 8,052 Associations, with 850,340 members.)

Fields: South Africa, Southern Central Africa.

(NOTE: In connection with the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel. In 1902 the staff of the Mission consisted of a single worker, the Rev. Douglas Ellison; to-day it numbers 12 priests, 1 layman, 3 lady workers, 4 nurses, and 3 native catechists, and works in the dioceses of Grahamstown, Pretoria, Bloemfontein, Natal, Mashonaland, and Northern Rhodesia. It receives financial support from the South African Church Railway Mission Committee in England, which see under English Section. The Mission was formerly called the Grahams-town Diocesan Railway Mission.)

CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY FOR AFRICA AND THE EAST (1799).

(See under England.)

SOUTH AFRICAN CHURCH MISSIONARY ASSOCIATION (1895).

Secretary: Rev. A. Daintree, M.A., St. Peter's Rectory, Mowbray, Cape Colony.

Object: To support a number of missionaries of the Church Missionary Society as "own missionaries."

Income: £1,443.

Fields: Those of the Church Missionary Society.

(NOTE: In 1895 several parishes in Cape Colony which contributed to the Church Missionary Society formed themselves into a South African Association. The Association is responsible for the support of fifteen Church Missionary Society missionaries, in the same way as parishes or unions in the United Kingdom maintain "own missionaries." Candidates for missionary service are sent to England for training and acceptance. There is a Cleaners' Union in connection with this Association.)

CHURCH OF THE PROVINCE OF SOUTH AFRICA (1870).

(NOTE: The first Provincial Synod of the Church of South Africa was convened by the Metropolitan Bishop of Capetown, Dr. Gray, in the year 1870. There were then only five dioceses in the Province of South Africa, which have now been increased to ten. These dioceses all engage, some of them to a large extent, in missionary operations. A considerable proportion, in some instances much the largest share, of the funds devoted to missionary purposes is raised locally, but it is supplemented by substantial grants from the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, and the Colonial and Continental Church Society. For educational purposes colonial grants are also made. In some cases, aid is contributed by special associations in Great Britain, the object of which is to render assistance to the missionary work of the Church of South Africa. The following ten dioceses, arranged in chronological order, are identified with the Church of the Province of South Africa.)

DIOCESE OF CAPE TOWN (1847).

Archbishop of Capetown: Most Rev. William Marlborough Carter, D.D., Bishops court, Capetown, Cape Colony.

Coadjutor Bishop: Rt. Rev. William Mouat Cameron, D.D., Capetown, Cape Colony.

Object: Foreign and colonial missions in the Diocese of Capetown.

Income: £46,325. This represents the income of the Diocese from all sources. No definite statement is at hand as to what proportion of this amount is expended for missionary purposes.

Organ: "The Cape Church Monthly."

Field: South Africa (Western Division of Cape Colony).

(NOTE: The Association in Aid of the Diocese of Capetown, which see under England, contributes toward the support of this Diocese, through the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel.)

DIOCESE OF GRAHAMSTOWN (1853).

Bishop of Diocese: Rt. Rev. Charles Edward Cornish, D.D., Bishops-bourne, Grahamstown, Cape Colony.

Object: Colonial and foreign missions in the Diocese of Grahamstown.

Income: £32,748. The work of the Diocese is largely missionary.

Organ: "Grahamstown Occasional Paper."

Field: South Africa (Eastern division of Cape Colony).

(NOTE: The Grahamstown Association in England, which see under England, aids in the work of this Diocese, and the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel and the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge also contribute largely. In the Native Reserves the clergy devote themselves almost exclusively to the conversion of the heathen, and the building up of a native Church. Educational work, both for natives and Europeans, is a prominent feature of the Diocese.)

Bishop of Diocese: Rt. Rev. Frederick Samuel Baines, D.D., Bishop's House, Maritzburg, Natal.

Superintendent of Native Missions: Canon Ernest Travers Burges, M.A., Bruton, Lidgetton, Natal.

Superintendent of Indian Missions: Canon Arthur Halsted Smith, B.A., Maritzburg, Natal.

Object: Missionary work in the Diocese of Natal. Much attention is given to missions among the natives and Indians in that Diocese.

Income: £18,643. More than half of this amount is raised locally.

Organ: "Church News from Natal."

Field: Natal (not including Zululand).

(NOTE: The Maritzburg Mission Association in England, which see under England, contributes to the support of the Diocese, as does also the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel. The Diocese is remarkable for its large Indian population, and special missions have been organized for work among that race. St. Aidan's Indian Mission, at Durban, under the charge of the Rev. Arthur French, is the center of these efforts.)

DIOCESE OF ST. HELENA (1859).

Bishop of the Diocese: Rt. Rev. William Arthur Holbech, D.D., Bishops-holme, Island of St. Helena, South Atlantic.

Object: Missions in the islands of St. Helena, Ascension, and Tristan da Cunha.

Income: £585 from sources in England, and £300 from the foreign field; total, £885.

Fields: The islands of St. Helena, Ascension, and Tristan da Cunha, in the South Atlantic Ocean.

(NOTE: Assisted by grants from the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, and contributions raised by a Diocesan Finance Board in England, of which the Ven. Archdeacon Elwes, Woolbeding Rectory, Midhurst, is the Bishop's Commissary.)

DIOCESE OF BLOEMFONTEIN (1863).

Bishop of Diocese: Rt. Rev. Arthur Chandler, D.D., Bloemfontein, Orange Free State.

Object: Missions in Basutoland, British Bechuanaland, West Griqualand, and Orange Free State.

Organ: "Bloemfontein Quarterly Paper."

Field: South Africa (Basutoland, Orange Free State, together with West Griqualand and British Bechuanaland in Cape Colony).

(NOTE: The missions to natives are largely assisted by the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, and there is an Association in England which sends contributions, of which the Commissaries are the Rev. V. S. S. Coles, Pusey House, Oxford, and the Rev. R. Hudson, St. Mark's College, Chelsea.)

DIOCESE OF ZULULAND (1870).

Bishop of Diocese: Rt. Rev. Wilmot Lushington Vyvyan, D.D., Isandhlwana, St. Augustine's Post Office, Zululand.

Object: To minister to the English colonists, and to evangelize the native population.

Income: £7,511. Of this amount £4,538 is received from England, and £2,973 from local sources.

Organ: "The Net."

Field: South Africa (Zululand, Tongaland, Swaziland, Vryheid, and a portion of the Transvaal).

(NOTE: The mission work of the Church of England began in Zululand in 1860, and the Diocese of Zululand was formed in 1870, as a Memorial to Bishop Mackenzie. There is a Zululand Missionary Association, which see under England, that raises funds for the Diocese.)

DIOCESE OF ST. JOHN'S, KAFFRARIA (1873).

Bishop of Diocese: Rt. Rev. Joseph Watkin Williams, D.D., Bishopsmead, Umtata, Kaffraria, Cape Colony.

Object: Missions to colonists and natives in the Diocese.

Income: £14,560. Of this income £8,402 is reported as contributed locally in the Diocese, £1,200 is from the Foreign Mission Board of the Episcopal Church of Scotland, £4,046 is from the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, and £912 from the St. John's Missionary Association in England.

Organ: "Kaffrarian Diocesan Quarterly."

Field: South Africa (Diocese of St. John's, Kaffraria, in Cape Colony).

(NOTE: The work of the Diocese is largely missionary, among the Hottentots and Griquas, and much attention is given to educational institutions for the training of native clergy, catechists, and teachers. There is also medical missionary work. The Diocese is supported by the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, the Scottish Episcopal Church, the St. John's, Kaffraria, Missionary Association, which see under England, and by generous contributions raised within the Diocese.)

DIOCESE OF PRETORIA (1878).

Bishop of Diocese: Rt. Rev. Michael Bolton Furse, M.A., P. O. Box 734, Pretoria, Transvaal.

Object: Missions among colonists and natives in the Transvaal.

Income: £36,645. Of this amount £6,810 was received for missionary purposes, being £2,180 from England, and £4,630 from local sources.

Field: South Africa (Transvaal).

(NOTE: The Diocese of Pretoria receives an annual grant from the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel. There is an immense opening for missionary work among the native people in all parts of the Diocese. The first Bishop of Pretoria was consecrated in 1878, but, owing to the Zulu War, which was followed immediately by the first Boer War, the practical opening of the Diocese, at least in its missionary work, was delayed until 1883.)

DIOCESE OF MASHONALAND (1891).

Bishop of Diocese: Rt. Rev. Edmund Nathanael Powell, D.D., Salisbury, Rhodesia.

Object: Missions, chiefly among the native population of the Diocese.

Income: £4,627. Of this amount £1,550 was a grant from the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, and £1,320 from the Mashonaland Association, in England.

Organ: "Mashonaland."

Fields: Southern Central Africa and East Africa (parts of Bechuanaland Protectorate, Southern Rhodesia, and Portuguese East Africa).

(NOTE: The Mashonaland Association in England raises funds in aid of the missions of the Diocese of Mashonaland, for account of which see English Section.)

DIOCESE OF LEBOMBO (1893).

Bishop of Diocese: Rt. Rev. William Edmund Smyth, M.A., M.B., Box 120, Lorenzo Marques, South-east Africa.

Object: The planting and development of the Church in the district between the Indian Ocean and the Lebombo Mountains, and the border of Zululand and the Sabi River.

Income: £3,000.

Organs: "Lebombo Leaves" (Quarterly Paper), "South African News."

Field: Portuguese East Africa.

(NOTE: The Lebombo Mission Association, which see under England, raises funds in aid of the missions of the Diocese of Lebombo, and a grant is also received from the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel.)

CONGREGATIONAL:CONGREGATIONAL UNION, CHURCH AID, AND MISSIONARY SOCIETY OF SOUTH AFRICA (1877).

Secretary: Rev. William Angus, Uitenhage, Cape Colony.

Object: To promote the interests of evangelical religion, through the establishment and support of churches and missions of the Congregational order, among the European and native populations of South Africa.

Income: £1,150. Of this amount £671 was raised locally, £85 was a grant from the London Missionary Society, and £394 was a grant from the Colonial Missionary Society.

Organ: "The Congregational Magazine."

Field: South Africa (Cape Colony, Transvaal).

(NOTE: The Congregational Union has in connection with it a considerable number of churches of colored people, originally connected with the London Missionary Society, many of which are helped by grants-in-aid for the maintenance of their European ministers.)

METHODIST:SOUTH AFRICAN MISSIONARY SOCIETY (1886).

Secretary: Rev. James Robb, Chalker House, Grahamstown, Cape Colony.

Object: The sustentation and extension of church work among the English, colored, native, and Indian peoples in South Africa.

Income: Total income from all sources, £100,760. From English subscribers in South Africa, £4,521. Subtract amount appropriated for English work, £1,876, leaving balance for native work, etc., £2,645. From native subscribers, £5,513. From colored subscribers, £238. From Indian subscribers, £21. Given by native, colored, and Indian members and adherents in support of their own church organizations, £23,265. Given by native, colored, and Indian members and adherents for the erection and maintenance of churches, schools, and other buildings, £10,276. Given by native, colored, and Indian members and adherents in aid of Sunday Schools, £214. Contributed by native, colored, and Indian members and adherents for miscellaneous purposes, £997. Paid by natives, etc., in school fees, £16,584. Paid by natives in industrial institutional fees, £9,320. Total, £69,073. Government grants to institutions and day schools, £31,687.

Organ: "The Methodist Churchman."

Field: South Africa (Cape Colony, Natal, Orange Free State).

(NOTE: This Society is in connection with the Wesleyan Methodist Church of South Africa. Missionary work was begun in South Africa in 1814. The Wesleyan Churches in South Africa were formed into an affiliated Conference in 1883. The South African Missionary Society was constituted in 1886. There are Wesley Guilds in connection with this Society. Wesleyan Methodist mission work in the Transvaal and in Rhodesia is in connection with the Wesleyan Methodist Missionary Society of Great Britain, and not with the South African organization.)

PRESBYTERIAN:MISSIONARY COMMITTEE OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF SOUTH AFRICA (1897).

Convener of Mission Committee: Rev. Dr. J. J. McClure, Park Villas, Upper Orange St., Capetown, Cape Colony.

Secretary: Andrew Bryson, Esq., Board of Executors' Chambers, Wale St., Capetown, Cape Colony.

Superintendent of Transvaal Native Mission: Rev. C. B. Hamilton, P. O. Box 4092, Johannesburg, Transvaal.

Superintendent of Rhodesia Native Mission: Rev. S. S. Dorman, P. O. Box 510, Buluwayo, Rhodesia.

Object: The evangelization of native races in South Africa.

Income: £2,405.

Organ: "The Churchman."

Fields: South Africa (Cape Colony, Natal, Orange Free State, Transvaal), Southern Central Africa (Rhodesia).

(NOTE: The Presbyterian Church of South Africa was constituted in 1897, by a union of all the Churches of Presbyterian faith and polity in South Africa. A Missionary Committee was formed soon afterward, having in view work for both white colonists and natives. The principal native missions supported by the Presbyterian Church of South Africa are situated in the Transvaal and Rhodesia. Other native missions associated with this Church, but financially supported by the United Free Church of Scotland, are located in Kaffraria, Cape Colony. There is a Women's Association auxiliary to the Missionary Committee of the Presbyterian Church of South Africa, contributing, in 1909, £241 for native missions. The Secretary is Mrs. Marie Smith, 2 Lodge Road, Kimberley, Cape Colony.)

REFORMED:DUTCH REFORMED CHURCH OF SOUTH AFRICA (1824).

Chairman of General Mission Committee: Rev. Prof. J. Marais, D.D., Stellenbosch, Cape Colony.

General Mission Secretary: Rev. A. C. Murray, B.A., Stellenbosch, Cape Colony.

Object: The evangelization of native races within and without the borders of Cape Colony.

Income: £13,500 (average for three years). This amount, raised in Cape Colony alone, is expended exclusively in the fields mentioned below.

Organs: "Almanak voor de Nederduitsch Gereformeerde Kerk" (published annually), "De Kerkbode."

Fields: South Africa (Cape Colony, Transvaal), Southern Central Africa (Bechuanaland Protectorate, Southern Rhodesia, Nyasaland).

(NOTE: The Dutch Reformed Church of South Africa officially entered upon mission work in 1824, in connection with the establishment of its first Synod. Its foreign mission work, that is, missions outside the bounds of Cape Colony, was organized in 1857. The following explanatory statements are made on the basis of information kindly forwarded by the Rev. J. du Plessis, B.D., formerly the Secretary of the Missions of the Synod of Cape Colony, and now Editor of its official organ, "De Kerkbode." The Synod of Cape Colony is known as the Dutch Reformed Church of South Africa. Its missionary operations are directed through a General Mission Committee working by means of three Sub-Committees, that for Home Missions, that is, for colored people within Cape Colony, for Foreign Missions south of the Zambesi River, and for Foreign Missions north of the Zambesi River, in Nyasaland. There are three auxiliaries, the Women's Missionary Union, the Men's Missionary Union, otherwise known as the Laymen's Movement, and, lastly, the Children's Missionary Circle. The Dutch Reformed Church of the Orange Free State, with separate Synod, directs its missionary operations through the Synodical Committee for Home Missions, which provides for the native races within the Orange Free State, and a Synodical Mission Committee for Foreign Missions which functions with reference to the Nyasaland field. The auxiliaries are similar to those for the Synod of Cape Colony. The Dutch Reformed Church of the Transvaal directs its missionary operations through the Synodical Missionary Committee, which controls the work both within and without the limits of the Transvaal. The same kinds of auxiliaries are active, as in the case of the other two Synods. The title "Dutch Reformed Church of South Africa" as applying to the Church of Cape Colony alone is sometimes a cause of misunderstanding. This name dates from a time anterior to the settlement of the territories now known as the Orange Free State and the Transvaal. The original Church retained the original name, never altering it to Dutch Reformed Church of Cape Colony. If this is borne in mind, all difficulty vanishes.)

WOMEN'S MISSIONARY UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA [VROUWEN ZENDING-BOND VAN ZUID AFRICA] (1888).

Secretary: Mrs. A. M. de Vos, Stellenbosch, Cape Colony.

Object: The evangelization of native races, and work among lapsed masses.

NATIVE BAPTIST UNION OF WEST AFRICA (1899).
Secretary: Rev. Mark C. Hayford, D.D., F.R.G.S., Baptist Mission House, Cape Coast Town, Gold Coast, West Africa.
Object: To win Africa for Christ, through the preaching of the Gospel, and to improve the social and moral condition of her peoples, by means of education, intellectual, industrial, and moral.
Income: £631.
Organ: "The West African Christian Advocate."
Field: Western Africa (Gold Coast, with its Hinterland, Yorubaland, Lagos Country, and Iboland, Southern Nigeria).

(NOTE: The evangelistic mission work of the Native Baptist Church of West Africa was begun in 1888, by the Rev. Mojola Agbebi, D.D., the President of the Native Baptist Union of West Africa, at Lagos. The Native Baptist Union was constituted in 1899.)

CHURCH OF ENGLAND:

SIERRA LEONE NATIVE PASTORATE AUXILIARY ASSOCIATION (1862).
Honorary Association Secretary: Rev. D. J. Coker, M.A., L.Th., Waterloo, Sierra Leone.
Honorary Corresponding Secretary: Rev. Canon M. Wilson, M.A., Freetown, Sierra Leone.
Object: To raise funds for the general purposes of the Sierra Leone Native Pastorate.
Income: £2,629. (The amount reported by the Sierra Leone Native Pastorate for 1907-08.)

Field: West Africa.

(NOTE: In connection with the Sierra Leone Native Church. The Sierra Leone Native Pastorate Auxiliary Association was formed to commemorate the transfer, in 1801, of the Churches of the Colony, hitherto supported by the Church Missionary Society, to the Native Pastorate.)

SIERRA LEONE CHURCH MISSIONS (1876).
Secretary: Rev. Canon O. Moore, Freetown, Sierra Leone.
Object: The support of pastors, churches, and schools, in connection with the Sierra Leone Church, and of missions to non-Christian Africans in the Bullom and Mendi countries.
Income: £1,294, reported for the year 1906-07, as received in Africa for the Sierra Leone Church Missions.
Field: Western Africa (Bullom and Mendi countries, and the Hinterland of Sierra Leone).

(NOTE: In 1890 the Sierra Leone Church was organized on an independent basis, and undertook the support of its own pastors, churches, and schools, aided by a small grant from the Church Missionary Society, which ceased in 1890. In 1876 it took over the Church Missionary Society missions in the Bullom and Mendi countries, and in 1908 it assumed responsibility for work in the Hinterland.)

LAGOS DISTRICT COUNCIL AND MISSIONS (1876).
Secretary: Rt. Rev. Isaac Oluwole, D.D., Lagos, West Africa.
Object: The evangelization of the non-Christian people of the Yoruba Country.
Income: £8,057. This amount includes the contributions of the Lagos District Council, and also of the adjacent Councils of Abeokuta and Ibadan.
Field: Western Africa (Yoruba, in Southern Nigeria).

(NOTE: An outgrowth of the work of the Church Missionary Society, but now independently supported by Africans. There are about 3,000 Christians connected with the Lagos District Council, but this number is largely exceeded in their missions in the Ijebu Country, where there are 9,000 baptized converts.)

NIGER DELTA PASTORATE (1892).

Secretary: Rev. J. A. Pratt, L.Th., Pastorate Station, St. Paul's, Opobo, W. C. Africa.

Object: To evangelize the non-Christian people in Nigeria.

Income: £2,335.

Organ: "The Delta Pastorate Chronicle."

Field: Western Africa (Southern Nigeria).

(NOTE: An outgrowth of the work of the Church Missionary Society of England, but for twenty years the Pastorate has been self-supporting and self-governing, and it has recently taken up missionary work in Iboland, in the interior of the country. The operations of the Niger Delta Pastorate are carried on entirely by Africans, without assistance from English missionaries, except that rendered by occasional visits from the Bishop of the Diocese. There is a church of 3,200 baptized members, ministered to by seven African clergy.)

SYNOD OF THE DIOCESE OF UGANDA (1909).

Bishop of the Diocese: Rt. Rev. Alfred Robert Tucker, D.D., Mengo, Uganda, East Africa.

(NOTE: In April, 1909, some forty clergy and two hundred and fifty lay delegates met in Synod at Mengo to adopt a Constitution for the Uganda Church. In connection with the adoption of the Constitution, there were established a Synod, a Diocesan Council, District Councils, Parochial Councils, a Central Women's Conference, District Women's Conferences, a Tribunal of Appeal, and a Tribunal of Reference, the electors being the communicants of the Church of Uganda, male and female, of whom there are eighteen thousand. In connection with the Diocesan Council, a Board of Missions has been formed, which reports to the Council. This action is too recent to allow of any data being collected, but we shall hope in some future edition of the Atlas to record the work of this new African Board of Missions.)

CONGREGATIONAL:ISAN-EMIN-BOLANA KOMITY [MALAGASY MISSIONARY SOCIETY] (1869).

Secretaries: Mr. J. Sims, Antananarivo, Madagascar; Pastor Rainitiray, Amparibe, Antananarivo, Madagascar.

Object: To send Malagasy evangelists to the people of the coast regions of Madagascar, and among the unevangelized tribes in the northern part of the island.

Income: £440.

Field: Madagascar.

(NOTE: The income is almost entirely contributed by the Malagasy churches in connection with the Imerina Congregational Union of Madagascar, an exclusively native organization. The Isan-Emin-Bolana Komity is the largest native missionary society in Madagascar, and sends out twelve evangelists.

LUTHERAN:EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN CHURCH OF ALGERIA, NORTH AFRICA (1842).

(NOTE: Eight German congregations and preaching stations have been founded since 1885. They are growing, and their interest in the natives increasing.)

SENDING SOCIETIES NOT DENOMINATIONAL:NORTH AFRICA MISSION (1881).

(For information regarding this Mission, see under England.)

ALGIERS MISSION BAND (1888).

Secretary: Miss I. Lilius Trotter, 2 Rue du Croissant, Algiers, Algeria.

Object: Evangelistic work among the Arabs.

Income: £300. This represents the amount received from sources in England, but the expenses of the Mission are largely provided from the private incomes of the Committee on the field.

Organ: A Journal for private circulation.

Field: North-west Africa (Algeria).

(NOTE: The organization of the Algiers Mission Band consists of a Committee in Algiers, made up of the three senior workers of the Mission, who are responsible from their private incomes for its expenses. The Woman's Algerian Mission Band, which sees under United States, aids the Algiers Mission Band.)

MISSION TO SPANIARDS IN ALGERIA AND IVIZA (1889).

Director: Mr. T. W. Speare, Maison Soler, Rue Cavalier de la Salle, Bab-el-Oued, Algiers, North Africa.

Object: Evangelistic work among Spaniards in Algiers, and in Iviza, one of the Balearic Islands.

Fields: North Africa (Algiers), Balearic Islands (Iviza).

EGYPT GENERAL MISSION (1897).

(For information regarding this Mission, which was formerly called the Egypt Mission Band, see under England.)

SUDAN PIONEER MISSION (1900).

(For information regarding this Mission, see under Germany.)

BETHEL ORPHANAGE FAITH MISSION (1901).

Secretary: Miss Mary A. Lyons, Port Said, Egypt.

American Secretary: Mrs. Marian A. Vansant, 720 South Broadway, Los Angeles, California.

Object: To bring the Mohammedans to a saving knowledge of Christ, and to save the children from a life of vice and sin, training them, with God's help, to be missionaries and Bible-women among their own people, and giving them a thorough Arabic and English education.

Income: $600, from the United States, England, and Egypt.

Field: North-east Africa (Egypt).

(NOTE: There is an American Board of Trustees for the Bethel Orphanage, which gives advice, and collects funds for the Mission.)

NILE MISSION PRESS (1905).

Superintendent: Mr. Arthur T. Upson, Boulac Road, Cairo, Egypt.

(NOTE: For full entry of Nile Mission Press, see under England. The average annual circulation of books and tracts by this Press during the four years from 1905 to 1908, inclusive, was about 20,000. The total circulation up to the end of 1908 was 73,852 volumes, large and small.)

Secretary: Pastor C. Krüger, Esperanza de Santa Fé.

Object: Mission work among seamen, German immigrants, Roman Catholics, and non-Christian peoples.

Income: 2,000 Mk.

Organ: "Evangelische Gemeindeblatt für die La Plata Staaten."

Field: South America (Argentine Republic, Uruguay, Paraguay).

SENDING SOCIETY NOT DENOMINATIONAL:MISIÓN EVANGÉLICA, BUENOS AYRES, ARGENTINE REPUBLIC (1897).

Director: Rev. F. Lister Newton, Buenos Ayres.

Honorary Treasurer and Representative in England: Mr. George A. Angus, 99 Balfour Road, Highbury, New Park, London, N.

Object: Evangelistic work in Argentine Republic.

Income: No statement at hand.

Field: South America (Argentine Republic).

BRAZILSocieties Appointing and Sending Missionaries*LUTHERAN:*MISSIONARY SOCIETY OF THE GERMAN EVANGELICAL GENERAL SYNOD OF RIO GRANDE DO SUL (1907).

Official Address: Pastor Lechler, Santa Cruz.

Object: The evangelization of the natives of Brazil.

Income: 4,000 Mk.

Organ: "Missionsfreund."

Field: South America (Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil).

GUSTAV ADOLPH SOCIETY OF RIO GRANDE DO SUL (1908).

President: Dr. Rotermund, São Leopoldo.

Object: Evangelical missionary work in Rio Grande do Sul.

Income: No statement at hand.

Field: South America (Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil).

(NOTE: There are eight German Evangelical Lutheran Synods in Brazil, and one which includes the Republics of the La Plata River, and another in Chile. In all, there are 170 Lutheran missionary societies, 464 churches and preaching stations, and 589 parishes, conducted by German, Scandinavian, and English Lutherans in South America. The three Synods of Rio Grande do Sul unite in conducting a college, a seminary to educate teachers, a ladies' seminary, a Home for the Aged, an orphanage, a Gustav Adolph Society, a recently organized missionary society, and a Mother-House for Deaconesses. There are also orphanages under the care of the La Plata and Chile Synods. The 770,000 German and Scandinavian Lutherans in South America have established eight Church papers, three publishing houses, and many libraries.)

PRESBYTERIAN:GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF BRAZIL (1910).

Moderator: Rev. Alvaro Reis, Rio de Janeiro.

Object: The advancement of evangelical religion in Brazil, and the promotion of the growth of a national Presbyterian Church.

Income: No income is as yet reported. The average annual contributions of the churches of the Synod, from 1904 to 1906, which represents church support largely, but was also in part for missions, was about $33,000 (U. S. gold).

Field: South America (Brazil).

(NOTE: The Presbyterian Synod of Brazil was formed in 1888. For greater efficiency and convenience of administration, it was divided recently into a Synod of the South of Brazil, and a Synod of the North of Brazil. A General Assembly representing the two Synods met at Rio de Janeiro, in January, 1910. In 1903, when the Presbyterian Synod of Brazil was as yet not divided into North and South, a divergence of opinion arose on certain questions of organization and method, especially as to the attitude the Synod should take toward Free Masonry, which resulted in the withdrawal of a group of ministers and elders, who favored a resolution condemning Free Masonry as incompatible with Christian loyalty, a deliverance which the Synod declined to adopt, preferring to leave the question to the decision of each individual conscience. This withdrawal resulted in the formation of the Independent Presbyterian Church of Brazil, with a Synod of its own. This latter reports three presbyteries, fourteen ordained ministers, sixty-one churches, and about five thousand communicants. The General Assembly reports two synods, seven presbyteries, fifty ordained ministers, ninety churches, and about ten thousand communicants. The old Synod of Brazil did much missionary service, which of late has been assumed by the presbyteries. The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Brazil will no doubt perfect its plans for continued activity in missionary endeavor.)

LUTHERAN:

DIAKONISSENMUTTERHAUS FÜR RIO GRANDE DO SUL [DEACON-ESSES' MOTHER-HOUSE FOR RIO GRANDE DO SUL] (1910).
Official Address: Dr. Pechmann, Hamburger Berg, Rio Grande do Sul.
Object: To train deaconesses for German missionary work in South America.
Income: No statement at hand.

COÖPERATING SOCIETIES NOT DENOMINATIONAL:

MACKENZIE COLLEGE, SÃO PAULO, BRAZIL (1892).
President: Horace M. Lane, M.D., LL.D., São Paulo.
Object: To provide a high grade educational institution for Brazilians, and to prepare young men for the study of theology, with a view to their serving as ministers of the Gospel, and, also, to train young women to be Christian teachers.
Income: $88,173. Of this amount $5,186 was received from the United States, and $82,987 was earned through the College and schools.
Field: South America (State of São Paulo, Brazil).
(NOTE: The College was incorporated by the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York, in 1890, but was not opened until 1892. It is under the control of a Board of Trustees in New York, for entry of which see under the United States. Protestant educational institutions are growing rapidly in efficiency and influence in Brazil. All the missions are giving special attention to this important department of missionary operations. The Methodists stand in the front rank of this line of work. Mackenzie College occupies a leading position, and represents the pioneer efforts of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, which have been ably followed up and developed, under the fostering care of Dr. Lane.)

SEAMAN'S MISSION (1906).
Superintendent: Rev. C. H. Tucker, Caixa 454, Rio de Janeiro.
Object: To promote the religious, moral, and social welfare of sailors arriving at the port of Rio de Janeiro.
Income: $2,317. This amount was received in part from the American Seamen's Friend Society, of New York, and in part from local contributions. The Chaplain, Rev. Joseph Parkin, is supported by the Methodist Board of Missions of the South. In addition to the above income, a special sum of $777 was subscribed for a motor launch.
Field: South America (Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, and its harbor).

INSTITUTO CENTRAL DO POVO [PEOPLE'S CENTRAL INSTITUTE] ().
Director: Rev. E. E. Vann, 21 Rua do Acre, Rio de Janeiro.
Object: Evangelistic, educational, medical, and philanthropic service.
Income: $7,186.
Field: South America (Rio de Janeiro and vicinity).

CHILE

GUIANA (BRITISH)

CHURCH OF ENGLAND:

GUIANA DIOCESAN CHURCH SOCIETY (1852).
Honorary Secretary: Rev. A. M. Hale, B.A., Met-en-Meerzorg, Demerara.

CENTRAL AMERICAN AND MEXICAN SOCIETIES

CHURCH OF ENGLAND:

BRITISH HONDURAS AND CENTRAL AMERICAN CHURCH MISSION (1883).
Bishop of Diocese: Rt. Rev. Herbert Bury, D.D., Bishop's House, Belize, Honduras.
Object: The propagation of the Gospel in the Diocese of British Honduras and Central America.
Income: The Society for the Propagation of the Gospel reports in 1908 a grant of £490 for missions in Honduras, and also a special gift of £100 from the Marriott Bequest, for church building. No further information at hand.
Field: Central America (Diocese of British Honduras and Central America).

Object: The support of missions to the Indian tribes within the Colony of British Guiana, and the propagation of the Gospel among the East Indian and other Asiatic immigrants. Also, to aid in the religious, educational, and philanthropic work of the Diocese of Guiana.
Income: $4,391 (gold). Of this amount $382 represents the grant of the Society toward the missions to Indian tribes, and to East Indian and other immigrants within the Colony.
Field: South America (Diocese of Guiana).
(NOTE: A special Committee of the Diocesan Church Society, called the East Indian Committee, administers the funds of the British Guiana Missions to East Indian and Chinese Immigrants. The population of British Guiana is estimated as approximately 300,000. Of this number about 115,000 are of African descent, 106,000 are East Indians, and, in addition, there are 4,000 Chinese, and 8,000 aboriginal Indians. The remainder are of European and mixed races. The Diocese of Guiana is, therefore, largely missionary.)

BRITISH GUIANA MISSIONS TO EAST INDIAN AND CHINESE IMMIGRANTS (1873).
Secretary: The Very Rev. E. Sloman, Dean of Georgetown, Demerara, British Guiana.
Object: To train catechists, to maintain missionaries and catechists, and to supply suitable books for the Missions to East Indian and Chinese Immigrants.
Income: $6,352 (gold).
Field: South America (Diocese of Guiana).
(NOTE: As the Missions to East Indian and Chinese Immigrants have now been taken over by the Synod of Guiana, the proper official to address in the future will probably be the Synod Secretary, Church House, Georgetown, Demerara, British Guiana.)

LUTHERAN:

EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN CHURCH OF BRITISH GUIANA (1743).
Official Address: Pastor John R. Mittelholzer, New Amsterdam.
Object: Mission work among the colonists and aboriginal Indians (the Arawaks and Acawaioes).
Income: No statement at hand.
Field: South America (British Guiana).
(NOTE: The date 1743 represents the time when Lutherans from the Netherlands began this missionary service for colonists and natives. Since Pastor Mittelholzer, of Dutch Guiana, took charge, in 1878, the work has developed, and now reports six stations, and five hundred baptized church members. The Mission is in affiliation with the General Synod of the Lutheran Church in North America.)

METHODIST:

WESLEYAN METHODIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY (1813).
(See under England.)

BRITISH GUIANA DISTRICT AUXILIARY OF THE WESLEYAN METHODIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY (1853).
Chairman and General Superintendent: Rev. E. Donald Jones, Georgetown.
Object: The furtherance of evangelistic missions, not only among the colonists and the Negroes, but also among East Indian coolies, and South American Indians.
Income: £7,325. (From home sources £259; from local contributions £7,066.)
Field: South America (British Guiana).

Coöperating and Collecting Society

CONGREGATIONAL:

CONGREGATIONAL UNION OF BRITISH GUIANA (1883).
Secretary: Rev. H. Algernon, Ithaca, Berbice.
Object: To aid the Congregational Churches of British Guiana in their missionary work.
Income: No statement at hand.
Field: South America (British Guiana).

GUIANA (DUTCH)

Society Appointing and Sending Missionaries

EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN CHURCH OF DUTCH GUIANA (1742).
Official Address: Pastor C. Haekstra, Paramaribo.
Object: Mission work among colonists and natives in Dutch Guiana.
Income: No statement at hand.
Field: South America (Dutch Guiana).
(NOTE: Evangelistic work was begun when the first sermon was preached there by the Rev. John Pfaff, on November 18, 1742. A prosperous orphanage, and other Inner Mission work are maintained in Paramaribo. There are three thousand baptized members.)

MISSIONARY WORK OF THE SOUTH AMERICAN CHURCHES.
(NOTE: The work of the principal missionary societies serving in South America has been fruitful in establishing indigenous churches, which in several instances have been organized into assemblies, synods, presbyteries, conferences, conventions, and dioceses. These churches are engaged in missionary work, and conduct operations upon a considerable scale. Their missionary efforts, however, are not sufficiently organized to enable us to list them in the Directory. They are worthy of all commendation, and reveal a missionary spirit of much earnestness and sacrificial devotion.)

(NOTE: The population of the Colony of British Honduras is 42,406, and that of Central America over 4,400,000, consisting of representatives from almost every country in the world. The Indians number about 2,000,000, and there are also immigrants from Africa, India, and China. The Colony is divided into eight mission parishes, and scattered through Central America are about ten mission centers.)

PRESBYTERIAN:

JUNTA MISSIONERA MEXICANA [MEXICAN HOME MISSION BOARD] (1890).
Address: Rev. Arcadio Morales, Mexico City, Mexico.
Object: The evangelization of Mexico.
Income: No statement at hand.
Field: Mexico.
(NOTE: Official data, concerning the work of the Mexican Home Mission Board have not been received, but the Christian Endeavor Society of the Church of Divino Salvador, of which the Rev. Mr. Morales is pastor, gave, in 1908, $6,611 [Mexican], equal to $3,305 gold, for the erection of Immanuel Chapel, in Mexico City.)

WEST INDIAN SOCIETIES

BAPTIST:

BETHEL NATIVE BAPTIST CHURCH (1803).

Pastor: Rev. C. A. Poitier, Nassau, N. P., Bahama Islands.
Object: The support of a church, and the conduct of missions.
Income: $350.
Field: Bahama Islands (Nassau, New Providence).

ST. JOHN'S NATIVE BAPTIST SOCIETY (1813).

Superintendent: Rev. James W. Roberts, Nassau, N. P., Bahama Islands.
Object: Evangelical missions, and the establishment of churches in the Bahamas.
Income: $500.
Field: Bahama Islands.

(NOTE: St. John's Church was an offshoot from the Bethel Native Baptist Church about 1813. It is self-supporting.)

BAHAMAS BAPTIST MISSION (1833).

Superintendent: Rev. C. A. Dann, East St., Nassau, N. P., Bahama Islands.
Object: Evangelistic and church work in the Bahamas.
Income: $1,500.
Field: Bahama Islands.

(NOTE: The Bahamas Baptist Mission was founded by the Baptist Missionary Society of England, in 1833, but has now become independent and self-supporting. It is still in affiliated relationship with the English Society, and its stations and staff are entered in the Annual Report of the English Baptist Society. It represents a Christian community of 6,420.)

JAMAICA BAPTIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY (1855).

Secretary: Rev. Ellis Fray, Duncans, Jamaica.
Object: To preach the Gospel in the West Indies and Central America, and also to assist the English Baptist Society in its missions in Africa.
Income: £1,500.
Organ: "The Jamaica Baptist Reporter."
Fields: Central America (Costa Rica), West Indies (Jamaica, Haiti, Cayman Islands), Bocas-del-Toro.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND:

SOCIETY FOR THE PROPAGATION OF THE GOSPEL IN FOREIGN PARTS (1701). (See under England.)

WEST INDIAN AFRICAN MISSION (1855).

Secretary: Rev. John S. Hughes, Saint Matthias Vicarage, Hastings, Barbados, British West Indies.
Object: The furtherance of the Gospel in Western Africa.
Income: From the West Indian Church, £400; from sources in England, £500; total, £900.
Field: West Africa (Rio Pongo).

(NOTE: This Mission is also designated as the Pongas Mission. The responsibility of its management and maintenance devolved, in 1886, upon its English Committee, and in 1905 the Mission came into organic relationship with the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel. See entry under that Society in English Section of the Directory. The African work is under the supervision of the Bishop of Sierra Leone.)

CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY FOR AFRICA AND THE EAST (1799).

(See under England.)

WEST INDIES CHURCH MISSIONARY COUNCIL (1896).

Secretary: Rev. F. H. Perkins, Stony Hill, Jamaica.
Object: To select and train West Indian missionary agents for service in Nigeria, West Africa.
Income: No statement at hand.
Organ: "The Jamaica Churchman."
Field: West Africa.
 (NOTE: The West Indian Council is not responsible for the support of the agents it selects for service in West Africa.)

JAMAICA CHURCH OF ENGLAND HOME AND FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY (1861).

Honorary Secretary: Rev. Canon Wortley, The Rectory, Half Way Tree, Jamaica.

Secretary: I. R. Latreille, Esq., 3 Duke St., Kingston, Jamaica.
Object: The religious instruction of such English people as are living in the outlying districts of Jamaica, where no church services or schools have hitherto existed; the religious instruction of the numerous heathen immigrants; and the support of Church of England Foreign Missions, especially those established on the West Coast of Africa.

Income: £4,552.
Organ: "Jamaica Churchman."
Fields: Africa, West Indies (Jamaica).

TRINIDAD DIOCESAN HOME AND FOREIGN MISSIONARY ASSOCIATION (1897).

Bishop of Diocese: Rt. Rev. John F. Welsh, Hayes Court, Port of Spain, Trinidad.
Superintendent of East Indian Work: Rev. C. B. Ragbir, St. Joseph, Trinidad.

Object: To promote mission work among the East Indians and Chinese in Trinidad and Tobago.

Income: No statement at hand.
Fields: West Indies (Trinidad, Tobago), South America (Venezuela).

(NOTE: There are 110,000 East Indians and Chinese in the Diocese of Trinidad. The East Indians are nearly all non-Christians. A forward movement has lately been begun in the work of the Church of England among the East Indians. The remaining dioceses of the West Indies, namely, Antigua, Barbados, the Windward Islands, and Nassau, do not seem to distinguish clearly between church service in general and missionary effort in its more special and restricted sense. There is much work done in these dioceses which is missionary in spirit and aim, but no separate statistics are at hand. Missionary grants are made by the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, and other societies in Great Britain, and additional grants in several instances are made by the Government. A number of educational institutions, missionary in character, are conducted, especially Codrington College, in Barbados, which is in affiliation with Durham University.)

METHODIST:

WESLEYAN METHODIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY (1813).

(See under England.)

LEEWARD ISLANDS DISTRICT AUXILIARY OF THE WESLEYAN METHODIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY (1786).

Chairman and General Superintendent: Rev. William Saywell, St. Kitts, British West Indies.

Object: The furtherance of evangelistic missions.

Income: £7,121. (From home sources, £842; from local contributions, £6,279.)
Fields: West Indies (Antigua, Dominica, Montserrat, St. Kitts, Nevis, St. Eustatius, St. Barth's, St. Martin, Anguilla, Tortola, St. Thomas).

BARBADOS AND TRINIDAD AUXILIARY OF THE WESLEYAN METHODIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY (1787).

Chairman and General Superintendent: Rev. W. J. Maund, Port of Spain, Trinidad.
Object: The furtherance of evangelistic missions.
Income: £13,938.
Fields: West Indies (Barbados, Trinidad).

JAMAICA DISTRICT AUXILIARY OF THE WESLEYAN METHODIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY (1789).

Chairman and General Superintendent: Rev. W. J. Williams, Kingston P. O., Jamaica.
Secretary of the District: Rev. J. Kissock Braham, B.D., Browns Town P. O., Jamaica.

Object: To bring the Gospel message to bear on individual lives, and to conduct missionary operations in adjacent fields.

Income: £25,589. (From home sources, £2,250; from local contributions, £23,639.)
Fields: West Indies (Jamaica, Bahama Islands), Panama, Canal Zone, Costa Rica.

(NOTE: The Wesleyan Methodist Church in the Jamaica District has a membership of 21,932, with 1,439 on trial for membership.)

HAITI AND SAN DOMINGO AUXILIARY OF THE WESLEYAN METHODIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY (1817).

Chairman and General Superintendent: Rev. Thomas R. Picot, Port au Prince, Haiti.
Object: The furtherance of evangelistic missions.
Income: £3,148. (From home sources, £717; local contributions, £2,432.)
Fields: West Indies (Haiti and San Domingo).

(NOTE: Wesleyan Methodist missionaries from England settled in the West Indies as early as 1786. The entrance of the Society was at first bitterly opposed by the white population, but the work prospered in spite of persecution. Since the emancipation of the British slaves, in 1834, the work of the Mission has been continued with much success. In 1885 two independent conferences were formed, namely, the Western Conference (Jamaica and Haiti Districts), and the Eastern Conference (Leeward Islands, Barbados and Trinidad, and British Guiana Districts). The Bahamas and Honduras remained under the control of the parent missionary society. In 1904 the Western and Eastern Conferences dissolved themselves, and restored the work to the control of the British Conference. The statistics, therefore, of Wesleyan Methodist Missions in the West Indies are included in the returns of the Wesleyan Methodist Missionary Society of Great Britain.)

PRESBYTERIAN:

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF JAMAICA (1824).

Secretary: Rev. Douglas A. Rothnie, M.A., Lucea, Jamaica.
Object: To preach the Gospel, and to educate children, in Jamaica and Grand Cayman.

Income: £12,653.
Organ: "The Presbyterian."

Fields: West Indies (Jamaica and Grand Cayman). Mission to the East Indians in Jamaica.

(NOTE: In federal relation with the United Free Church of Scotland. The special foreign missionary work of the Presbyterian Church in Jamaica is its Mission to the East Indians in Jamaica, which was organized in 1894, and of which the Rev. John F. Gartshore, M.A., 128 Duke St., Kingston, Jamaica, is the Superintendent. The statistics of this work are entered under Jamaica in the tables of this Atlas, but in connection with the name of the United Free Church of Scotland. There is a Women's Missionary Society auxiliary to the Mission Committee of the Presbyterian Church of Jamaica.)

JAMAICA BAPTIST UNION (1849).

Secretary: Rev. Philip Williams, Bethel Town P. O., Jamaica.
Object: To strengthen and extend the work of the Baptist Churches in Jamaica.

Income: £130.
Organ: "The Jamaica Baptist Reporter."

Fields: Jamaica, and the fields in which the Jamaica Baptist Missionary Society is at work.

BAHAMAS BAPTIST UNION (1892).

Superintendent: Rev. D. Wilshe, Nassau, N. P., Bahama Islands.
Object: The extension of Christianity, and the founding of churches in the Bahamas.

Income: $1,000, all from local sources.
Field: Bahama Islands.

(NOTE: The Bahamas Baptist Union is an independent and self-supporting mission, formed as an offshoot from the Bahamas Baptist Mission, in 1892. It reports a total communicant membership of 2,372, and a Christian community of 4,615.)

CHRISTIAN:

JAMAICA ASSOCIATION OF CHRISTIAN CHURCHES (1876).

Secretary: Rev. J. E. Randall, Kingston, Jamaica.

(NOTE: The Jamaica Association of Christian Churches is aided in its mission work by the Christian Woman's Board of Missions of the United States. The Christian Churches of Jamaica also contribute liberally toward their missionary operations. There are twenty-three churches connected with the Association, with a membership of nearly four thousand. The date 1876 is given as representing the renewal of a mission which had previously been established, and seems to have been abandoned, but the Christian Woman's Board of Missions decided to revive it.)

CONGREGATIONAL:

CONGREGATIONAL UNION OF JAMAICA (1876).

Secretary: Rev. William Priestnal, Kingston, Jamaica.

Object: To promote fraternal intercourse among the members of the Associated Churches; to extend evangelical religion in Jamaica; to increase the number of efficiently trained native pastors; to promote Christian unity and cooperation with the other Churches.

Income: £1,745. Of this amount about £300 was received in grants to ministers from the Colonial Missionary Society, and £11 was contributed to foreign missions.

Field: Jamaica.

(NOTE: The Congregational Union was organized in 1876, but the churches composing it were established by agents of the London Missionary Society, which entered Jamaica in 1834. The Union is therefore the direct result of missions, and is at present in connection with the Colonial Missionary Society of London.)

METHODIST:UNITED METHODIST CHURCH IN JAMAICA (1907).

District Secretary: Rev. G. L. Young, Bartons P. O., Jamaica.

(NOTE: The United Methodist Church was formed by a union of the United Methodist Free Church, the Methodist New Connexion, and the Bible Christian Methodist Church, which was consummated at Wesley Chapel, City Road, London, England, on September 17, 1907. The Churches forming this Union have been long in existence, one of them, the Methodist New Connexion, having held its first Conference in Leeds, England, in 1797. Another, the Bible Christian Methodist Church, dates from 1818; while the United Methodist Free Church was formed in 1857, by a union of the Wesleyan Association (1835) and the Wesleyan Reformers (1849). The Jamaica Mission of the United Church consists of fifty-two individual churches and mission stations.)

PRESBYTERIAN:CHURCH OF SCOTLAND IN JAMAICA (1890).

Address: Rev. W. Graham, Kingston, Jamaica.

(NOTE: The Church of Scotland in Jamaica was formed into an independent presbytery in 1890. Missionary operations had been conducted on the island by the Church of Scotland for nearly a century. The missionary efforts of the Church of Scotland in Jamaica form part of the activities of the churches of the above mentioned presbytery, but no report of the work is at hand.)

COÖPERATING SOCIETY NOT DENOMINATIONAL:MICO TRAINING COLLEGE (1834).

Secretary Board of Directors: Rev. W. Griffith, Kingston, Jamaica.

Object: To conduct a normal training college for colored men in Jamaica.

Income: The income is derived chiefly from the Lady Mico Charity Fund in England, and also from local government grants.

Field: Jamaica.

OTHER THAN LOCAL MISSIONS IN JAMAICA.

(NOTE: There is mission work in Jamaica by the Moravians, the Friends, the Salvation Army, the Seventh-Day Adventists, and the African Methodist Episcopal Church, but these missionary efforts are represented in the reports of societies outside of Jamaica, in connection with which the data are recorded.)

SOCIETIES IN ASIA

(NOTE: The miscellaneous character of the societies which are engaged in missionary work on the Continent of Asia, and the incompleteness of the data available, make it undesirable to attempt the classification which has been adopted in previous sections of the Directory. They are therefore arranged in chronological order, the geographical divisions being named in alphabetical succession. There are a number of small missions in various parts of Asia, concerning which definite information has not been obtainable. Most of these smaller unconnected missions were solicited for statistical returns and for data for the Directory. In several cases no replies were received, or the returns were unsatisfactory. Where available returns were received, these have been presented. Some independently conducted educational and medical missionary institutions are also listed.)

CHINA

(The Mexican dollar is equivalent to about fifty cents in United States currency)

CANTON MEDICAL MISSIONARY SOCIETY (1838).

Secretary of the Board of Managers: A. G. Wilson, Esq., Canton.

Secretary of the Society: Dr. John Kirk, Canton.

Object: To demonstrate the practical value of Christianity, combining the healing of the body with the preaching of the Gospel, and to assist in establishing Western medical science in China.

Income: $30,000 (Mexican), equivalent to about $15,000 U. S. gold, from voluntary contributions made locally, and small charges from those who are able to pay for treatment.

Field: China.

(NOTE: The Hospital of the Society is located at Canton, South China, but patients come from many provinces of the Chinese Empire. In 1909 there were 2,121 in-patients received, 2,648 surgical operations performed, and 20,415 out-patients treated. In connection with the Hospital is the South China Medical College, under the control of the Canton Medical Missionary Society. The College is self-supporting, has thirty-three students enrolled, and graduated a class of seven in 1909. A. G. Wilson, Esq., is Secretary and Treasurer. A union of the College with the University Medical School, Canton, is proposed, and may soon be consummated, under the title of the "University Union Medical College." Consult the entry of the University Medical School, Canton, in this section, and also under the United States.)

Superintendent: Rev. J. Bosshard, 6 D'Aguilar St., Hong-kong.

Object: The issuing of religious books and tracts for the Chinese.

Income: No statement at hand.

Field: China.

(NOTE: The Canton and Hong-kong Tract Societies were originally separate, but they now work in unison, and publish a joint catalogue. The united societies report in the "China Mission Year Book" of 1910 a combined output amounting to 74,430 issues during the last reported year. An annual grant from the Religious Tract Society of London is received.)

CENTRAL CHINA RELIGIOUS TRACT SOCIETY (1876).

Honorary Secretary: Rev. G. A. Clayton, Central China Religious Tract Society, Poyang Road, Han-kau.

Object: To provide sound Christian literature for the Chinese masses.

Income: £750. The Society is dependent for its income upon voluntary subscriptions and grants. The Religious Tract Society of London grants £450 per annum, the Upper Canada Tract Society grants $500 gold per annum, and the Arthington Trust Fund is granting £100 per annum for five years.

Organ: "The Central China Monthly."

Field: Chinese Empire. Much literature has also been sent to Jamaica, Canada, the United States, South Africa, the Straits Settlements, and other places to which the Chinese have emigrated in large numbers.

(NOTE: The Society was founded by the Rev. Griffith John, D.D., who has been its President from the date of foundation. A special building for the uses of the Society, to be known as the "Griffith John Jubilee Building," is about to be erected at Han-kau. The Society has issued since it was established nearly thirty million treatises dealing with social, ethical, and religious truths. The distinctly religious publications are sold at under cost price.)

Secretary: Dr. C. J. Davenport, F.R.C.S.

Office Address: 4 Shantung Road, Shanghai.

Object: To bring the medical practitioners throughout China into touch with one another, and to promote the cause of medical missions among the Chinese people.

Income: The statistical returns of this Association are made up triennially, and will not be available before March, 1911.

Organ: "The China Medical Journal."

Fields: Korea, China.

(NOTE: A recent development of practical importance in the activities of the China Medical Missionary Association is the appointment of a Committee of Research, under the direction of Dr. J. L. Maxwell, of Tainan, Formosa, the object being to enter upon research work, and to investigate some of the obscure diseases indigenous to China. Much light has already been thrown upon the existence of certain intestinal parasites, whose ravages are the cause of much suffering throughout China. Through its Publication Committee, the best standard works on medicine and surgery are being published in Chinese by the Association, year by year. There is a South China Branch of the China Medical Missionary Association, which is actively at work.)

MISSION TO THE CHINESE BLIND AND ILLITERATE SIGHTED (1886).

(See under Scotland.)

PEKING LOCAL COMMITTEE OF MISSION TO THE CHINESE BLIND AND ILLITERATE SIGHTED (1886).

Secretary: Rev. W. Hopkyn Rees, London Missionary Society, Peking.

Object: To teach the blind to read by the Braille System, adapted by the Rev. W. H. Murray to the Chinese language, and the illiterate sighted by a further adaptation of this system to the seeing, and by this and other means to seek to lead them to Christ.

Income: No statement of local contributions at hand.

Field: China.

(NOTE: An institution for the instruction of the blind is located at Peking, under the charge of the Rev. W. H. Murray. There were 44 pupils in residence in 1908, ranging from twelve to thirty years of age. Miss C. F. Gordon-Cumming, College House, Crieff, Scotland, is deeply interested in Mr. Murray's work for the blind, and has published a book giving the history and full description of this Mission.)

CHRISTIAN LITERATURE SOCIETY FOR CHINA (1887).

Honorary General Secretary: Rev. Timothy Richard, D.D., Litt.D., 143 North Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

Object: The publication and circulation of literature based on Christian principles, throughout China, her colonies, dependencies, and wherever Chinese are found, especially periodical literature adapted for all classes.

Income: $54,186 (Mexican), equivalent to about $27,093 U. S. gold.

This total includes income from sales, subscriptions, and grants, and also that portion of the contributions to the building fund which was received during the year ending September 30, 1909.

Organs: "Chung Si Chiao Hui Pao" [Chinese Christian Review], "Ta Tung Pao" [Magazine of Broad Principles].

Fields: China, and throughout the world wherever Chinese are found.

(NOTE: Formerly known in China as "The Society for the Diffusion of Christian and General Knowledge Among the Chinese." In 1877 the China Missionary Conference appointed the School and Text Book Committee. Its Secretary, Rev. A. Williamson, LL.D., organized, in 1884, the Chinese Book and Tract Society in Glasgow, and founded in connection with that Society, in 1887, in China, the Society for the Diffusion of Christian and General Knowledge Among the Chinese. In 1892 the Chinese Book and Tract Society of Glasgow was succeeded by the Christian Literature Society for China. In 1906 the name in China was altered to the Christian Literature Society for China, in consonance with the Scotch name. For further particulars in regard to committees in aid of this organization see entries under Scotland and England.)

ORIENTAL SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING THE EDUCATION OF DEAF MUTES (1887).

Founder and Superintendent: Mrs. C. R. Mills, Chefoo.

Assistant: Miss Anita E. Carter, Chefoo.

Object: The education of the deaf in China and Korea.

Income: $2,500 (U. S. gold).

Fields: Korea, China (including Manchuria).

(NOTE: The school was first opened at Teng-chow, Shantung, in the home of the late Rev. Charles Rogers Mills, D.D., American Presbyterian Mission. It is supported by voluntary gifts largely received from the deaf in Christian lands, and their friends. Mrs. Mills is endeavoring to raise an endowment of $60,000, toward which $14,000 has been received. A department for girls was opened in 1907. A branch school has been opened at Pyeng-yang, Korea, by a Korean teacher who received his training at Chefoo. In April, 1910, this work was taken under the care of the Board of Presbyterian Missions in the United States of America. See entry under United States.)

EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF CHINA (1890).

President: Rt. Rev. F. L. Hawks-Pott, D.D., Shanghai.

Secretary: Rev. J. A. Silsby, Shanghai.

Income: $14,317 (Mexican), equivalent to about $7,158 U. S. gold.

Organ: "The Educational Review."

Field: China.

(NOTE: In 1877, at the first National Missionary Conference in China, a School and Text Book Committee was appointed to secure the preparation and publication of a series of books for use in the Christian educational institutions in China. At the second National Missionary Conference, in 1890, the Educational Association of China was organized, with thirty-five charter members. The membership has increased to five hundred. The Association meets once in three years to discuss the educational interests of China, and to make plans for their betterment.)

NORTH FUHKIEN RELIGIOUS TRACT SOCIETY (1891).

Secretary: Rev. Llewellyn Lloyd, Church Missionary Society, Foochow.

Object: To print and circulate Christian literature in Fuhkien [Fo-kién] Province, China.

Income: $3,039 (Mexican), equivalent to about $1,519 U. S. gold.

Field: China (Fuhkien Province).

(NOTE: The total issues of the Society during the year 1909 were 119,676 copies, including books, leaflets, and calendars. An annual grant is received from the Religious Tract Society of London.)

GOSPEL BAPTIST MISSION (1892).

Member of Mission: Rev. G. P. Bostick, Gospel Mission, Poh Cheo, Ngan-hwei.

Object: To preach the Gospel to the Chinese.

Income: No statement at hand.

Field: North China.

(NOTE: The Mission is Baptist in its ecclesiastical connection, although not under the supervision of any regular organization, being composed of missionaries laboring independently, and supported by individual Baptist churches in the United States. The original members of the Mission were connected with the American Baptist Missionary Union, now known as the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society.)

Object: To advance harmony between the Chinese and foreigners, and between Christians and non-Christians in China; to reach the people through the influence and aid of the higher classes; to promote truth, righteousness, and enlightenment; and to be a benefit to China and the Chinese people.

Income: $5,000 (U. S. gold). Nearly all of this amount was received from Chinese and foreigners in China.

Organ: "The Institute Record."

Field: China.

(NOTE: Incorporated in 1905, under the name of the International Institute of China, There is an International Advisory Council in China, and a General Committee, also international in character. There is an American Committee, which see under United States; also there are committees in Great Britain, Germany, and the Netherlands. The Institute is interdenominational in character, and receives no support from missionary societies.)

CHEFOO INDUSTRIAL MISSION (1895).

Director: Mr. James McMullan, Chefoo [Chi-fu].

Object: The evangelization of the Chinese; the building up of the Church of Christ in China; the fostering of unity, and a demonstration of the possibility of self-supporting missions, which will enable Chinese Christians to earn their living under conditions that will promote the growth of strong Christian character, and encourage them to witness for Christ.

Income: $3,094 (Mexican), equivalent to about $1,547 U. S. gold. No part of the income received from sources outside China.

Organ: "The Morning Star."

Fields: Korea, China (Hong-kong).

(NOTE: The Mission is evangelical and interdenominational, its desire being to help in the work of other missionary societies. The work of Mr. and Mrs. McMullan is honorary.)

GENERAL COMMITTEE OF THE YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS OF CHINA AND KOREA (1896).

General Secretary: Mr. F. S. Brockman, B.A., 120 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

Object: To promote the organization and development of Young Men's Christian Associations in China, Korea, and Hong-kong, and to promote the evangelization of the young men of those countries.

Income: $6,581 (Mexican), which equals approximately $3,290 gold.

Organ: "China's Young Men."

Fields: Korea, China (Hong-kong).

(NOTE: Chinese Young Men's Christian Associations have been established in 17 cities of the empire. There are at present 70 Student Young Men's Christian Associations in China.)

SOUTH CHIH-LI MISSION (1896).

General Director: Rev. Horace W. Houlding, Taimingfu, Chihli Province, North China.

Secretary: Miss B. Z. Schrack, Taimingfu, Chihli Province, North China.

Object: "To bring the knowledge of Jesus . . . for spirit, soul, and body . . . in the baptism of the Holy Ghost, and in the hope of His coming . . . by itinerating evangelism; by training schools . . . work for the sick . . . ; printing . . . ; distribution of Scriptures and tracts; or by any other means whatsoever that God may give."

Income: $10,969 (U. S. gold).

Organ: "Fu Yin Zao" (Gospel News).

Field: China (Chih-li, Ho-nan, Shan-tung).

(NOTE: The South Chih-li Mission was incorporated in 1901. Its organization is wholly in China, with no headquarters in the United States, from which country its workers are mainly recruited. It has fifteen regular native evangelists at work, and eighteen others on the field under instruction.)

JOHN G. KERR REFUGE FOR THE INSANE, CANTON (1898).

Superintendent and Physician-in-Charge: Charles C. Selden, Ph.D., M.D., Canton.

Object: To provide a Refuge and special medical treatment for the insane among the Chinese.

Income: $12,665 (Mexican), equivalent to about $6,332 U. S. gold. This amount represents largely the fees received from patients.

Field: China (Canton).

(NOTE: The Refuge was founded by John G. Kerr, M.D., LL.D., who for forty-seven years was medical missionary to the Chinese in Canton, under the American Presbyterian Board. Since the death of Dr. Kerr, in 1901, the work has been greatly favored by the voluntary and honorary services of Charles C. Selden, Ph.D., M.D., with whom are associated Dr. J. Allen Hofmann and Dr. Lok Lun Teng. The number of patients entered during the year 1908 was 249. This is the only institution of the kind in China. It is steadily gaining in popular favor, and has proved to the Chinese that it is possible to treat successfully those whom they had always supposed were irremediably given over to the domination of evil spirits. There is a resident Board of Trustees at Canton, and suitable buildings have been erected for the Refuge.)

CHINA BAPTIST PUBLICATION SOCIETY (1899).

General Secretary: Rev. R. E. Chambers, D.D., Canton.

Object: To print and circulate the Scriptures, and general Christian literature, for the Chinese race.

Income: $39,233 Mexican ($19,616 U. S. gold). The Society conducts a large publishing and printing business, and the income includes its commercial accounts.

Organ: "The True Light Monthly."

Fields: China, and throughout the world among Chinese immigrants.

(NOTE: The work of this Society is about to be taken over by the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society, and the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, who will become jointly responsible for its maintenance.)

Income: From the American Presbyterian Board, $7,032 (U. S. gold).

A grant of $4,000 has been made by the Arthington Trust Fund of the Baptist Missionary Society for the Medical College at Tsinanfu. No statement at hand of income derived from educational fees.

Field: China (Shan-tung).

(NOTE: The Shantung Christian University is composed of Arts, Theological, and Medical colleges, located, respectively, at Wei-hsien, Tsing-chau-fu, and Tsinan-fu, under the united supervision of the English Baptist Missionary Society and the American Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions. The general management of the University is in the hands of a University Council, or Field Board of Directors, elected by the united missions. The actions of this Field Board are subject to the review and control of the home boards. An Advisory Committee has been formed in the United States to foster the interests of the University, with John H. Finley, LL.D., as Chairman, and the Rev. Arthur J. Brown, D.D., as Recording Secretary. The institution was founded as a college by the late Rev. C. W. Mateer, D.D., in 1864, in the city of Tengchow, but it did not attain to university rank until 1904.)

ANTI-OPIMUM LEAGUE (1906).

Secretary of National Executive Committee: Prof. R. D. Smart, Soochow.
Object: The suppression of the opium habit throughout the Chinese Empire.

Income: No statement at hand.

Field: China.

(NOTE: The Anti-Opium League has sustained a great loss in the recent death of Dr. Hampden C. Du Bose, its former President. The Chinese Government has taken strenuous measures for the suppression of the sale of opium, and in March, 1908, Viceroy Tuan Fang reported to Peking that officials and people to the number of three million had given up the opium habit since the issue of the Anti-Opium Decrees, and that, compared with three years ago, the opium smokers are now sixty-five per cent. less than formerly. The cultivation of the poppy, and the revenue from opium, has been decreased by half. A reconstruction of the League in China, with a view to broadening its basis, is now under discussion. The anti-opium movement in China was initiated by a Memorial signed by missionaries of all nationalities, which the Governor-General of the River Provinces, H. E. Chou Fu, forwarded to the throne in 1906. This resulted in a decree, issued in September of that year, which was the beginning of the present government campaign in China against opium. A general closing of opium dens in many important cities of China has followed. In February, 1909, an International Opium Commission convened at Shanghai, at which convention thirteen of the great nations of the world participated. Just as the pages are going to press we find a paragraph in the "Chinese Recorder" for February, 1911, which refers to the "Chinese National Anti-Opium Society," at Peking, with the Rev. E. W. Thwing as its Secretary. This appears to be an entirely new organization, but it is possible that it may represent the reconstruction of the Anti-Opium League, to which reference has been made.)

"BROADCAST" TRACT PRESS (1906).

Director: Mr. Allen N. Cameron, Chang-sha-fu, Hu-nan.

Object: To print Gospel leaflets, mostly in the Mandarin dialect, to be sold at cost price.

Income: No statement at hand.

Field: China (Hu-nan).

(NOTE: The work of the "Broadcast" Tract Press was begun as early as 1896, but 1906 is the date of its regular establishment at Chang-sha-fu. The reported issues for 1909 were 390,000 copies, and from date of organization the total issues have been about 3,000,000 tracts. Orders are received from all over China. The "Broadcast" Press is an independent organization maintained in connection with the China Mission of the "Galilee" Baptist Church of Denver, Colorado, U. S. A.)

CHRISTIAN EDUCATIONAL UNION OF WEST CHINA (1906).

Secretary: Mr. R. J. Davidson, Cheng-tu-fu, West China.

Object: To promote the unification and centralization of Primary Educational Institutions for boys and girls, by means of a uniform course of study, similar text-books, and common examinations; to promote the organization of a Union Christian University, and to further its interests.

Income: $175 (U. S. gold), received on the field.

Organ: "West China Missionary News."

Field: West China.

(NOTE: The Christian Educational Union of West China consists of the representatives of eight missionary bodies engaged in work in West China. It was instituted to promote educational plans for West China, and especially to initiate the organization of a Union Christian University, which it is proposed to locate at Cheng-tu-fu, West China. The different missions will participate by founding and maintaining colleges, to be affiliated to the University, each one to provide a staff for the college which it maintains.)

UNIVERSITY MEDICAL SCHOOL, CANTON (1906).

Physician-in-Charge: Josiah C. McCracken, M.D., Canton Christian College, Canton.

Object: Medical education in China, under Christian auspices.

Income: $6,000 (U. S. gold).

Field: China.

(NOTE: The University Medical School of Canton is the foreign mission work of the Christian Association of the University of Pennsylvania. For several years previous to the formal establishment of the University Medical School, by the appointment of the Board of Trustees, in 1906, the Christian Association above referred to had been rendering financial aid by the partial support of the Medical Department of the Canton Christian College, but it is now responsible for the founding and maintenance of an independent medical school, to be affiliated with the Canton Christian College. A Board of Trustees has been appointed by this Christian Association, of which George Wharton Pepper, LL.D., is the Chairman, and Mr. Edward C. Wood is Secretary and Treasurer. See entry of the Board of Trustees under United States.)

BIBLE STUDY COMMITTEE (1907).

Secretary: Mr. A. E. Cory, Nanking.

Object: To stimulate Bible study in China, to found Bible Institutes, and to coördinate all Bible study movements throughout China.

Income: No statement at hand.

Field: China.

(NOTE: The Pocket Testament League, which originated in Birmingham, England, some years ago, under the direction of Mrs. Charles M. Alexander, and has since become widely distributed, has been inaugurated in China, under the auspices of the Bible Study Committee, and has found a cordial welcome among many Christian Chinese. Its simple pledge is as follows: "I hereby accept membership in the Pocket Testament League by making it a rule of my life to read at least one chapter in the Bible each day, and to carry a Testament or Bible with me wherever I go.")

EVANGELISTIC ASSOCIATION OF CHINA (1907).

President: Rev. Cheng Ching-Yi, Peking.

Object: The promotion of evangelistic effort throughout China.

Income: No statement at hand.

Field: China.

(NOTE: At the first Triennial Conference, held at Han-kan in December, 1913, there was an attendance of 77 foreign missionaries, and 158 Chinese. Overflowing evangelistic services were held in various churches and chapels every night, with a reported aggregate attendance of nearly ten thousand.)

MANCHURIAN RELIGIOUS TRACT SOCIETY COMMITTEE (1908).

Honorary Secretary: Mr. R. T. Turley, F.R.G.S., Mukden, Manchuria.

Object: The publication and distribution of Christian literature in Manchuria.

Income: No statement at hand, except that the Religious Tract Society, London, made a grant of £45.

Field: Manchuria.

(NOTE: This Committee is an auxiliary of the Religious Tract Society of London. It prints annually about 20,000 copies, and purchases literature from other Chinese tract societies for circulation.)

"CHRISTIAN HERALD" ORPHANAGE COMMITTEE OF CHINA (1908).

Secretary: Lilburn Merrill, M.D., Chinkiang, Kiang-su Province.

Object: The administration of orphanage funds forwarded by the "Christian Herald," of New York.

Income: The amount depends upon the circumstances and the need. The sum forwarded from July 1, 1907, to June 30, 1908, was $4,911, and the amount sent from July 1, 1908, to June 30, 1909, was $16,001.

Field: China.

(NOTE: See entry of "Christian Herald" Missionary Fund, under United States.)

SOUTH FUHKIEN RELIGIOUS TRACT SOCIETY (1908).

Secretary: Rev. G. M. Wales, Amoy.

Object: The publication and circulation of books and tracts, prepared on the same principles as those of the Religious Tract Society of London, and the American Tract Society.

Income: For 1908, $3,030 (Mexican), equivalent to about $1,515 (U. S. gold).

Organs: "The Church Messenger," "The Amoy Church News."

Field: China (South Fuhkien).

(NOTE: For many years previous to 1908 tract society work was carried on in this district by the Religious Tract Society of London, through a local committee, and by the American Tract Society, through the American Reformed Church Mission. In 1908 the whole work was united in the South Fuhkien Religious Tract Society. The Amoy Tract Society, which dated from 1850, has been merged into the South Fuhkien Religious Tract Society. During the year 1909, 85,068 books and tracts were printed.)

SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION FOR CHINA (1908).

Secretary of the Executive Committee: Rev. W. N. Bitton, Shanghai.

Organizing Secretary: Rev. Elwood G. Tewkesbury, D.D., Shanghai.

Object: The promotion of Sunday Schools throughout China.

Income: No statement at hand. Financial aid which will in part meet the need is expected from the British Sunday School Union.

Field: China.

(NOTE: A large and representative Committee to organize this Union was appointed by the Centenary Conference of 1907, at Shanghai, of which Committee Mr. Bitton was Secretary.)

CANTON EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION (1909).

Secretary: Rev. H. B. Graybill, Canton Christian College, Canton.

Object: The advancement of Christian educational opportunities in Fuhkien (Fo-kien) and Kwangtung Provinces.

Income: No statement at hand.

Field: China (Fuhkien (Fo-kien) and Kwangtung Provinces).

HWA HSI HSIOW TANG [WEST CHINA UNION UNIVERSITY] (1909).

Acting Secretary on the Field: Rev. C. R. Carscallen, Cheng-tu-fu, West China.

Acting Secretary for Home Commission: Mr. G. B. Huntington, American Baptist Foreign Mission Society, Boston, Massachusetts.

Object: The higher education of Chinese men and women, under Christian auspices.

Income: Derived from appropriations from the missionary societies uniting in the Union; American Baptist Foreign Mission Society, Boston; Missionary Society of the Methodist Church, Canada; English Friends' Foreign Mission Association, London; Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, New York. No amount stated.

Field: China (Cheng-tu-fu, and other points in West China, Province of Szechwan, where associated colleges may be located).

(NOTE: The University comprises four colleges—American Baptist, Canadian Methodist, English Friends, and Methodist Episcopal. It will also have three theological schools affiliated in the near future, and include a normal school and medical college. This enterprise has been fostered by the Christian Educational Union of West China, previously entered.)

UNIVERSITY OF NANKING (1909).

President: Rev. Arthur J. Bowen, Nanking.

Object: The establishment of a higher educational institution based upon the coöperation of the missions of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and the Foreign Christian Missionary Society.

Income: Too recently organized to report income. The University has been established by generous contributions of land, buildings, and equipment from the Missions participating in its formation. Fees from students will amount, approximately, to $23,000 (Mexican), while each Mission makes an annual grant of $2,400 (gold), and the salaries of nine professors are provided from the same sources. Special gifts amounting to about $1,500 (gold) have been received.

Organ: "The University of Nanking Bulletin."

Field: Central China.

(NOTE: Nanking University was originally founded in 1888, as an institution of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, but this union of higher educational activities in Nanking was accomplished in December, 1909. A Board of Trustees, with headquarters in the United States, has been appointed, and articles of incorporation are to be obtained. See entry under the United States in this Directory.)

SCANDINAVIAN EVANGELICAL FREE MISSION IN CANTON (1910).

Director: Rev. H. J. von Qualen, Canton.

Object: Evangelical missionary work among the Chinese.

Income: The Mission is conducted on an independent basis.

Field: China (Canton and vicinity).

(NOTE: The Mission is sometimes locally designated as the Scandinavian American Christian Free Mission, but it is Lutheran in its denominational affiliation, and its correct title is as given above.)

STUDENT VOLUNTEER MOVEMENT OF CHINA (1910).

Address: Arthur Rugh, B.A., National Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, Shanghai.

Object: To promote an interest in Christian service among the students of China, and, especially, to induce them to enter the ministry.

Income: No statement at hand.

Field: China.

(NOTE: The formation of the Student Volunteer Movement of China is an outgrowth of the work of the Student Young Men's Christian Association. The response of Christian students in several of the mission colleges in China has been of surprising interest and impressiveness. The number of Student Volunteers already enrolled is nearly four hundred. The services of Pastor Ding Lee May, known as "The Apostle of Shantung," in visiting various missionary institutions, and enlisting volunteers, have been most successful.)

CHINESE MISSIONARY SOCIETIES.

(NOTE: Chinese Christians have founded a goodly number of missionary societies for evangelistic effort among their own countrymen, sending out catechists and evangelists, and in some instances founding churches. The excellent reflex influence of these home missionary endeavors is apparent in the churches which support them. The ten home missionary societies reported as active in South China are said to be in connection with the most earnest and spiritually progressive churches in that part of the empire. We regret that we have not been able to secure sufficient information and the special data, which would enable us to make detailed mention of these initial native missionary efforts in China. We are glad to have been somewhat more favored by the data returns from India and Japan.)

MISSIONARY ASSOCIATIONS IN CHINA.

(NOTE: The missionaries residing in different parts of China have, in many instances, organized themselves into associations for mutual helpfulness and general discussion of their difficulties and problems, and to insure united action and harmonious views concerning missionary policy. It has not seemed advisable to give a separate entry in the Directory to each of these missionary associations, as they are not, strictly speaking, missionary in their aims, but are designed rather for mutual support and guidance, and the devotional culture of the missionaries themselves. It will suffice for present purposes if this brief reference is made to their existence. These missionary associations are to be found at Peking, Tientsin, Shanghai, Nanking, Han-kau, which represents the missionaries of Wuchang, Han-yang, and Han-kau, and, also, at Foochow and Hong-kong. It is possible that others may exist of which information has not been obtained.)

(NOTE: Miss Powar's work is not supported by any missionary society, but receives help from the contributions of friends. She has educated many trained workers, who are doing excellent service in various missions.)

MISSIONARY ASSOCIATIONS, OR CONFERENCES, IN INDIA.

(NOTE: The missionaries residing in various parts of India have, in many instances, organized themselves into associations, or conferences, for mutual helpfulness, and the general discussion of their difficulties and problems, and to insure united action and harmonious views concerning missionary policy. It has not seemed advisable to give a separate entry in the Directory to each of these associations, as they are not, strictly speaking, missionary in their aims, but are designed rather for mutual support and guidance, and the devotional culture of the missionaries themselves. It will suffice for present purposes if this brief reference is made to their existence. These missionary associations, or conferences, have been formed at Calcutta, Bombay, Lucknow, Agra, Madras, and several other cities in India, and there are also the South India Missionary Association and the Mid-India Missionary Association.)

MISSIONS CONCERNING WHICH FULL INFORMATION HAS NOT BEEN OBTAINED.

(NOTE: In the "Protestant Missionary Directory of India for 1910-11," compiled by James Inglis, Esq., is found mention of several smaller missions in India, concerning the operations of which sufficient data are not at hand for regular entry in this Directory. Among these may be included the Pentecostal Mission, the Lohagat Tankpur Medical Mission, the Tibetan Mission, the Simla Evangelistic Mission, and the Railway Mission. There are also several independent orphanages, industrial missions, training homes and schools, rescue homes, convert homes for females, and hostels, not connected with the regular missionary boards or societies outside of India, which can merely be mentioned in this general way. There are, moreover, a considerable number of independent and unattached missionaries concerning whose work it is not possible in this connection to give adequate information. Application for data has not been successful in the case of the following societies: Scripture Union for Bengal, Calcutta; Lord's Day Union, Calcutta; Voluntary Medical Missionary Society, Calcutta; Chinsurah and Hooghly Zenana Mission; Premananda Faith Missionary Association, Raghunathpur, Madras Presidency; Young Liberals' League, Madras; and the Indian Missionary Society of Krishnapur. It is much to be regretted, also, that in the case of a number of missions in India, efforts to obtain a statement of income have proved fruitless.)

JAPAN

The silver yen is equivalent to fifty cents U. S. currency. The gold yen equals one dollar.

DOSHISHA COLLEGE (1875).

President: Rev. Tasuka Harada, B.A., LL.D., Kyoto.

Object: To provide Christian educational opportunities for Japanese young men.

Income: No statement at hand.

Field: Japan.

(NOTE: The Doshisha was founded by Dr. J. H. Neesima, beginning as an academy, with a theological department, as early as 1875, and from its inception was a Japanese institution.)

Field: Japan.

(NOTE: In connection with the Church of Christ in Japan, and formerly under the supervision of the late Miss K. M. Youngman.)

NIHON KIRISUTO KYOKWAI DENDO KYOKU [BOARD OF MISSIONS OF THE CHURCH OF CHRIST IN JAPAN] (1894).

Secretary: Rev. K. Kiyama. The Secretary (1909) of the Council of Missions cooperating with the Church of Christ in Japan is the Rev. Harvey Brokaw, Kure.

Object: Home and foreign missions.

Income: Yen 83,000 ($41,500 in U. S. gold). This represents the native contributions to the Dendo Kyoku for 1910, as reported in the eighth edition of the "Christian Movement in Japan." The contributions of native Christians of the Church of Christ in Japan for all church purposes amounted, in 1910, to Yen 103,483 ($51,741 in U. S. gold).

Organs of the Church of Christ: "Fukuin Shimpō," "Kirisutokyo Shimpō," "Tohoku Kyokwai Jiho," "Yako," "Fukuin Geppo."

Fields: Japan, Korea, Chinese Empire (Manchuria and China).

(NOTE: Working in connection with the churches and preaching places of the Church of Christ in Japan. Home missions were commenced in 1880. Foreign work for Japanese in Korea began in 1907, and later it was extended to the Japanese in Manchuria. The Dendo Kyoku now purposes to conduct foreign mission work among the Chinese in China, and has already sent a missionary to Peking. A Japanese gave Yen 300 to start the enterprise, and a native church has guaranteed the salary of a missionary. There is also in connection with the Nihon Kirisuto Kyokwai a Church Building Society, which see listed under the title of Presbyterian and Reformed Church Building Association.)

KAISHUN BYOIN [KUMAMOTO LEPER HOSPITAL] (1895).

Address: Superintendent of the Kaishun Byoin, Kumamoto.

Object: The care and medical treatment of lepers.

Income: No statement at hand.

(NOTE: In affiliation with the Church of England. Founded and directed by Miss H. Riddell.)

WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION OF JAPAN (1896).

President: Mrs. K. Yajima, Woman's Christian Temperance Union, Tokyo.

Object: The promotion of temperance principles in Japan.

Income: No statement at hand.

Organs: "Shonen Shimpō," "Kyofukwai," "Kinshu no Tomo."

Field: Japan.

(NOTE: The Japanese Union cooperates effectively with the foreign auxiliary, whose President is Miss I. M. Hargrave, 8 Torizakka, Azabu, Tokyo.)

JAPAN BOOK AND TRACT SOCIETY (1898).

Treasurer: Mr. George Braithwaite, 5 Hikawa-Cho, Akasaka, Tokyo.

Object: The publication and circulation of Christian tracts and books.

Income: Yen 1,100 ($550 in U. S. gold). This represents only the grant of the Religious Tract Society. No report of income from local sources.

Field: Japan.

(NOTE: Interdenominational and independent. The American Tract Society made its first grant of $200 to aid in the creation of a Christian literature in Japan in the year 1874. Committees representing the British and American societies were formed, and united in 1891. In 1895 the above Society was organized. In 1909 the Japan Book and Tract Society put into circulation 20,486 books, 467,495 tracts, and 108,325 cards, making a total of 596,306 publications. There are other important Christian literary agencies in Japan which might be mentioned, but they are usually connected with the large missionary societies of Christendom having work in the Empire. The Methodist Publishing House, Tokyo, the Publication Houses and Presses of the Kumiai Churches, the Kaneko Memorial Press at Sendai, and the Publishing Houses and Book Depots of the Anglican Communion, at Kobe and Tokyo, under the direction of the Japan Church Literature Fund, might be enumerated as examples. A "Committee on Christian Literature," representing the Standing Committee of Cooperating Christian Missions, and a "Publication Committee" of the Council of Missions, give careful attention to the whole subject of literature.)

KATEI GAKKO [REFORM SCHOOL] (1898).

Superintendent: Rev. K. Tomeoka, Sugamo, Tokyo.

Income: Yen 811 ($405 in U. S. gold).

Organ: "The Christian Movement in Japan" (annual issue)

Field: Japan.

(NOTE: The Standing Committee of Cooperating Christian Missions is formed by a union of twenty-two of the leading missionary societies doing work in Japan.)

TOYO SENKYOKWAI [ORIENTAL MISSIONARY SOCIETY] (1901).

Director of the Bible School: Rev. C. E. Cowman, Kashiwagi, Yodobashi-machi, Tokyo-fuka.

Object: To train a native ministry, and efficient Christian workers.

Income: Yen 50,000 ($25,000 in U. S. gold). This income was reported in 1909 as received largely from abroad. An additional gift of Yen 8,000 is held in trust for the Korean Bible School.

Organs: "Hōnō no Shita," "Electric Messages."

Fields: Japan, Korea.

YOTSUYA CHRISTIAN CHURCH MISSION (1901).

Director and Pastor: Rev. W. D. Cunningham, Yotsuya, Tokyo.

Object: Evangelistic work in the Yotsuya section of Tokyo.

Income: No statement at hand. The church is largely self-supporting, but is aided by contributions from abroad.

Organ: "Tokyo Christian."

Field: Japan.

(NOTE: The Mission is independent, and has been for several years under the charge of Rev. W. D. Cunningham, aided by Mrs. Cunningham, Miss Alice Miller, and twelve Japanese assistants, all supported by special contributions from friends.)

JAPAN EVANGELISTIC BAND (1903).

Address: Mr. A. L. Dyer, 1202 Okuhirano-mura, Kobe.

Object: Evangelistic effort in Japan.

Income: No statement at hand.

Field: Japan.

JAPANESE YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION NATIONAL UNION (1903).

National General Secretary: Mr. T. Komatsu, 3 Sanchome Mitoshirocho, Kanda, Tokyo.

Object: To promote the organization and development of Young Men's Christian Associations in Japan, and to promote the evangelization of Japanese young men.

Income: $20,000 gold.

Organ: "Kaitakusha" ("The Pioneer").

Fields: Japan, and the Japanese in Korea and Manchuria.

(NOTE: In connection with the Union there are seven Foreign Secretaries and seventy-five Associations.)

HANABATAKE SEI-KYO-IN [HANABATAKE CHARITY HOSPITAL] (1905).

Superintendent: Mr. Kodama, Hanabatake, Okayama.

Object: To heal the sick, under Christian influences.

Income: Yen 982 ($491 in U. S. gold). The Government has given it recognition through a grant-in-aid for endowment purposes.

Field: Japan (Okayama and vicinity).

HAKUAI SHOKKO GAKKWAI [HOME FOR DISCHARGED PRISONERS] (1906).

Superintendent: Mr. Katsuji Aikawa, Osaka.

Object: To provide a home for discharged prisoners, and to render general assistance to them.

Income: Yen 3,815 ($1,907 in U. S. gold).

Field: Japan.

(NOTE: The land for this institution is loaned by the Government.)

INTERNATIONAL REFORM BUREAU (1906).

JAPAN COUNCIL OF THE INTERNATIONAL REFORM BUREAU (1908).

Secretary: Prof. E. W. Clement, 29 Sanazaka, Ichigaya, Tokyo.

Object: To create a better moral environment, especially among the young, in Japan.

Income: No statement at hand.

Field: Japan.

(NOTE: The Rev. E. W. Thwing, Special Secretary for Eastern Asia of the International Reform Bureau, is giving a portion of his time to furthering the work of the Japan Council.)

KINDERGARTEN UNION OF JAPAN (1906).

Address: Miss Margaret M. Cook, Kami-Nagarekawa-cho, Hiroshima.

Object: The establishment and supervision of kindergartens in Japan.

Income: No statement at hand.

Organ: "Kindergarten Teacher's Manual."

Field: Japan.

(NOTE: The Kindergarten Union includes five training schools, two of which have full government recognition, and fifty-five kindergartens, representing the work of eleven mission boards. A number of kindergartens, privately conducted by Japanese Christians, are not in the Union. Kindergartens are also in a few government schools, and are rapidly increasing in number and efficiency throughout the country. Christian training-schools to meet the demand for training Japanese kindergartners are consequently a great need.)

PRESBYTERIAN AND REFORMED CHURCH BUILDING ASSOCIATION (1906).

Secretary: Rev. W. G. Seiple, Ph.D., 78 Higashi Samban-cho, Sendai.

Object: To aid in the building and repairing of Japanese churches.

Income: Yen 1,563 ($781 in U. S. gold).

Fields: Japan, Formosa.

(NOTE: The Church Building Association has helped in four years about twenty-three churches to erect buildings in various parts of Japan, including Formosa. This Society was formed in Japan, and is supported by missionaries with their own personal gifts. About Yen 7,000 has been collected and expended by it, averaging Yen 300 per church building. Some of these buildings, with grounds, are worth Yen 5,000 to Yen 10,000. This serves to indicate how the Japanese contribute in their own way toward church buildings. They have a society of their own, which also aids in church building enterprises.)

JAPANESE BAPTIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY (1907).

Address: Secretary of Japanese Baptist Missionary Society, Nagoya.

Object: Evangelistic work in Nagoya and vicinity.

Income: Yen 1,002 ($501 in U. S. gold).

Field: Japan (Nagoya and vicinity).

NATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION OF JAPAN (1907).

Secretary: Rev. Takeshi Ukai, 2 Nishimachi, Nihonenoki, Tokyo.

Object: To furnish better training and equipment for Sunday School work.

Income: Yen 3,750 ($1,875 in U. S. gold). Of this amount the International Sunday School Association contributed Yen 2,000 ($1,000), and the remaining Yen 1,750 ($875) was derived from local sources.

Organ: "The Sunday School News."

Field: Japan.

(NOTE: This Association has issued a Teachers' Training Course, comprising six volumes, which five hundred teachers are systematically studying. It has also projected a series of graded lessons covering eleven years, the courses for seven years having been published for immediate use.)

SHIONKWA Christian DISPENSARY (1908).

Superintendent: Rev. N. Yamanouchi, Shionkwa, Kumamoto.

Object: To heal the sick, and to spread Christian truth.

Income: Yen 250 ($125 in U. S. gold).

Field: Japan (Kumamoto and vicinity).

(NOTE: Supported by Christian churches in Kumamoto.)

TELEGRAPHERS' CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION (1908).

Address: Secretary of Telegraphers' Christian Association, care of Rev. C.

E. Cowman, Kashiwagi, Yodobashi-machi, Tokyo-fuka.

Object: Evangelistic work among telegraphers in Japan.

Object: The training of nurses.

Income: No statement at hand. The plant is valued at Yen 50,000 ($25,000 in U. S. gold).

Field: Japan.

(NOTE: The school is affiliated with the Church of Christ in Japan, and was founded by Mrs. M. T. True.)

INDEPENDENT MISSIONS IN JAPAN.

(NOTE: There are several independent missions in Japan, most of which are under the direction of some individual missionary, whose work is generally supported by special contributions from friends, and whose services are not recorded in the returns of the larger missionary boards and societies. It has not been possible to enter all of these independent missions in the regular list, owing to lack of sufficient data concerning them.)

CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS IN JAPAN.

(NOTE: "The Christian Movement in Japan" (Seventh Issue, 1909, pp. 594-599) gives an interesting list of numerous philanthropic efforts, many of which seem to be under Japanese auspices. This list includes charity hospitals, day nurseries, schools for the blind, orphanages, schools for the poor, reform schools, homes for released prisoners, homes of refuge, and leper asylums. Some of these it has been possible to enter in the Japanese section of the Directory, but the majority were necessarily omitted, as insufficient information was given to permit of their entry. Through the kindness of the Rev. H. M. Landis, D.D., of the Meiji Gakuin, Tokyo, a supplemental list, in addition to those mentioned in the "Christian Movement," referred to above, has been forwarded to the Committee. This additional list includes five hospitals, an orphanage, a girls' industrial school, a night school, and a school for nurses, besides some schools devoted to Christian education.)

KOREA

KOREAN ITINERANT MISSION (1889).

Director: Pastor M. C. Fenwick, Wonsan.

Object: The evangelization of the Koreans.

Income: The amount of local contributions reported is $917. No statement of income received from home sources has come to hand.

Field: Korea.

MISSION OF THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND, DIOCESE OF KOREA (1889).

Bishop of Diocese: The recent death of Bishop Turner leaves a vacancy.

Object: Evangelistic, medical, and philanthropic work throughout the Diocese.

Income: £1,008, received from the Korea Mission Association in England. An annual grant of £1,500 is also received from the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, and a grant of £100 for hospital work is received from the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge.

Organ: "The Morning Calm."

Field: The Diocese of Korea.

(NOTE: The Mission was founded by Archbishop Benson, and the first Bishop was the Rt. Rev. Charles John Corfe, who was consecrated in 1889. The members of the mission staff, for the most part, receive no salary beyond what is required for actual maintenance. The Community of St. Peter, Kilburn, has charge of the women's work in the diocese.)

KOREAN RELIGIOUS TRACT SOCIETY (1890).

BRITISH EVANGELISTIC MISSION [MISSION OF THE KESWICK SOCIETY, ENGLAND, CONDUCTED BY MISS PERRY AND MISS PASH] (1891).

Honorary Directors: Miss Jean Perry, Miss Ellen Pash, Seoul.

Object: Evangelistic, educational, and philanthropic work, in connection with an orphanage in Seoul.

Income: No statement at hand.

Field: Korea.

(NOTE: The two missionaries who direct the Mission provide their own support, but receive funds in aid of their work from the Keswick Society, England.)

GENERAL COMMITTEE OF THE YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS OF CHINA AND KOREA (1896).

(See under China.)

EVANGELISTIC WORK OF KOREAN CHRISTIANS.

(NOTE: The readiness of the Korean Christians to enter evangelistic service has been phenomenal, but it has been rather on the basis of individual effort and broadcast personal appeals than through regular missionary agencies. A native missionary society was organized at Pyeng Yang in 1901, and was active, chiefly in Northern Korea, for several years. When, however, a presbytery was established, in 1907, the work of the society was transferred to the Presbyterian Committee of Missions. Other local societies sprang up, but did not come into any prominence as missionary organizations, although their work was faithfully prosecuted. The Presbytery's Committee has sent missionaries to the island of Quelpart, and has also its missionary in Siberia, to minister to Koreans who reside there. Other native agents have been sent among the Koreans in Manchuria, Japan, and Mexico.)

SIBERIA

EVANGELISCH-LUTHERISCHE MISSION ZU LEIPZIG [LEIPZIG EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN MISSION] (1836).

(See under Germany.)

GERMAN AND FINNISH EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN CHURCHES IN SIBERIA, RUSSIAN ASIA (1751).

Secretary: The Evangelical Lutheran Pastor, Tomsk, Siberia.

Object: To aid in the foreign missionary work of the Leipzig Mission.

Income: 2,000 Mk. ($480 U. S. gold).

Fields: The Indian and African fields of the Leipzig Mission.

(NOTE: The Barnaul congregation of the Lutheran Church dates from 1751.)

GERMAN EVANGELICAL CHURCH OF CAUCASIA, RUSSIAN ASIA ().

Secretary: The Pastor of the German Evangelical Lutheran Church, Tiflis, Russia-in-Asia.

Object: To aid in the missions of the Leipzig Mission, and those of other German foreign missionary societies.

Income: 1,000 Mk. ($240 U. S. gold).

Fields: South India, German East Africa (through the German foreign missionary societies).

TURKISH EMPIRE

(NOTE: There are many higher educational institutions under missionary auspices in the Turkish Empire, but for the most part they are an integral part of the work of the missionary societies engaged there, and are included in the data given for their respective societies. Only those having an independent board of trustees, and administered apart from the control of missionary societies, are inserted here. In most of the stations of the American Missions in Turkey there are missionary societies in connection with the native churches, the educational institutions, the Young Men's Christian Associations, or the Christian Endeavor organizations. In the Mardin field, for example, the Rev. A. N. Andrus reports fourteen such societies, with a total income of 43 Turkish pounds. One of these societies, located at Mardin, and named the "Society of Love," has been in operation for fifty years. It is engaged in home and foreign missions, and has been instrumental during its existence in distributing over a thousand Turkish pounds. At Sivas four similar societies are reported, engaged either in evangelistic work or benevolent relief. This list could be still further enlarged by including missionary societies at Adabazar, Bardezag, and Nicomedia, and no doubt at many other stations there are such indigenous missionary efforts, which may surely be regarded as the leaven of the missionary spirit, which will in time develop into larger and more productive organizations.)

KAISERSWERTH DEACONESSES' MISSION (1836).

(NOTE: Educational and medical work at several centers in Turkey, Syria, Palestine, and Egypt. See Rheinisch-Westfälischer Diakonissenverein, under Germany.)

DEUTSCH EVANGELISCHE KIRCHE IN TÜRKEI [GERMAN EVANGELICAL CHURCH IN TURKEY] (1843).

Official Address: Pastor Graf von Lüttichau, Constantinople.

Object: Evangelistic work among German residents, and the native population of the Turkish Empire.

Income: 300 Mk., equal to $72 (sent to German foreign missionary societies).

Fields: Turkish Empire, German foreign mission fields.

(NOTE: The German Evangelical Church, in Constantinople, and the German College, are centers of missionary work for Turkey in Europe and Asia Minor.)

BRITISH SYRIAN MISSION (1860).

(NOTE: Educational work at various stations in Syria. See under England.)

SYRISCHE WAISENHAUS, JERUSALEM [SYRIAN ORPHANAGE, JERUSALEM] (1860).

Secretary: Pastor Schneller, Syrian Orphanage, Jerusalem.

Object: Evangelical mission work among Armenians and Syrians.

Income: 200,000 Mk. ($48,000 in U. S. gold).

Organ: "Der Bote aus Zion."

Field: Palestine (Jerusalem and the Bir-Salem colony near Jaffa).

(NOTE: There is a Union for the Syrian Orphanage in Jerusalem, with headquarters at Köln on the Rhine, which see under Germany.)

SYRIAN PROTESTANT COLLEGE, BEIRUT (1863).

President: Rev. Howard S. Bliss, D.D., Beirut, Syria.

Superintendent of the Maria De Witt Jesup Hospitals and School for Nurses: Mrs. Mary B. Dale, Beirut, Syria.

Organ: "Al-Kulleh."

(NOTE: The Syrian Protestant College is fast approaching the university status. It was founded as an independent educational institution, and has its Board of Trustees in the United States. It has Preparatory, Academic, Pharmaceutical, Medical, Dental, and Commercial Departments, and also a Training School for Nurses, connected with the Maria De Witt Jesup Hospital Foundation. The Medical Faculty serve the Johanniter Hospital of the Knights of St. John, and also the Hospital for Women, the Hospital for Children, and the Eye and Ear Hospital. Those for women and children are connected with the Maria De Witt Jesup Foundation. The corps of instruction and administration in the College numbers 72. The enrollment of students for 1909-1910 reached 839, including 19 in the Training School for Nurses. For entry concerning Trustees of Syrian Protestant College, see under United States.)

ROBERT COLLEGE, CONSTANTINOPLE (1864).

President: Rev. C. F. Gates, D.D., Roumeli Hissar, Constantinople.

(NOTE: Robert College was founded by Christopher R. Robert and Cyrus Hamlin, D.D. It is an independent institution, with Collegiate, Preparatory, and Sub-Preparatory Departments. Its enrolled students in all departments number 446, including 13 nationalities. For further information, see Trustees of Robert College, entered under United States.)

JESSIE TAYLOR MEMORIAL SCHOOL FOR MOSLEM AND DRUSE GIRLS, BEIRUT (1868).

Principal: Miss Turner, Jessie Taylor Memorial School, Beirut, Syria.

(NOTE: The School was founded by the late Miss Jessie Taylor, and has its own Board of Trustees in Scotland. See under Scotland. Miss Taylor was a devoted pioneer in the educational work for Moslem and Druse girls. When the enterprise was begun it was no easy task to inaugurate a work of this kind. Miss Taylor and her pupils faced many embarrassments, and some perils, but by tact and courage she won her way, and enlisted the sympathy and gratitude of influential patrons, until her school now occupies an established and firmly entrenched status, with the friendly endorsement of a supporting public opinion. Miss Taylor's foresight anticipated the new era which has dawned in Turkey.)

ORIENTAL ORPHANAGE, BROUSSA (1875).

Founder and Director: Mr. G. Baghdasarian, Broussa, Turkey-in-Asia.

Object: The education and training of orphan boys and girls.

Income: No statement at hand. Supported by voluntary contributions, and the sale of industrial productions.

Field: Turkey-in-Asia.

(NOTE: More than one thousand boys and girls have been received and trained in industrial work.)

CENTRAL TURKEY COLLEGE, AINTAB (1876).

President: John E. Merrill, Ph.D., Aintab, Turkey-in-Asia.

(NOTE: The Central Turkey College was authorized formally by the Turkish Government in 1878. It has its Board of Trustees in the United States, of which Mr. Elbridge Torrey is President and the Rev. C. H. Daniels, D.D., South Framingham, Massachusetts, is Secretary. The legal name of the Corporation of the Central Turkey College is "The Trustees of Donations for Education in Turkey." See entry under United States. The present number of students, including the Collegiate and Preparatory Departments, is 157. Its organ is the "Bulletin of Central Turkey College.")

EUPHRATES COLLEGE, HARPOOT [KHARPOOT] (1878).

President: Rev. Ernest W. Riggs, Harpoot, Turkey-in-Asia.

(NOTE: The Euphrates College has its Board of Trustees in the United States, of which Col. Charles A. Hopkins, Brookline, Massachusetts, is President, and the Rev. James L. Barton, D.D., 14 Beacon St., Boston, Massachusetts, is Secretary. The founder and first President was the Rev. Crosby H. Wheeler, D.D. The enrollment in the year 1907-1908 was 863, including all departments.)

JAFFA MEDICAL MISSION (1878).

(NOTE: The Jaffa Medical Mission was founded by Miss Morgan, an English lady, under whose care a hospital was built, in 1882. Miss Newton continued the work after the death of Miss Morgan, largely at her own expense. Since Miss Newton's death, in 1908, the hospital with its equipment has come under the charge of the Church Missionary Society, which now conducts the work.)

GREEK EVANGELICAL UNION OF SMYRNA (1883).

Honorary Foreign Secretary: Miss E. Cairns, care of British Post Office, Smyrna, Asia Minor.

Object: To group together the various Greek Evangelical Churches scattered about in Asia Minor, to provide for their spiritual wants, and to carry on evangelistic work among their Greek brethren, with the view of uplifting them, and of reforming the Orthodox Churches.

Income: £656. (Of this amount £339 was contributed on the field, £179 was received from the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, and £138 from Great Britain.) The total of £656 equals $3,195.

Organ: "Zornitza."

Field: Asia Minor (Smyrna, Ordoo, Semen, Magnesia, Thyatira).

(NOTE: In addition there is reported from Smyrna the Society of the King's Daughters, in the Girls' Collegiate Institute, which contributed the sum of $460 to missionary work in India and China, and to home mission efforts at Van. The Protestant Armenian Church of Smyrna is also engaged to a considerable extent in home mission work. There is a Reference Council of the Greek Evangelical Union in Great Britain, for entry of which see under Scotland.)

AMERICAN COLLEGE FOR GIRLS, CONSTANTINOPLE (1890).

President: Mary Mills Patrick, A.M., Ph.D., British Post Office, Constantinople.

(NOTE: The American College for Girls was for many years connected with the Congregational Woman's Board of Missions in Boston, but now has its own Board of Trustees in the United States, for further information concerning which see Trustees of the American College for Girls at Constantinople, under United States. It was founded as a high school in 1871, and obtained its first charter as the American College for Girls, under the Congregational Woman's Board, in 1890. The second charter for the present Board of Trustees was obtained in 1908. The College is soon to be removed to a slightly location on the Bosphorus, where new outbuildings will be erected for its use. The present faculty numbers 30, and the total enrollment of students, including 91 in the College and 96 in the Preparatory Departments, is 187. In connection with the College there are a Christian Association, a Philanthropic Society, and an Armenian National Society, all devoting their contributions to benevolent and missionary work, chiefly for famine relief and the support of orphans in both Turkey and Japan. The College is prominent among the pioneer agencies for the higher education of girls in the Turkish Empire, and as such will have an expanding and uplifting influence in the new era which has come in the Nearer East.)

APOSTOLIC INSTITUTE, KONIA (1892).

Director: Dr. A. H. Haigazian, Apostolic Institute, Konia, Asia Minor.

Object: The Christian education of boys and girls, and also the aiding of destitute widows and children, irrespective of creed or faith.

Income: $7,826. (Of this amount $2,796 was received on the field, from board and tuition fees of students, the sale of garden products, etc.)

Field: Turkish Empire (Konia).

(NOTE: The Apostolic Institute was founded by the late Rev. H. S. Jenanyan, D.D., and was successfully directed by him for a long period of years. After his death, in 1907, the management of the Institute was entrusted to a Board of Directors in the United States. See entry under United States section.)

LEBANON HOSPITAL FOR THE INSANE (1896).

Founder and Superintendent: Mr. Theophilus Waldmeier, Asfûriyeh, near Beirut, Syria.

(NOTE: A local Executive Committee has been formed at Beirut, of which the Chairman is Rev. C. A. Webster, B.A., M.D. The Hospital has committees-in-aid in England, the Netherlands, Switzerland, and the United States, which see under their respective sections.)

AMERICAN CHRISTIAN HOSPITAL, CESAREA (1898).

Physicians in Charge: William S. Dodd, M.D., Wilfred M. Post, M.D., Talas-Cesarea, Asia Minor.

Superintendent: Miss Emma D. Cushman, Talas-Cesarea, Asia Minor.

Object: Medical, surgical, and evangelistic services to those of all races and creeds who may come within range of its ministry.

Income: $13,447. This amount is made up of contributions from friends ($3,047), and income on the field, from fees, board, and sale of drugs.

Field: Turkey (Cesarea and vicinity, covering a large part of the Western Turkey Mission of the American Board)

(NOTE: In-patients, in 1909, numbered 460; out-patients, 3,433; treatments, 8,000 and surgical cases, 750. The Hospital, while affiliated with the American Board, is independent, and has its own Board of Trustees in the United States, raising its support from contributors and income. The President of the Board is Mr. Allison Dodd, and the Secretary is Mr. Charles E. Manierre, 31 Nassau Street, New York. As the physicians are supplied by the American Board, the medical statistics have been reported in those which that Board forwarded. The plant of the American Christian Hospital has been recently purchased by the American Board, and the plan of removing the hospital staff and work to Konia is about to be carried out. Konia is an unoccupied field some distance to the southwest of Cesarea, and the opening for a medical mission is attractive and urgent. An entirely new plant is to be built there, and those responsible for this forward movement find much encouragement in the outlook. Medical missionary work at Cesarea will continue to be carried on by the American Board.)

ENGLISH MISSION, LYDDA, PALESTINE (1898).

Secretary: Miss Leishman, English Mission, Lydda, Palestine.

Object: To evangelize Palestine villages.

Income: £125 ($609).

Official Address: Pastor Horst, German Church, Jerusalem.

Object: Mission work among the German colonists and the natives.

Income: No statement at hand.

Organ: "Gemeindeblatt für die evangelischen Gemeinden des Orients."

Field: Asia Minor, Palestine.

(NOTE: The medical, educational, and orphanage work of the Kaiserswerth Deaconesses, in Jerusalem, Beirut, and Smyrna, and, in addition to their service, an Armenian Orphanage at Bethlehem, are all within the bounds of this Conference, and have given to it a strong missionary character.)

NATIVE MEDICAL MISSION, SIDON ().

Superintendent: Mrs. Helaine Noufal, Sidon, Syria.

Object: Medical work among Moslems, Mutawilis, and Jews.

Income: £231.

Field: Syria.

(NOTE: There is a Committee in England which contributes toward the support of this Mission, of which the Honorary Secretary is Miss G. V. Smith, Bramcote Hall, Nottingham.)

INDEPENDENT EVANGELISTIC EFFORTS.

(NOTE: The Church and Bible Classes of the Rev. D. M. Stearns, D.D., 1167 West Chelten Ave., Germantown, Pa., support missionary work, chiefly among Moslems, in Safid, Galilee, and the Hauran, under the charge of Miss Mary T. Maxwell Ford. See entry of Dr. Stearns' Classes under United States. Miss Appia's work at Kefr Shima is also an independent evangelistic effort among Druses, Moslems, and Jews, and Mrs. Newman conducts an educational and evangelistic mission at Jerusalem. Miss C. M. Holmes, under the title of Jebail Settlement, has an independent educational, evangelistic, and industrial work at Jebail, near Beirut. Dr. Mary P. Eddy has recently established a Tuberculosis Sanitarium at Maamiltain, a short distance north of Beirut, which has, however, been taken under the care of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions as part of its regular work.)

SUMMARY OF SOCIETIES AND INCOMES

In the section of the following summary referring to societies an attempt has been made at a tentative classification based upon the standing, purpose, and mutual relationship of missionary organizations. Principal societies organized for aggressive and responsible missionary leadership are entered as "Appointing and Sending Societies." Auxiliaries of "Appointing and Sending Societies," when of the first rank, and officially recognized, follow in a column by themselves. Supplementing these auxiliary agencies is a third class, composed of branch or associate missions, or committees in aid, located in other lands from those of the society so aided, and to these a third column has been assigned.

The three classes mentioned form a distinct group, which is then followed by another group, entitled "Coöperating and Collecting Societies." This group includes organizations which aid or serve the missionary propaganda in some specialized or limited sphere of service, as literary, educational, medical, or industrial, or collect funds for the support of other societies, or whose aim is to awaken interest, and contribute, usually in the home land, to the progress and success of the missionary cause. In connection with "Coöperating and Collecting Societies" there are a few auxiliaries, which have been placed in a separate column, and to these have been added in a sixth column, as a class by themselves, certain unattached missions, conducted independently of any organized home base, and usually under the direction of individual missionaries deriving their support from private sources, or serving at their own charges.

These six classes of missionary agencies are confessedly in some instances somewhat vaguely differentiated, and the judgment wavers at times, especially in connection with agencies in mission fields, as to the column in which they should be listed. This much can be said, that no single society has been entered in any two columns. Its designation, whether rightly or wrongly, has been fixed, as seemed most in accord with facts, and no other entry of it has been made, so that in this table of summaries no duplicate enrollment of any society has been made.

Missionary funds only are included, and of these only such as are devoted, outside the sphere of home missionary effort, to the christianization, under evangelical auspices, of those, of whatever race or nation or ecclesiastical connection, who are in need of a vital union with Christ, and a saving knowledge of His Gospel.

The proper crediting of income in the summaries, and its geographical distribution, has often proved perplexing. Scrupulous care has been taken not to enter the same funds twice. There are, it will be noted, a number of societies receiving generous contributions from other lands, through committees in aid or associate missions, which contributions are acknowledged as part of the regular income of those societies. In making up the summaries it would clearly be duplicating receipts if such contributions from outside sources were credited also to the societies sending them. They are, therefore, included but once, and credited to the principal societies which receive and administer them. This statement, however, applies only to the make-up of the totals, as in the Directory each society is credited with the income which it receives.

In the case of colonial dioceses and other agencies in mission fields, grants in aid from the home land, and money sent by aid associations are not credited in these totals to the recipient, whenever they are already acknowledged elsewhere. All government grants, and the proceeds of sales of literature in the case of Bible and Tract Societies, are everywhere eliminated, and only local subscriptions and contributions not already reported elsewhere are included in these summary totals. Independent educational institutions having no direct connection with missionary societies, but governed and administered by boards of trustees in the home land, are credited in these summaries with whatever local income they report, and this income is assigned to the countries where they are located, while the income which is received by the board of trustees from home sources is credited directly to the country which provides it. We have examples of this in the local income credited to such institutions as the Mackenzie College, in Brazil, and the Syrian Protestant College, at Beirut, and other institutions similarly administered.

Contributions from Christendom intended for the support of Protestantism in the colonial churches, or for Church extension in colonial communities, or for Protestant emigrants, whether in America, Australasia, or elsewhere, are eliminated. Missions to the Jews are not included in these summaries.

The totals which the following summaries yield will be found to be larger than those published in the Atlas presented at the Edinburgh Conference. This is due partly to more complete and officially distributed returns, partly to the inclusion of evangelical missionary efforts among non-Protestants, partly to freshly ascertained information concerning the amount of local incomes in mission fields, and also to the discovery of additional societies not entered in the Conference volume, yet clearly entitled to representation in a World Atlas of Missions.

In transferring American currency into pounds sterling the standard valuation of $4.8665 to the pound is used, and the same valuation is utilized for the reverse process. The values used to reduce Continental currency to the pound sterling are taken from the Statesman's Year Book as follows: Francs, Lire, and Finnish Marks, 25.225; Marks, 20.43; Kroner, 18; Florins, 12. Having reduced Continental currency to pounds sterling, these in turn were reduced to dollars, at the standard valuation above given.

PART II

STATISTICS OF MISSIONS

EXPLANATORY NOTES

The plan followed in these tables is to record the statistics of Protestant missionary operations in each country, enumerating the societies engaged therein, and the results of their work, so far as pertains to that country only. The totals reveal the status of missions as conducted in that particular field. The statistics of the various mission lands are thus presented in succession in this tabulated form, and the various phases of operations—whether General and Evangelistic, Educational, Medical, Philanthropic and Reformatory, or pertaining to Mission Presses and Bible distribution—are recorded in tables dealing with each of these departments. Special and separate tables are devoted to missions among Jews, and also to missions of the Roman Catholic and Russian Orthodox Churches among non-Christians.

It will be noticed that in the column set apart for "Principal Stations" there is an inevitable duplication in the list given for each country, since different societies often occupy the same station, and each society represented in that station reports it. The totals of "Principal Stations" should, therefore, be reduced, and this has been done in the final summaries, on the basis of the Station Index. A column for "Baptized Christians" has been inserted in the General and Evangelistic Tables, since the missionary societies of the Continent of Europe regard this entry as a very important and decisive indication of the progress of missionary work. On the other hand, many American and British societies do not record this class as separated from communicants. Accordingly, the returns under this heading have not been available in numerous cases. In such instances the number of communicants has been inserted, as indicating those who without doubt have been baptized. In the case of missionaries whose ecclesiastical affiliation is with bodies which do not offer ordination, they are nevertheless usually entered as ordained, rather than as lay missionaries, where their services and status place them among the ordained, rather than among the lay workers. Moreover entries have been made under "Communicants" and "Baptized Christians" in a few cases where these rubrics are not entirely appropriate, owing to the attitude of the bodies concerned toward these ordinances. These entries, however, seemed to be the only way to give certain societies full credit for the results of their labors.

The column entitled "Native Christian Community" can only be given as approximately accurate. In some regions, owing to the rigidity of social conditions, and the opposition of political or religious forces, the Christian community consists of few except those avowedly and formally related to the Christian nucleus. In other regions the influence of the Gospel has been so far-reaching that the number of adherents must include a multitude of family groups, and even whole communities. In soliciting statistics the Committee asked the societies to provide estimates of their Christian constituency for this column, and wherever a society has supplied these figures they have been entered. When a society has not provided such data an estimate has been entered based on the best sources available. In most instances every communicant has been regarded as standing for three additional members of a Christian community, including adults and children.

Excepting in a few instances where the women's societies are entirely independent in administration, or in respect to some particular phase of service or field of work, the statistics of such societies have been included in the returns of the principal societies with which they are connected as auxiliaries. The status and financial relationship of each society, where these have been ascertained, are indicated in the Directory, forming Part I of this volume.

In the educational statistics an earnest attempt has been made to indicate the number of students legitimately entitled to be entered as of college grade. Special letters were sent to the missionary institutions throughout the world, with titles which seemed to indicate that they were in the rank of colleges. More than four fifths of the institutions responded, in each case giving a classification of its enrollment. In the statistical tables, therefore, the student entries under the head of Universities and Colleges indicate only pupils of college grade. Where an institution enrolls students of both college and high school grades, or, as in some cases, pupils of primary grade in addition, credit has been given in each case, in the proper columns, for the pupils of lower grade. Thus, if an institution listed 20 students of college grade, 75 pupils of high school grade, and 100 pupils of primary grade, it has been credited as a college, a high school, and a primary school, with its enrollment in each grade.

Painstaking efforts were made to verify and complete the statistics of the medical returns in each country. Mission hospitals and dispensaries were written to in all the mission fields, to obtain supplementary data, where the information from the home offices was insufficient. The same statement is true of the returns of philanthropic and reformatory work.

In almost every instance the data concerning Mission Presses were received direct from the fields, but the method of reporting has been so varied and entangling, and in many important items the information desired has so often been only partially furnished, or omitted altogether, that it has proved impossible to classify and reduce the returns to any satisfactory systematic tabulation. All that, under the circumstances, seemed practicable, was to record a list of the presses in mission fields, giving location, and indicating their status, whether in connection with some society, or independently conducted. As regards the literary output of publishing houses, tract societies, and other distributing agencies of Christian literature, facts and statistics, so far as available, will be found in the Directory, wherever societies representing literary activities are entered.

Had it been practicable to keep a clear division between statistics of work for non-Christians and that for other classes in the fields where both types of work exist, that plan would manifestly have proved advantageous in meeting the needs of those students who, while granting the necessity and importance of both kinds of endeavor, yet desire to see them presented separately in the statistical tables. But many Protestant missionary societies do not report separately for each of these types of work; indeed in many cases the same workers seek to reach both nominal or lapsed Christians and non-Christians. Often representatives of two or more races (each race differently related to historical Christianity), along with half-castes, share the privileges of given mission stations or institutions. This is especially true of Latin America and the Near East. While further research and the development of statistical methods may in the future make possible a more satisfactory scientific classification of returns for the fields where Protestantism deals with a racial complex already more or less influenced by other forms of Christianity, yet for the present volume it has not been found practicable to present more than one statistical study for each field under survey.

The statistics of Missions to the Jews were prepared by the Rev. Louis Meyer, who has given special attention to this department of missionary activity.

* Physicians who are ordained are entered in both columns 2 and 3. Accordingly, the total of missionaries does not necessarily equal the total of columns 2 and 3.
b Owing to inevitable duplication in the enumeration of stations by the various societies, the totals in column 12 in the succeeding tables are in the excess of the total number of cities occupied. In this table of summaries duplicate stations are eliminated.
c Includes certain workers not distributed in Society reports as between ordained and unordained.
d Stations in which no other than work for Jews is conducted.

In many cases the returns received from Societies indicated only total enrollment under each class of institutions. It was thought desirable, where possible, to indicate even partial returns by sexes, in order to give some indication of the relative number of males and females under instruction. Where the division is incomplete this fact is indicated by parentheses.

^c Impossible to divide between Bibles, Testaments, and Portions.
^d Impossible to separate the distribution in Syria and Palestine.
^e Probably only a partial report.
^f The American Bible Society and the British and Foreign Bible Society have not reported for certain countries, except as to total circulation. Accordingly, the totals for the first three columns each of the two tables concerned are put in parenthesis, their sum being less than the total in the fourth column.
^g There are also large and important Bible Societies on the European Continent, over fifty in number, chiefly in Germany, France, Switzerland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Finland, and Russia, but they report little work at the present time in mission fields. In the past they have printed the Bible in the various dialects of Eastern Europe, and four are in Iceland and Greenland. Their circulation of Bibles and portions on the Continent of Europe has been very large and continuous during most of the past century.

^h Total issues for all the world: Bibles, 864 247; Testaments, 1 186 565; Portions, 3 687 589; total, 5 698 381.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, INCLUDING ALASKA

* No report for Baptized Christians other than the number of Communicants.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, EXCEPT HAWAIIAN ISLANDS

* No report for Baptized Christians other than the number of Communicants.

HAWAIIAN ISLANDS

Of the societies here presented those for the Methodist Board represent work among Asiatic Immigrants; those for the Hawaiian Evangelical Association represent both the work for Hawaiians and that for Asiatic Immigrants, while the Protestant Episcopal statistics include not only work for Hawaiians and Asiatic Immigrants, but also some work for the white population which could not be eliminated on the basis of available sources of information.

^b No report for Baptized Christians other than the number of Communicants.

CANADA AND THE LABRADOR

* Not reported.

^d Church statistics for this organization are incomplete.^e No report for Baptized Christians other than the number of Communicants.

^d Of Church of England societies at work among Indians in Canada, only the Church Missionary Society presents adequate statistics in its reports. The Society for the Propagation of the Gospel and the Colonial and Continental Church Society grant subsidies for Diocesan work, along with certain special grants for Indian work, while in several dioceses, notably those within Ontario, there are numbers of Indian Churches no longer counted as distinctly missionary in character. The total of native Christian adherents, given in connection with the Church of England in Canada, represents the total Indian Christians of Ontario reported as Anglicans by the Department of Indian Affairs of Canada (Report for 1909), less the number of Indian Christians for Ontario reported by the New England Company and the Colonial and Continental Church Society.

^e Includes data for work among the Eskimos on the Labrador.

* Estimate. Except in column 18, all estimates are from the societies.

^f Physicians who are ordained are entered in both columns 2 and 3. Accordingly, the total of missionaries does not necessarily equal the total of columns 2 to 7.^g Owing to inevitable duplication in the enumeration of stations by the various societies, the totals in column 12 are in excess of the total number of cities occupied. In the tables of summaries on another page duplicates are eliminated.

GREENLAND

* The data for Baptized Christians represent the total number of Christianized Eskimos in Greenland.

Fourteen Danish pastors and four Eskimo pastors of the native church are not here entered. The two ordained pastors represent work among the heathen Eskimos on the East Coast and at Cape York on the Northwest Coast. Data furnished by the Rev. J. N. Lenker, D.D., of Minneapolis.

terian Church of England, and London Missionary Society.

In many cases the returns received indicate only total enrollment under each class of institutions. It was thought desirable, where possible, to indicate even partial returns by sexes, in order to give some indication of the relative number of males and females under instruction. Where the division is incomplete this fact is indicated by parentheses.

TURKISH EMPIRE

Commonly known as the Central Turkey College or Aintab College.

Does not include data for Central Turkey College or for Euphrates College, which are independent institutions and are recorded in separate entries.

In many cases the returns received indicate only total enrollment under each class of institutions. It was thought desirable, where possible, to indicate even partial returns by sexes, in order to give some indication of the relative number of males and females under instruction. Where the division is incomplete this fact is indicated by parentheses.

SOUTHERN CENTRAL AFRICA

^a This is the monthly average of those employed in the industrial undertakings.

In many cases the returns received indicate only total enrollment under each class of institutions. It was thought desirable, where possible, to indicate even partial returns by sexes, in order to give some indication of the relative number of males and females under instruction. Where the division is incomplete this fact is indicated by parentheses.

BRAZIL

* The educational statistics for this society are incomplete and inadequately classified. The statistics include some work above the elementary grade.

In many cases the returns received indicate only total enrollment under each class of institutions. It was thought desirable, where possible, to indicate even partial returns by sexes, in order to give some indication of the relative number of males and females under instruction. Where the division is incomplete this fact is indicated by parentheses.

CANADA AND THE LABRADOR
* The educational statistics for Canada furnished by the Missionary Societies are fragmentary. The statistics for the Canadian Churches and also for the Salvation Army are from the Report of the Department of Indian Affairs, Dominion of Canada, 1909.

GREENLAND
* Statistics furnished by the Rev. J. N. Lenker, D.D., of Minneapolis.

In many cases the returns received indicate only total enrollment under each class of institutions. It was thought desirable, where possible, to indicate even partial returns by sexes, in order to give some indication of the relative number of males and females under instruction. Where the division is incomplete this fact is indicated by parentheses.

INDIA

^b Operations reported by only four of the nine hospitals.

* Report for only two of the three dispensaries.

* Estimated by the society.

† Statistics incomplete.

Wherever the total treatments (column 7) was not reported by the society, the total individual patients (column 6) has been repeated in the column for total treatments. Wherever the society has not divided between major and minor operations, the total of operations has been put in the column for minor operations. Where the total enrollment of students is incompletely divided between males and females, the incomplete figures are put in parentheses.

* Major operations separately reported by only three of the ten hospitals. Data entirely lacking for one hospital and three dispensaries.

^a The Johanniter Hospital is given a separate entry.

^b This hospital is supported by the German Order of St. John, is attended by the medical faculty of the Syrian Protestant College, and the nurses are supplied by the Rheinisch Westfälischer Diakonissen Verein.

* Estimated by the society.

† Statistics incomplete.

Wherever the total treatments (column 7) was not reported by the society, the total individual patients (column 6) has been repeated in the column for total treatments. Wherever the society has not divided between major and minor operations, the total of operations has been put in the column for minor operations. Where the total enrollment of students is incompletely divided between males and females, the incomplete figures are put in parentheses.

ROMAN CATHOLIC MISSIONS AMONG NON-CHRISTIANS

The following tables present the statistics of Roman Catholic mission work for non-Christian peoples. They are condensed from the fuller tables found in H. A. Krose's "Katholische Missionsstatistik," 1908, which appeared in the Edinburgh edition of the Statistical Atlas.

The condensation consists in giving the totals of all the work of a given Order or Congregation laboring in any field, as China, instead of reproducing the figures for the various Vicariates and Prefectures of that country. No evangelistic data of the important work of this Church in Latin America and the United States are given, except as they have to do with Indians; and in the Turkish Empire and Egypt the figures relating to missions among the Oriental, Coptic, and Greek Churches have been excluded. In the Philippine Islands Krose gives only the number of Catholics, 6,860,042, and that of the priests, 7,100, other statistics being omitted. In those countries where Europeans and persons of European descent are a considerable part of the constituency, and their numbers were given, these, also, have been subtracted, in order to conform to the general rule in this respect. Marks of interrogation are reproduced from the tables, though in the original tables, where these marks appear in a column along with definite figures, totals are omitted, while they are given in ours.

There is frequent confusion in the matter of crediting work to a given Order. This is due to the fact that in the German original, in not a few cases, the Orders appearing together in a combined work are not credited each with its particular share in the totals, but all the items are totaled for the Orders laboring unitedly. The original tables are thus reproduced with an element of uncertainty as to what a given Order is doing, though the totals contain all that they report as a combined force. It should further be stated that Krose does not in the tables make it clear as to the countries or seminaries whence the Orders and Congregations came, or by whom they are supported in all cases, as do some other Roman authorities. Thus the simple entry "Jesuits" does not inform the reader whether these Jesuits are French, Belgian, Italian, or German, a distinction akin to Protestant variations of Presbyterian societies—the Presbyterian Board of Canada, the English Presbyterian Board, etc., for example.

In two particulars there has been a deviation from the tables. The columns headed "Pupils in Lower Schools" and "Pupils in Middle Schools" in the original have the common heading "Schüler und Schülerinnen," and under it the two subdivisions, "Gesamtzahl" and "Davon in Mittelschulen." While it is not certain how the total is made up, it is assumed that it contains the number in lower schools and in middle schools; hence the latter number has been subtracted from the total, and the remainder has been placed in the column headed "Pupils in Lower Schools." The other departure is in the columns headed "European Priests" and "Native Priests." In the German tables the first column gives the total number of priests, and the second column states how many of the entire number are native born. As the tables now stand, the number indicating the native priests is subtracted from the total number, and the remainder is entered as "European Priests."

The sources of Krose's tables are various, and also of differing dates, not always designated. In general it may be said that the material comes from authoritative sources of recent date, perhaps averaging a year earlier than those in the Protestant tables. Whatever the defects may be, it is probable that Krose's statistics are more nearly up to the standard aimed at by Protestant missionary statisticians than any similar collection heretofore published. The compilers express their great obligation to this painstaking statistician of Roman Catholic missions.

MISSIONS OF THE RUSSIAN ORTHODOX CHURCH TO NON-CHRISTIANS

[The information received was of such a character that it could be presented only in paragraph form.]

The Russian Missionary Society of the Orthodox Church to non-Christians is divided as follows:

1. Nine Siberian Missions: Altaiskaya, Kirgiskaya, Krasnoyarskaya, Tobolskaya, Yakoutsкая, Irkutskaya, Zabaikalskaya, Vladivostokskaya, and Blagoveschenskaya.

2. Several Missionary Institutions, chiefly schools, in 16 dioceses in European Russia, with foreign population.

3. Two Foreign Missions, one to Japan and the other to North America.

The Society has 400 missionaries in 126 districts, and 700 schools, with 1,900 pupils.

The following reports of the different missions are for the year 1908:

Altaiskaya Mission. It consists of 23 districts, containing 325 villages, with a population of 48,573 Orthodox Christians. There are 36 churches and 43 houses of prayer, 57 schools, with 1,676 pupils (of these 700 are foreign children), and 3 asylums. During the year 1908, 149 heathen were converted; 3 Mohammedans and 65 non-conformists were also brought into the Orthodox Church. There are 114 workers in the Mission, as follows: One bishop, head of the Mission, 28 priests, 10 deacons, 18 psalm readers, 39 teachers, and 5 women teachers of mission schools, 11 lecturers, and 2 inspectors of Catechetical Schools. In the summer a Preparatory School was opened by the priest, and 60 teachers received missionary training.

The Red Cross Society supports 2 assistant surgeons, 1 priest, and 1 psalm reader; also a woman nurse, who lives in the Chemalsky Asylum.

Kirgiskaya Mission. This covers seven districts. There is an Archimandrite at the head of the Mission. A special priest acting as his assistant, 1 superior of a convent, 8 priests, 4 deacons, 2 psalm readers, 3 volunteers, 1 teacher, and 1 translator are the other workers.

There are 8,006 Orthodox communicants. Of these 7,716 are Russian, and 290 are baptized foreigners of both sexes. There are 13 churches and houses of prayer. In the 9 schools of the Mission there are 166 boys and 68 girls, of whom 27 children have been recently baptized. In the asylums 22 children, mostly orphans and newly baptized, are cared for. In connection with the Mission is a Brotherhood for the workers. During the year, 4 men were brought into the Orthodox Church, 2 being Mohammedans and 2 from other sects.

Tobolskaya is divided into two missions, Obdorskaya, and the one working for the Mohammedans in Tobolsk.

In Obdorskaya are 4 priests, 1 deacon, 3 psalm readers, and 2 nuns. During the past year 20 men and 17 women were baptized; 73 male and 54 female infants were also baptized. The Mission has a school for foreign children, 16 boys and 9 girls attending. There is likewise an Asylum, with 8 girls and 4 boys. In the Mission Pension there are 13 children in charge of nuns of a mission commune. In connection with this institution are a sister of charity and an assistant surgeon. There is a hospital and poor house, with 16 residents. There are 5 houses of prayer. In connection with the women's commune there is a mission school, having 14 boys and 11 girls.

In the Tobolskaya Mission for the Mohammedans are 13 priests, 12 assistants, 2 deacons, and 1 psalm reader. In the past year 8 Mohammedans were baptized. Ten foreign children are being educated in schools of this Mission.

Krasnoyarskaya Mission. This has two divisions. There are 30,000 foreigners living in the districts, most of them Tatars; the greater number have been baptized.

Yakoutsкая Mission. It has two priests and two itinerant missionaries. There are about 250,000 foreigners in the district. One of the traveling missionaries covered 3,790 versts, converting 655 souls and baptizing 81 infants.

Vladivostokskaya consists of 12 districts, where 12 missionaries are working among Koreans and other foreigners. There are 23 schools for the Koreans, with an attendance of 826 boys and 58 girls. Besides these there are 3 schools of the Ministry of Public Instruction, 2 grade one schools for boys and 2 one-grade girls' schools. During the past year the missionaries converted to the Christian faith 317 Koreans of both sexes. Among the foreigners of the extreme northern villages there are 3 missionaries working. During 1906 they baptized 7 men and 11 women; also 5 male and 4 female infants. In 1907, 8 men, 4 women, and 4 infants—3 male and 1 female—were baptized.

In the Blagoveschenskaya Diocese there are many heathen of different beliefs, not counting the Koreans and Chinese. At present there are 20 converts who work as missionaries among their own people. The Russian population is about 4,852. There are 12 schools for the foreigners, 212 boys and 49 girls attending. In the Mission are 12 churches, 31 chapels, and 36 missionaries. In 1908, 909 men and 730 women came to Confession and communion. Sixteen heathen men and 11 women were converted to the Christian faith, and none went back to their former religion. There are 12 schools, though 4 of them are supplied with poorly qualified teachers. This Mission has no asylums nor poorhouses. There are some School Pensions for the foreign children, but, owing to lack of funds, they are of little real use.

The Japanese Mission. The report of the Japanese Orthodox Church, on January 1st, 1909, is as follows:

Church Parishes number 265. In these are 30,712 Christians, under the care of the Archbishop and a Bishop—both Russians—33 Japanese priests, 1 Russian and 5 Japanese deacons, 120 preachers and 11 laymen and teachers of church singing. During the year 868 persons were baptized.

The Schools are as follows:

1. In the Tokio Seminary are 54 Japanese students and 16 Russian; in the women's schools, 74 pupils. In connection with the women's school in Tokio is a workshop, where eikons are made and a special eikon woman artist is employed. During the year, 4 completed the course in the Catechetical School. In the autumn, 22 entered the Seminary from the lower schools.

2. In Kioto, in the women's schools, are 23 pupils, under 5 female and 3 male teachers.

The society for the translation of religious books employs 9 translators and 2 editors.

MISSIONARY ACTIVITY IN EUROPEAN RUSSIA

In the Archangel Diocese there are 4 schools for foreigners, 1 church school, and 3 common schools.

In the Viatskoy Diocese there are 7 villages, and a mission for foreigners, with a converted foreigner at its head. He has several assistants. In the 7 villages are 13 schools, with 1,370 boys and 300 girls attending. Among this number are 82 Russians, 617 Tatars, 582 Cheremis, 309 Votikov, 80 Besermian. Of these 87 are heathen and 8 are adult believers. Three Tatars were baptized during the year.

In the Simberskoy Diocese there are:

1. A two-grade women's school, with 96 pupils.
2. A two-grade boys' school, with 27 Orthodox pupils.
3. A girls' day school, with 64 scholars, among them a baptized Tatar.
4. Attending the pedagogical lectures are 23 Orthodox women.
5. For the foreigners there is a school of 30 pupils—20 boys and 10 girls.

In the Bouinskoy village are schools attended by 342 pupils, 305 being boys and 37 girls. Only 13 are Russians; all the others are foreigners.

Saratov Diocese has 13 missionary schools in special buildings. Converted foreigners (priests) teach in their native tongues. There are also 2 church schools, with 526 boys and 77 girls in attendance.

In the Samara Diocese, not counting the Jews who live in the cities, there are thousands of foreigners of different beliefs.

There are 2,641 baptized Tatars, schools for the foreigners, a temperance society, and several schools for adults. In Old Afonkin is a school with 35 pupils—23 Orthodox and 12 heathen. In Areziapkin is a school with 40 men and 15 women attending; in the village of Lamarkin are 19 pupils from 14 to 27 years of age. In 1908, 40 heathen were converted.

In Ekaterinboursky Diocese, among the missionary institutions, is an asylum for small children. During the year, 10 were educated and supported in this asylum.

In the Donsky Diocese is one missionary, with his assistant, who has a seminary education. A Mohammedan, Neeman Ziapoepov, was converted by the missionary, and given the name of Nicholas.

The Orenbourgsky Mission has 4 stations in different parts of the diocese. During the past year, 27 Mohammedans were baptized.

Tourgaisky Mission is chiefly to Kirgizy and Tatars, the population of the whole district being 232,011. The district is divided into 35 parishes, with 38 priests, 12 deacons, and 26 psalm readers. There are 60 church schools, enrolling 2,521 boys and 1,175 girls.

Makapievsky Mission is in charge of one priest; 69 men have been baptized and 78 women, and also 5 servants of these people. Evening classes for the newly baptized adults are held, and there is also a Russian Kirgize Mission school, with 20 resident Kirgize pupils and 45 day scholars. Among them are 22 Kirgize Mohammedan boys.

Aktubinskaya Mission School has its own building, serving as church and school. To January 1st, 1909, there have been 82 pupils, among them 64 Russians, 16 Kirgize, and 2 Tatars. The school has 18 resident pupils.

Orenbourgsky Diocese has a mission especially for Mohammedans, covering 11 districts. There are 7 converted Mohammedan priests and 5 Russian priests. The mission has a school for Orthodox and foreign children. During 4 years, 46 graduated; of these 8 were Russians and 38 foreigners. The majority of graduates become teachers of Mohammedans, and psalm readers.

The Ural Mission covers 222,000 square versts, and has only one missionary, who constantly travels. During the past year, one Tatar was baptized. In one of the villages is a school, with 20 resident pupils, who are fed and clothed by the Mission. They are exceedingly poor.

Stavropolsky Mission is among the Buddhists. During 1908, 215 souls were won to the Orthodox faith. At present one Kalmik, in preparing for baptism, is becoming acquainted with Christian ideas and learning the prayers. The Mission is in charge of a priest and his assistant. There is a church day school, with 11 boys and 7 girls in attendance. The Mission has recently opened a station in Chanlonta, and 4 have been converted.

In the village of Djeganssky is a school, with from 40 to 45 pupils, among them only one Russian. The teacher of this school also gives instruction in singing, and has formed a choir for the church from among his pupils.

(NOTE: The above statement of the results of the Missions of the Russian Orthodox Church, as received at the office of the Committee in New York, contained no record of the North American Mission which was mentioned with the Japan Mission at the beginning of the statement, as one of the two Foreign Missions. An estimate of the results of the North American Mission among the non-Christian Indians, Aleuts, and Eskimos, derived from other sources, indicates a fruitage of about 10,000.)
